UNFORTUNATE POLAND.

Poland must be saved somehow. It must be preserved as a buffer between Russia and Bolshevism and western Europe and it is eminently worth saving for its own sake.

Germany voted 150,000,000,000 marks for a merchant shipping construction program. Going to make her mark in international trade again.

Another Romanoff was born the other day in Paris. And the heavy kid will probably never have to wear the Russian crown.

LETTERS LONG JOURNEY.

LONDON, Eng., August 25. — A Christmas card posted at Fernham on December 25, 1905, has just been delivered at Ivy-church Rectory, Kent.

IN CIVIL AND WORLD WARS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. — The oldest enlisted man in the army during the war was Adolph Louis Lowe, 76, a native of Germany.

DRAW LOTS FOR HOME.

LUTON, Eng., Aug. 25.—Luton's mayor conducted a lottery for homes in the presence of the police, with families living at present in lodgings, balloted for homes, some of which will not be ready for Christmas.

GIRLS TO EDIT PAPER.

BEDFORD, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Inmates of the State Reformatory for Women will be permitted to start a small newspaper for publication of news concerning the institution and events outside.

delivered at Ivy-church Rectory, Kent. Another card was just delivered to Mrs. Fagan which was posted by her son, about three miles away, over 13 years ago.

The Columbia, (S. C.) Record suggests that the rolling-pin may supplant the steam-roller in politics. But we dunno. Women seem to have forgotten how to use a rolling-pin, either as a weapon or a tool.

"How many miles can an average horse make on a gallon of oats?" asks a mechanical engineer. Pretty soon, instead of reckoning machine efficiency by "horse power", they'll be reckoning equine efficiency in fractions of Oliver-power.

It's a long road that has no turning, but a mighty short one nowadays that has no bumps.

LOVE and MARRIED LIFE
by the noted author
Idah McGlone Gibson

THE WAGES OF SIN.

"What else did she say?" I asked Miss Parker. "She said, there had been an automobile accident," she repeated.

"Did she say Mr. Gordon was hurt?" "No, she said to tell you that she would be right over."

Although I had a feeling that Miss Parker was keeping something back, I did not press her further. I had a sudden feeling as though I wanted cold water on my face and hands and I went into the bathroom saying: "If Mrs. Staunton comes before I have washed my face, tell her I'll be with her in a minute."

I raised my head from the bowl to reach a towel and caught a glimpse of my face in the glass. I did not know myself. Every bit of color I had ever had in my cheeks was gone. Even my lips were only a grayish blue and my eyes were red-rimmed from anxiety and loss of sleep.

"What is the matter, Mrs. Gordon?" "Nothing, nothing at all, only I look so queer, so funny in the mirror."

"Here, let me wipe your face," she said and then I was aware that the water was running down in streams from my hair. Sutting her action to the words, she began to dry my face and hands.

"I can do that," I said petulantly. "I don't think Alice will care anyway, whether I look well or not. She ought to be here by this time."

"Mrs. Staunton is going to stop for the doctor." "Why does she do that, didn't you tell her that we had him earlier in the evening and the baby was all right now?"

"No, I didn't tell her." "Well, you better try to catch her on the phone before she leaves. I think it is foolish to ask the doctor to come over here at this hour in the morning, when the baby is so much better."

"Go on, or you will not catch her," I said. "It made me impatient to see her stand looking at me so queerly. Without a word she went into the other room and I again put my face down into the bowl of cool water. Before I had finished drying it she came back."

"I was not able to get Mrs. Staunton," she said. "She had already left the house."

"I am very sorry. The doctor will think we are a set of hysterical women."

"I do not think he will," remarked Miss Parker quietly. "But Alice was crying so over the phone, she could hardly talk to me."

"She had composed herself before she answered my questions." "I am glad of that."

"Miss Parker slipped from the room and came back with something in a glass. "Drink this," she said.

"Why, I'm all right. Why are you so worried about me?" "I'm not worried, Mrs. Gordon, but you must remember you've had a very hard night and if anything has happened to Mr. Gordon, as Mrs. Staunton seemed to intimate, I think you had better be fortified."

I swallowed the spirits of ammonia without making a further fuss. "I think they are here," said Miss Parker, as we heard the elevator stop in the hallway. Unconsciously, I braced myself for what was coming.

I knew that my waiting was over. Intuitively, I walked to the place from which I could face the floor. Miss Parker opened it before Alice had time to rap. She looked at me expectantly.

To Our Customers:--

The only way to paint economically is to FORGET GALLON PRICE and figure cost by area cover and years of life.

SWP covers one-third more area than paints which are cheaper per gallon. It lasts twice as long without re-painting, so requires half the material and labor costs.

On that basis, SWP is the cheapest-per-gallon outside paint you could buy.

SWP is the best prepared house paint. That is why we sell it. Now is the time to consult us about your house painting.

Prepare to do it this fall before the rains fill the wood with moisture. Oil and water do not mix well and it will be better to fill cracks, crevices and exposed pores of wood with linseed oil and pigment now while water is absent.
