MILK CHEAP, GOES TO HOGS.

MOORESTOWN, N. J., Sept. 20.—Dairy men in this section are selling large quantities of milk to stock raisers who are feeding it to the hogs. The best grade of milk is bringing four and a half cents a quart, and the skim milk is selling for two cents. The falling off of the demand for milk in the cities is the reason assigned for the surplus.

TIES WIFE'S ASHES TO HIM.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20.—Capt. Henry J. Castrop arrived home carrying in a satchel the ashes of his wife, who died in Los Angeles several weeks ago. He told friends that his wife's last request was that her body be cremated and that he bring the ashes east. Traveling from the coast he kept the satchel tied to his body.

WOMAN SCORES AGAIN

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 20.—Graciously thanking a policeman for street directions, a woman reached nunchantly into her coat pocket, pulled out a plug of tobacco and bit off a generous chew. The policeman arrested her on a charge of disturbing the peace, but the court discharged her saying "if she can vote, why shouldn't she chew."

HOUSE BUILT IN SEVEN DAYS

NOTTINGHAM, Eng., Sept. 20.—A concrete house was built here in a week at a cost of $2,250. Other cities are negotiating with the patentees with a view of adopting the scheme as a means of rapid building. No skilled labor is required in the erection of the houses.

WOMEN ARE DETERMINING FACTORS IN INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The American women are determining factors in industrial production because they direct the consumption of 85 percent of the nation's wealth, was the assertion of Mrs. Henrietta W. Calvin specialist in home economics for the department of the interior. Approximately 19,000 American girls she said are studying economics in schools and colleges. As teachers they will ultimately influence one million pupils. Instruction in home economics includes foods, textiles, clothing, care of children and general management of homes.

ALMONY CLUB IS HIT

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The Almony Club, as the Ludlow street jail is sometimes called may not be so popular this winter if Sheriff Knott's annual budget of proposed expenses is trimmed by the board. He asks $1,490 for coal alone, an increase of $200. The food bill is $400 more than last year.

RAN WIGGLE AND WABBLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—"Let's have done with wiggle and wobble," was urged as a woman for the American Society of Teachers of Dancing. "If teachers and people who dance will bear the slogan in mind it will go a long way to eliminate whatever is not applied to the terpsichorean performances." It was stated.

DEATH WARNING IN SONG

LIVERPOOL, Eng., Sept. 18.—A man's song to his victim before he killed her was described at an inquest over a young widow, Mary Monks. She was courted by a man named Fitzgerald. He was jealous of her. At a party he sang a song, one line reading, "I loved you then, you broke your vow." He then cut her throat.

AERIAL PARTIES NOW

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—The "trolley parties" of years ago, when electric street transportation was a new thing are finding an echo in the "aerial parties" here. A commercial aviation company which operates in this section is using large newspaper spaces to advertise its "aerial bouquins" as conveyances for these affairs.

PEANUT PROFITEERING

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Allen peanut sellers are among the worst of the profiteers who are adding to the high cost of living, according to Dr. Howard Grimshaw, special lecturer at the New York University. He said peanut vendors were adding $60 a week to their profits by cutting down the size of the bag.

FEARED BURIAL ALIVE.

LONDON, Eng., Sept. 18.—Ercot Leopold Wolford, for forty-one years a member of the Stock Exchange, left an estate of over $60,000, and directed that after his death one of the arteries in his body should be opened to make sure of death. If the provision is not carried out the estate will go to charity.

HE IS AMERICANIZED.

SOMERVILLE, Mass., Sept. 18.—When Charley Wang, Chinese laundryman, decided to take a vacation he didn't bother to deliver the laundry in his possession, but simply posted the sign: "Closed. Vacation. No coal. No coke. Gas costs too much. Be back in three weeks." The haberdasheries are doing a thriving business.

CHANGES PITCHING ARM

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Fred Baumberger, amateur baseball pitcher is a veteran of the war and was wounded in the left arm. He was a southpaw, but on his return learned to pitch with his right arm and is now equally effective as he was when he pitched with his left arm.

LINKS WITH HISTORIC PAST

Interesting to Trace the Names of Streets and Lanes in City of Boston Today.

The names of the streets and lanes of Boston are closely linked with the historic past. Others there are which could be connected with Boston only, such as Tremont street, a corruption of "Tri-mountain," by which name Boston was known to the early settlers on account of the three high hills that serve as a background to the peninsula. This replaced the name "Shawmut," given to it by the Indians. Mary Harrod Northend writes in the Century Magazine that the streets of this quaint city in the East were laid out by straying cattle.

After the Revolution the names of many Boston streets were changed. Queen street became Court street, and King street the State street of today. School street took its name from a school that was erected there. Dark alleys, leading off the principal streets on every side, were named after pathways, usually depending on where they led to. Creek lane originally led to the old creek. It was in tavern days that this was the center of stage-coach life. The old custom house once stood on Flag alley. Corn court took its name from the fact that the corn market was at one time situated there. Summer street was once known as "Seven Star Lane." It is now one of Boston's busiest streets.

LIVED LONG ON FRUGAL DIET

Englishman Who Died in 1680 Proved That It Was Possible to Eke Out Existence Cheaply.

Thomas F. Curby, the champion eater of Massachusetts, declared that dyspepsia is the result of eating too little, and not too much. His Sunday dinner consisted of thirteen lobsters, sixty eggs, and one hundred oysters. At the other end of the scale must be placed old Roger Crab, the first vegetarian, who died September 11, 1680, after proving that a man could live on 75 cents a year. Originally a haberdasher in a big way of business at Chesham, England, a free liver and drinker of strong ales, he "got religion"—also dyspepsia—in middle life, sold his stock, gave the proceeds to the poor, and took to living in a hut on three-farthings a week. Instead of "strong drinks and wines," he says in his autobiography, "I give the 'old man'—he lived two centuries too soon to call it "Little Mary"—a cup of water; and, instead of roast mutton, rabbit with bran, and pudding made with bran and turnip-leaves chopped together." And on this diet he lived to a ripe old age, surviving repeated cuttings and imprisonment for witchcraft.

Moths Take Big Chances.

The high-flying species of morpho which inhabit the mountainous districts of western America, are much easier captured than those which frequent the plains, though their capture is often attended with difficulty and danger, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. One naturalist hunting moths and butterflies in Bogota, fell over a precipice and broke his arm, and then found that he had three days' journey to make on horseback before he could meet with a doctor to set it. Another naturalist, who was collecting in Bolivia found that morpho godardii, Geer, a beautiful species of a rather light blue which was previously almost unknown to entomologists, frequented an inaccessible ledge in the mountains; he was obliged to have himself lowered by ropes over the precipice before he could obtain it.

Franklin's Court Harmonica.

One of the first musical instruments made by an American was a mouth harmonica, made by Benjamin Franklin at the time when he was minister at the court of Louis in France, where he played it with considerable skill before Marie Antoinette and her court ladies. The queen was so delighted and interested that Franklin presented the little instrument to her. After Marie Antoinette was beheaded in the French revolution, this mouth harmonica had many sensational experiences till finally it came into the possession of a wealthy musical amateur and collector in this country, who has it, I believe, to this day.—Musical America.

The Horses of Thirty-Five.

Study of the relation between the total length of life and the time required to reach maturity has brought out an interesting comparison between men and horses. A horse at five years old is said to be, comparatively, as old as a man at twenty, and doubtless may be expected to behave, according to equine standards, after the manner of the average college student following human standards. A ten-year-old horse resembles, so far as age and experience go, a man of forty, while a horse that has attained the ripe age of thirty-five is comparable with a man of sixty.—New York Evening Post.

"The Brown and Silver's out in front!"

Spur's colors—brown and silver—the colors of a sure winner! Spur is there with that good old tobacco taste. And the "wise ones" among cigarette smokers have gone right with Spurs from the start.

There's always room at the top and Spurs have made the grade on their merit. Here's why: American and imported tobaccos, blended by a new method that brings out all of that natural, good old tobacco taste. Satiny, imported paper that is crumpled, not pasted, making a slower-burning, easier-drawing cigarette. Spur has the qualities to keep it the greatest cigarette for enjoyment and for price in the race today.

LEGION TO FIGHT PRICES

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The American Legion has announced formation of plans to mobilize its forces for a war against the high cost of living. In every community where there is a post the legion contemplates organizing retail dealers into an association, prospective merchant members of which it is said have pledged discounts approximating 2 per cent from current selling prices of all the commodities to the 2,000,000 members of the legion and their families.

FAMOUS DOG DIES.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—Rufus, a Newfoundland dog who piloted many men and saved them from both in the hot, sandy wastes of Death Valley is dead.

To those who have traversed this valley, this means much. Rufus guided scores of travelers across the desert. He searched the miles for lost men and guided them to safety. Scores of guide posts which mark paths across the desert are really monuments to the adventures of Rufus.

He crossed the United States with Tex. Prescott Beck, explorer. His adventures were chronicled in many newspapers and his picture was published in many magazines. Beck died three years ago and Rufus was retired to a home for the homeless animals in Pasadena. There he was forgotten until his death brought to the minds of those he saved and saved remembrances of his services.

BISHOP WHO URGES CLERGY SHOULD MARRY IS EXILED

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 18.—The clergy has been reached in a controversy among Coptic clergy reformers led by a local bishop, who demanded the abolishment of celibacy among the clergy and other reforms. The bishop was tried by an ecclesiastical court and was ordered to leave the country.

A CLEAR SKIN

Women do not have to patronize the beauty parlor—for if their skin is disfigured with pimples and blotches, and their blood is in disorder they should obtain at the drug store that wonderful blood tonic and alterative of Dr. Pierce's which he placed before the public over 50 years ago. Since that time many thousands of men and women have testified to its wonderful blood cleansing effect. This is what one woman says:

CHESTER, WASH.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's medicines for over forty years for myself and family and have always found them just as advertised. I think Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for a tonic and blood builder cannot be beat; and Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets have no equal for constipation; in fact, I can heartily recommend any and all of Dr. Pierce's remedies. My daughter had chronic constipation from babyhood and doctors could not cure her. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets is the only thing that ever helped her."—Miss JENNIE E. SWOFFORD, 1820 Alfred St.
