

Local Contractor Weds Last Night

At nine o'clock last evening Mr Benjamin F. Chilson, the well known contractor and Mrs. Vivian Schuerstein were united in mar-riage. The eeremony took place at the home of Mr. Floyd Stephens, the brother of the bride. Immediate relatives and a few friends were present. Rev. C. H. Hilton of the Christian church performed the eeremony, After the congratulations, refreshments were served a fine refreshments were served, a fine wedding cake, a present from a friend being the center of attrac-tion at that time. Mr. and Mrs. Chilsen and some friends expect to make a trip to Crater Lake in a few days, and camp on the road.

To Publish Names of Draft Dodgers

The War Department, after 20 months of ceaseless onsecutive derkal work and personal investiration, has published the list those officially classed as draft deerters, says the Stars and Stripes. There are 150,000 names in the combined lists, for which a reward of 550 each is offered under Army provisions, or a total outlay of 17,500,000, if all are caught and the rewards claimed.

is devided into localities illeged deserters are sup-te. It will be published This list This list is devided into localities where the alligned deserters are supposed to live. It will be published throughout the country and every crie and patriotic body has been called upon to assist in locating all these who are recorded on the list. Shortly after the armistice the Adjutant General of the Army bean work on sifting out from 24,500,660 draft records the names of those who had deserted. It was a support of the second of who had deserted. It was a Stantic task and a small army of divilian clerks and Army officers has been constantly at work on the job since that time. Originally there Yers 470,000 classed as deserters, but closer observation and investi-lation marrowed this number to ap-resignately 150,000 contained in task and a small army of ranimately 150,000 contained in the published list. To determine fashly whether those published on the list are actual deserters it was secsuary to check every name azinat the list of enlisted men of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps.

In this city, August 4th, 1920, at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Winkelmann, at 7 P. M., Miss Florence Wymore and Mr. Herbert E. Winkelmann, also Miss Mari' Agee and Mr. Worley Ramey, were united in marriage. Judge A. G. Clarke, performe the ceremonies in the most pleasing manner. The brides were attired in beautiful gowns of Georgette crepe and white silk, the grooms in the conventional dress suits of black. Miss Alice Barton and Mr. Winkelmann attended each cover fifty guests, the menu embracing the luxuries of the season. The grooms each saw active service over seas during the war and conscious of having served their country in her hour of need, they came home to be captured by two of Douglas County's fairest daughters.

Many beautiful and useful pres-ents were received by the young couples and the profound apprecia-tion of the assembled guests were accorded Mrs. Winklemann for the generous and elegant way in which she presided over the most beauti-ful wedding occurrance of all time. X. X.

Have You Still Got It, Buddy?

Eighteen months after the scratching of pens on paper ceased at Versailles, the scratching of skins is continuing in America, says an Exchange. Buddies, it's the French itch. Take it from old "Doc" Goler, city health officer, that it will spread and spread until the entire populace of the U.S. A. will be as spotted leopards if something is not done to stop it.

"The disease was brought to this country from France by soldiers", says the doctor, "and it already has been quite widely distributed thruout the country, it is likely to cause much annoyance if not given medical attention.

"Before the discovery of soap," the doctor goes on, "itch was prevalent in all countries, but it has been practically eliminated during the past few years. However, it is starting here again in an insidious way which characterizes all diseases that later become epdemic if measures are not taken to check it."
