New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

After hair growth

On legal affidavit, John Hart Brittain, business man, certified to this: "My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth. "Yet now, at an age over 60, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs." Mr. Brittain certified further:

INDIAN'S SECRET OF HAIR GROWTH

Bare when bald.

"At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an elixir that he asseverated would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days.

That I was astonished and happy is expressing my state of mind mildly.

Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious pomade. I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this mysterious elixir, now called Kotalko, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist.

That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved."

How YOU May Grow YOUR Hair

It has been proved in very many cases that hair roots did not die even when the hair fell out through dandruff, fever, eczema or certain other hair or scalp disorders. Miss A. D. Otto reports: "About 8 years ago my hair began to fall out until my scalp in spots was almost entirely bald. I used everything that was recommended but was always disappointed until at last I came across Kotalko. My bald spots are being covered now; the growth is already about three inches." G. W. Mitchell reports: "I had spots completely bald, over which hair is now growing since I used Kotalko." Mrs. Matilda Maxwell reports: "The whole front of my head was as bald as the palm of my hand for about 15 years. Since using Kotalko, hair is growing all over the place that was bald." Many more splendid, convincing reports from satisfied users.

Baptists Wallop Christian Team

The Baptists swamped the Christians last night at the ball field. The Christians had no "pep". Grimm was called out on the wreck train, Reibel got a bad blow on the knee cap and was out for a while, and Cedarstrom had a terrible boil on his face that gave him pain throughout, and took the "pep" out of him, so that the team was not up to its playing trim. On the other hand, the Baptists had their best out, and played good ball. Ritzman pitched a good game for his team, allowing only three hits. Bush, who pitched for the Christians did not receive good support and was hit quite hard as well, allowing eight hits. A couple of errors and three hits gave the Baptists four runs in the second. An error, a sacrifice and a hit gave them another in the third, and they added three more in the fourth on some rather weird playing, and a hit or two. The game only went six innings on account of darkness. The Christians who have led the league almost throughout the entre playing season, have now fallen to last place. They have one more tie game to play off with the Baptists, and the Presbyterians and Baptists have one tie game to play off which will close the season.

Didn't Even Pay Their War Tax

The most exaggerated stories of "young America" watching the ball games through knot-holes in the fence and crawling under the circus tents to see the "big show" cannot in any way rival the actual activities of three prominent Roseburg men, who for five consecutive nights have "sneaked in" and secured a seat in the grand stand "free of charge' for the twilight league games in Bellows field according to a local ball fan. These three men, who would probably howl their head off should someone steal a loaf of bread from them, have a system "all their own", which they work to perfection. They linger around the outer edges of the field, beyond the reach of the licket-taker, until the game is fairly started. They then cut through an adjoining field and with cautious step, tip-toe towards the grand stand, crawl thru some barbed-wire entanglements and never fail to "hook" three fine "ring-side" seats in the grand-stand —right alongside of those who paid the required 15 cents. "We are planning on presenting a bill to these "enthusiasts" for the five games", stated one of the league members today.

Oil Land Leasing Bill Has Promise

The oil-leasing bill passed at the last session of Congress promises additional sources of oil. It is too early to say how much this formerly locked-up territory will yield, but much is hoped for from Wyoming and some sections in California. Major producers are making plans for drilling activity in these districts.

The world's deposits of crude oil total 60,000,000,000 bbls., according to estimates from the U. S. Geological Survey. At the present rate of consumption this would be quite enough to last the United States for 168 years. There are still 7,629,000,000 bbls. in the oil fields of this country, according to the same authority, enough to last twenty years at our present rate of consumption.

Italy Averted A Sugar Shortage

(By Associated Press.)

ROME, July 22.—Italy is revising means to alleviate the beet sugar shortage. She has been urged to put more bees at work producing honey. Italy in 1917 had nearly 67,000 miles of railways and at regular intervals along the lines are little houses where the railway employes, signalmen, track walkers and repairmen live. The manager of the National Institute for Agrarian Assistance recently recommended that they each be given a hive of bees. In conformity with the suggestion the experiment is to be begun at once on the lines in the province of Rome and, if successful, it will be extended to all the railways of Italy.

Newspapers Hit High Cost of Paper

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—A recent sensational advance in the cost of pulp wood will necessiate another boost to the already nearly prohibitive price of news print, forcing many newspapers throughout the country to cease publication next year, according to an official statement issued Monday by W. T. Haskell, vice-president of the International Paper company.

"A substantial increase in the price of news print is inevitable," Haskell stated, "due to the sensational avance in price of the raw product which now costs from $00 to 500 percent more than in 1918."

Canadian pulp manufacturers, from whom the bulk of American needs are supplied, have curtailed their output to the United States by at least 80,000 tons, for the ensuing year, which has influenced quotations for new contracts by publishers in this country who are forced to consider increases of nearly two cents per pound, Haskell stated.

"Profteering in wood pulp," Haskell stated, "is undoubtedly being indulged in by Canadian producers and American buyers to these extreme prices. Vast forests in Canada which had been secured by interests from the United States for the purpose of increasing production of wood pulp, have been denied to manufacturers in this country by recent dominion legislation is made available to Canadian mills who are withdrawing and holding up the m withdrawing shipments to the United States and holding up the price."

German and Dutch Troops Forwarded

(The Associated Press.)

THE HAGUE, July 22.—Troops have been sent by both the German and the Dutch governments to the little village of Dinxperloo, which is situated partly on Dutch and partly on German territory, in order to put an end to the clandestine trade thriving there which, in the past few weeks, has assumed such proportions that the local authorities were unable to prevent violation of the import and export duty regulations.

No less than 300,000 Germans—men, women and children—have come to Dinxperloo with the view of buying there food and other articles which they could only get at home at higher prices than the exorbitant ones charged by the Dutch sellers. Trains coming from the Ruhr and Rhine districts were so full that it was impossible for the railway officials to examine all the tickets and many persons had free rides.

The principal street of Dinxperloo, which is about three miles long, and of which one side is Dutch while the other is German, was crowded. Soon the throngs got beyond control of the customhouse officers. One German clerk was tied to a tree for trying to enforce the law. Trade consisted chiefly in coffee, tea, oil, cocoa, bicycle tires, tobacco and cigarettes and for some time was most brisk.

As soon as the troops arrived, however, order was restored and the Dutch commander issued a manifesto saying that nobody at Dinxperloo would be allowed to have more provisions in store than needed for his private use. Thhe shops were also put under strict control.

What's done as much as anything else to fill up the movie houses

LOOK at the crowds that step out of their cars in front of the movies every summer evening.

The movie managers would be renting half of their theatres for store space, if it weren't for the automobile.

II

It is typical of Americans that they took to the automobile as a matter of course —just as they have to the movies and to every other great invention of the last half century.

And the same thing has happened every time. Taking things as they come is a fine way to foster waste and extravagance.

As regards tires, the comeback is about due. People are pretty near through paying for something that isn't there when they look for it.

III

What a man pays for in a tire is quality—not a limited number of miles or the privilege of getting a rebate in case the miles don't come up to the limit.

U. S. Tires are guaranteed as to quality—with no limitation of mileage.

And that holds just as good for the small car tire as for the biggest U. S. Tire we've got. There's only one standard of quality with U. S.—and the size of the car has nothing whatever to do with it.

IV

We represent U. S. Tires in this town. You'll find it worth while to talk to us before you buy any more tires.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

For best results—everywhere—U. S. Royal Cords.
