Ewart Bros local agents for the company, negotiated the settlement and Mr. Winslow is perfectly satisfied with the adjustment.

Trip to Coast Greatly Enjoyed

Eight automobiles and about forty persons made the trip to Reedsport and Gardiner, Sunday and Monday. The trip was uneventful but was greatly enjoyed, a very pleasant trip being made to Winchester Bay. C. S. Heinline, who arranged and sponsored the occasion, provided a great deal of amusement for the excursionists. Starting out ahead of the caravan to hold the boat at Scottsburg, he sustained a blowout a few miles west of Roseburg and had to be helped on his way. A second blowout occurred about half way to Scottsburg and here all of those making the trip passed him except the one who stopped to give him assistance in replacing the tire. A third blowout occurred at Elkton and the pleasure seekers were forced to wait at Scottsburg until 3 o'clock in the afternoon until Mr. Heinline and his car could be towed to that place. The majority of the party returned to the city yesterday evening and rejoiced a very pleasant trip. Another excursion will probably be made in order to give local people an opportunity to attend the Smith river fair on the 16th and 17th.

CREDITS TREES WITH SENSE

Scientist Declares They Possess at Least Three Which Also Belong to Human Race.

The curator of the British Gulam museum, James Rodway, who is an eminent botanist, declares that plants possess at least three of our five senses—feeling, taste and smell—and that certain tropical trees smell water from a distance, and will move straight toward it.

But trees not in the tropics can do as well. A resident of an old Scotch mansion found the waste pipe from the house repeatedly choked. Lifting the slabs in the basement paving, he discovered that the pipe was completely encircled by poplar roots. They belonged to a tree that grew some thirty yards away on the opposite side of the house.

Sheep-Raising Industry. Sheep raising is perhaps the oldest of all industries. For it was practiced even before agriculture. Wool is a product of cultivation or domestication, for there are no wild animals which closely resemble the wool bearing sheep. Floyd W. Parsons, in the Saturday Evening Post, says that with the discovery that cloth could be made from wool came an effort to improve the fleece by selection and breeding. The early Romans were most successful in this pursuit, and their endeavors along this line resulted in development of a new breed.

Remarkably rapid growing, and produce nuts in abundance of a most delicious quality, are unsuited for either road trees or for the farm. We have grown several varieties of black walnut seedlings, but this variety outgrows each and all of them. Correspondence for further information solicited. "Jazz Curfew" Has Sounded Here

If it is to dance—well, dance, don't wrestle, don't hug, don't ape the goldfish and wiggle through "Moonlight Bay." Don't copy the camel and slouch through "The Desert Moon." Don't imagine you are motoring and throw in a clutch.

The one great lesson that is coming is that the modern jazz steps and bear hugs and so-called novelties are passed. Nothing will be elegant any more except the stately waltzes, the ornamental onestep, the graceful fox-trot and other movements of that type. The clinches and clutches and wiggles and wobbles and shimmys that inspire the "willies" and justify the municipal expense of paying a dance hall censor, are to be no more. The "jazz curfew" has sounded here as well as in other sections of the country and the "wild and woolly" dances with the "catch as catch can" holds are gradually sinking into oblivion. Roseburg lovers of the Terpsichorean art are proving this fact and one only has to visit the dances being held here to witness the proof.
