There's always room at the top

That's why Spur Cigarettes have won. There are plenty of cigarettes of merit, some claiming one pleasing feature, some another. But there was room—at the top—for a still better cigarette—one that had all the goodness of the others and then some.

Spur's new blend of choicest Oriental and American tobaccos gives greater richness, aroma and mildness than you thought a cigarette could have. Spur's crimped, not pasted, seam makes a longer lasting cigarette.

If you're looking for the highest possible quality at the lowest possible price—that's Spur.

Fighting High Cost Groceries

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Old fashioned sandwich man publicity has come to be chosen by Dr. Robert Grimshaw, efficiency engineer and faculty member of New York University, for an attack on the high cost of groceries in the Washington Heights section of this city.

Dr. Grimshaw served notice on the grocers that they would have to cut their prices, or hear from him. The quotations remaining virtually unchanged, the doctor's bill board man paraded through Washington Heights main thoroughfares and in the market sections heralding the wholesale prices for garden truck showing a wide margin below retail costs.

Washington Heights' housewives generally have noted the Grimshaw sandwich men and their message, and "everybody is talking about it."

Wanted the U. S. To Take Mandate

BUDAPEST, Sept. 4.—"I as a scholar regret the refusal of the United States to accept the mandate over Constantinople because the learned world lost a unique chance to have an American Library in Turkey, which would have brought out the still hidden treasures of the medieval Turkish literature, the Koran Commentaries and Arabian Philosophy," said Professor Ignatius Goldziner, famous orientalist, on his 79th birthday. The studio where Goldziner received the correspondent of the Associated Press is in itself a complete library on oriental science.

"Either old Turkey must be re-established or else the nationalists must totally modernize it, which would be a pity," continued Professor Goldziner. "The Turks are the most honest people in the world and when a Turk says 'yes' you may rely upon it, which is hardly the case with their neighbors. But when they come in touch with eastern civilization they get spoiled."

"A Turk generally picks up the styles of the Parisian boulevard but is out of sympathy with the culture of the west. And they must not abandon their national customs. It was one of the tricks used by the Germans to divide the Turkish nation by the false hopes of a mock civilization dangled before their eyes and the strength and value of the Turkish people is in their racial peculiarities, in their simplicity, honest erty poetical ability and one of the greatest blessings of America's control over Turkey could have been the preservation of these rational qualities.

"According to the news I have received from Germany, Oriental studies there have come to an end and the well known Oriental Academy in Berlin is closed. But I sincerely believe this gap will be filled by American men of science who are aware of their responsibility to save the ruins of the Orient if the nations are doomed to decay."

LIVES IN CONSTANT DREAD

At No Period of His Life Is the Zulu Free From the Fear of Witchcraft.

The Zulu baby is born into the fear of witchcraft; in the fear of witchcraft he grows up and when he sickens and is about to die, his one thought is that a spell has been cast upon him for which the charm cannot be discovered.

All his life long he dreads to meet in lonely places the "inwelebhova"—an inhuman man, lacking only hair or fur to make him altogether a beast—a sort of beast in human form who rides backward on a baboon, ready to pounce upon and make medicine of the unwary traveler.

In mature manhood he suspects his neighbor, his friend, his brother, and even his wife of having dealings with makers of charms and poisons. He is ever on his guard, for he knows his enemy may have put medicine in his path to harm him.

From every possible source, from earth and from sky, from river and from forest, from friend and from foe, he is continually apprehensive of an evil influence coming upon him and searching for a talker man to wear against it.—Dr. James B. McCord in Medical Missions.

Stop and reflect—great fires from little sparks are spread. Be careful with fires.

HEINLINE-MOORE CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

The Heinline-Moore Conservatory is pleased to announce that the most competent teachers have been engaged for every department—Piano, Harmony, Musical Kindergarten, Voice, Violin, and Physical Education. Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Heinline will teach piano and harmony, with Mrs. Arthur Knauus and Miss Annabelle Penn, assistants. Miss Helen Ford Turner, of Chicago Normal School and Columbia University, New York, will arrive in Roseburg on the 8th to open her work in physical education. Miss Melba Williams, a graduate of Eugene University, has been engaged as teacher of the voice and violin. Miss Williams possesses a dramatic soprano, and has been the leading soloist of the University throughout six years of college life. She is equally artistic and thorough as a violinist, and in both voice and violin excels as a teacher. The Conservatory re-opens on September 13, and pupils are being enrolled in all departments. Mrs. Heinline is conducting free vocal recitals preparatory to enrolling the voice pupils.
