EXCURSION TO COAST IS SUCCESS

Members of Party Are Greatly Pleased With Excursion To Reedsport.

ROAD IS BADLY NEEDED

Every Effort Should Be Put Forth to Bring About the Speedy Construction of Hard Surfaced Highway to Seacoast.

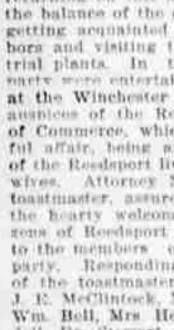
(By One of the Party).

A party of Roseburg people consisting of C. S. Heinline and wife, Dean Bubar and wife, Paul Bubar and wife, A. J. Hochradel and wife, J. M. Judd and wife, Bert Sprague and wife, Dan Bunnell and wife, Walter Good and wife, W. F. Ramsdell and wife, W. D Bell, wife and two sons, Fred Winston, wife and three children, P. E. Nygren and wife, I. Abraham and wife, Frank Lawrence and wife, Mrs. Wm. Bell, Miss Elaine Bell, Miss Minnie Bell, Mrs. R. J. Freeman, Miss Martha Yoe, J. E. McClintock, E. H. Lenox, Mrs. George Bradburn and son George, Mrs. Jean Pitts, made up a party that left for the lower Umpqua country early Sunday morning.

The party drove by autos to Scottsburg, and caught a special boat for Gardiner, arriving at the latter city about 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening where a special dinner was awaiting them at the Gardiner hotel and where they were joined by Judge and Mrs. D. J. Stewart and Dr. E. B. Stewart. Arriving at Reedsport about 5 o'clock, the party made a tour of this new, progressive and busy little city, with her mills operating to capacity, and new buildings going up on every hand, with a monthly pay roll of close to $150,000. Early Monday morning the party were the guests of Mr. W. F. Jewett, of Gardiner, on a trip to the mouth of the Umpqua river, where for an hour the members of the party, both old and young, were permitted to play along the beach of the grand old Pacific and the kiddies held nothing over some of the more aged, for it was the first trip to the seashore for several of the crowd. It might be embarrassing to call names or recite some of the performances pulled off. Returning to the Gardiner hotel for lunch at noon, we were informed that Mr. Jewett had also arranged for a special boat to take those of the party who were obliged to return home on Monday, back to Scottsburg immediately after lunch. Those not returning on this special boat spent the balance of the day at Reedsport getting acquainted with our neighbors and visiting the several industrial plants. In the evening the party were entertained at a banquet at the Winchester Hotel, under the auspices of the Reedsport Chamber of Commerce, which was a delightful affair, being attended by thirty of the Reedsport live wires and their wives. Attorney Napier, acting as toastmaster, assured the visitors of the hearty welcome which the citizens of Reedsport desired to extend to the members of the Roseburg party. Responding to the welcome of the toastmaster, Judge Stewart, J. E. McClintock, Mr. Heinline, Mrs. Wm. Bell, Mrs. Heinline, Mr. Ramsdell, Dr. Stewart and E. H. Lenox gave assurance of their appreciation, and assured the citizens of Reedsport of a very warm reception to our city, should they honor us with their presence. At a late hour the banquet party bade good-night and good-bye to their hosts, and took a boat back to Gardiner, and left early Tuesday morning on the return trip, arriving about 9 o'clock, tired, dusty, but mighty glad the trip had been made and all agree that another year will see them back to the scenic portion of our county. The great need, however, is a hard surface road from Roseburg to Winchester Bay, which must be built as quickly as possible in order to give the people of Douglas county easy access to and from the county seat. Plans are well under way looking to the speedy construction of this highway which when completed, will not only be as scenic as the Columbia highway, but will open a large market for the products of the Umpqua valley, which under present conditions have to be shipped in by rail from a distance or by boats from California. The progressive citizens of Reedsport and Gardiner are working in perfect harmony, looking to the development of their section of the county at the earliest possible moment, and they are strongly urging as the first move this highway from the mouth of the river to Roseburg.

THIS NURSE ADVISES

Women Who Are Ill To Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.



East Rochester, N. Y.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for several years and think it fine. I am a practical nurse and when I get run down and nervous I take the Vegetable Compound. I also have trouble with my bladder when I am on my feet and Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash relieves that. I have recommended your medicine to several young ladies who have all benefitted by it."—Mrs. AGNES L. BELLOWS, 306 Lincoln Rd., East Rochester, N. Y.

Young women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

WHEN A WOMAN IS NERVOUS—WORRIED

The lives of most women are full of worry. Men's troubles are bad enough, but women's are worse. Worry makes women sick. It pulls them down, and in their weakened condition they are subject to pains, aches, weakness, backaches, headaches and dizzy spells.

Most women neglect their health, and for this they pay the penalty. Any woman will find that neglect does not pay. A little more attention to health would brighten up her life. If she asks her neighbors she finds that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription benefits a woman's whole system. It not only acts upon the troubles and weaknesses peculiar to women, but is an all-round tonic that braces the entire body, overcoming nervousness, sleeplessness, headaches, dizziness and a run-down condition.

LENTS, OREGON—"In my younger days I was greatly distressed. I began using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and received such relief that I can recommend it to others. I have raised a large family and am a great-grandmother and have always insisted on my daughters-in-law using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during expectant periods."—MRS. B. F. SEELY, 6411-94th Street.

Canyonville Team To go to State Fair

The community fair at Canyonville was very successful according to all reports and was highly praised by the county school superintendent. On account of the inability of the county to offer prize for adult exhibits, the grown-ups at Canyonville were not represented, but the children had an extraordinary good display of produce, handiwork and livestock. The Canyonville sewing club is a 100 percent club and its work attracted a great deal of attention and favorable comment. A number of the boys of the pig club exhibited their livestock and won much praise from a large number of people in attendance. A canning demonstration was given by the canning club and the team has been selected to represent Douglas county at the state fair in Salem. One team from each county goes to the state fair each year and there is quite a good deal of competition in the canning event. The Canyonville team is very thoro in its work and put up an excellent exhibition of its skill yesterday. Today's fair will be held at Myrtle Creek, where it is understood that another good exhibit and program has been arranged.

Do you lose power on the hills? Let us show you the difference with a cutout. H. Merten.

32 BUM COWS DETECTED

Thirty-two boarder cows were detected and eliminated from the nine cow testing associations of Oregon in July. The 5671 cows tested averaged 742 pounds of milk with 32.04 pounds of fat for the month, says the report of E. B. Fitts, federal and O. A. C. dairyman. Honor cows producing more than 40 pounds of fat for the month were 1237. The highest was "Pal" a grade jersey belonging to L. A. Cochran of Tillamook, with a record of 107.12 pounds of fat. Pal is of the same herd as Pennie, who broke the association record in June with 113.16 pounds of fat.

You are cordially invited to attend the fall millinery display at the Hat Shop, Saturday, Sept. 11.

LOVE and MARRIED LIFE by the noted author Idah McGlone Gibson

A TALK WITH KARL.

"Do you know," said Karl, "that is what I thought you would do with these bits of jade—give them to Mary."

I turned around from the mirror where I was putting on my hat to go for a ride in the new car and looked at my husband rather curiously. That foolish little speech of his showed me again how Karl was a part of me and I a part of him. Neither of us spoke however and we exchanged that look of understanding.

Instead Karl smilingly said "That's some hat you have on Katherine."

"I'm so glad you like it. I was not sure that it was too young for the mother of a daughter who is to be married soon. Do you realize Karl, that it is on the cards that I am to be a grandmother possibly before I am fifty."

"Cards—your grandmother," ejaculated Karl.

"That's exactly what I said, my dear." I remarked as I smiled over his slang.

"Turn around, he said,' and suiting the action to his words, he whirled me about where he could look at me. So long his eyes rested on my face, that I began to tell the color was mounting slowly fro mmy chin to my forehead.

Karl grinned. "Don't tell me young lady, that you're growing old when the glance of your lover can make you blush like that."

"Are you my lover, Karl?" I asked.

"Don't you call me your lover?" he parried. "You have always been my sweetheart Katherine, always from the first time I saw you."

"But Karl, I was then the bride of John."

"I can't help that. I was like the little green god with only one eye. I could see only a part of the joy and happiness inthis warld and I was waiting—waiting for the other part of me which should come and present me with the other eye that might make my vision complete. Long long I had said to myself:

"There is another life I long to meet,
"Without which my life is incomplete."

And do you know dear at that very moment I wanted to say to you:

"Oh sweeter self like me art thou astray,
Striving with all thy heart to find the way
To mine; striving like mine to find the breast,
On which alone can weary heart find rest.

"And you thought that, my dear, when you looked into the eyes of your best friend's wife?"

Karl had the grace to blush as he answered.

"Well, if I thought it, you know that you didn't hear that I thought it until a long time after your husband had died."

"I suppose it's up to me," I said "to say I didn't know you loved me until we were married a year and a half after my husband's death. Why you simpleton," I continued, Alice told me that she knew you were in love with me less than a year after that. No man goes around as you did paying no attention to the women that up to that time he had seemed to care very much for, without the whole of the gossiping world about him looking around for the one woman on whom he has placed his affection."

"Well, anyway, I don't think John was ever jealous of me," he said.

"No, my dear, I do not think that John Gordon was ever jealous of you unless it was perhaps for a moment when I gave him the three letters that you wrote me when you were in Egypt. And he immediately recovered from that, for John was so constituted that he was rather flattered by the thought that he owned something that other men would like to possess and he always had the greatest faith and trust in me."

"But Karl," I broke off eagerly, "my car! Take me to see it." And hand in hand Karl and I went down to the street.

Tomorrow—Our Anniversary.

Wilson's Condition Creatly Improved

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—President Wilson, without assistance, and leaning lightly on his cane, walked briskly through the front entrance of the White House today and stepped into his automobile while a crowd in Pennsylvania avenue looked on with unusual interest. It was the first time since his illness that he had started on a motor trip by that route, all trips heretofore having started from the rear grounds.

After entering the car with Mrs. Wilson, the president, wearing a cap, waited several minutes until an attendant could bring his straw hat. Meanwhile the crowd increased and made a rush for the gate on the avenue as the car approached. The president lifted his hat and smiled.

Death Wins Race Against Red Tape

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. Sept. 9—With the United States Government owing him $790 in back compensation and with an appeal made to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance to expedite the checks for the last two months payments, which had never been received in order that he might sign the mon his death bed to meet his funeral expenses, John Murray, totally disabled veteran of the World War, died here penniless. Death had outraced red tape.

The receipt of the money two days too late was the closing episode in a tragedy of delay. While Murray was dying the Service Division of National Headquarters of the American Legion over the wires was spurring the War Risk Bureau to action and the Bureau was unable to respond before the time limit. Murray's last hour of life had expired. A week elapsed before the Bureau answered the Legion's telegraphed appeal with notice the check was on the way.

Murray served overseas with the Third Field Artillery and was wounded in the foot, necessitating the amputation of his right leg near the hip and later his lungs became affected by exposure on the battlefield, and through the efforts of the Legion a claim for permanent total disability was allowed him.

ATTENTION!
We want everybody to come and investigate the Universal Tire Filler which rides same as air, relieves you of punctures and blowouts and does not injure the car in any way, not as much so as air-filled tires because it holds the road better and does not bounce as much on rough roads. Give it a trial and you will never use air again, besides you will be a booster for our filler. Do not compare this filler with the old-time unsatisfactory rubber or glue fillers. This filler has no rubber nor glue in it. That is the reason we can give a written guarantee with the filler that it will not change in any way for 100,000 miles of continual use if properly kept in the casings. Have Universal filler installed and save about 50 per cent on your casings.
