York, Boss Targart of Indiana, and the successor of Boss Sullivan of illinois. These and their like, to-gether with the organized liquor in-ierests secured the momination of Governor Cox.

It is strange how certain demo-cratic officials in the city of Wash-ington, D. C., happened to have pub-ile business in San Francisco at the time of the Democratic National Convention and Lound it necessary to travel in Pullman drawing rooms at the public expense.

It is explained why a chain of newspapers known as the Scrippe papers are so enthusiastically suporting Governor Cox. When the war was on, he wrote a letter which was used in secaring exemption from the fraft of two sons of the wealthy head of the Scripps publications.

SIR PERCY COX

Sir Percy Cox has been appointed governor general of Mesopotamia fol-lowing his distinguished services as commander of the British troops there. That fertile but undeveloped region on the Tigris and the Euphrates rivers is now in the process of being made over politically, and agriculmade over politically, and agricul-turally and industrially it is being modernized as rapidly as possible, so the new governor general has a task of far-reaching responsibility.

PARADISE FOR THE INDOLENT

Stress of Modern Life Unknown Among the Inhabitants of the Marquesas Islands.

Persons possessing $1,000 who like the indolent life of the tropics where winter is unknown can spend the re-mainder of their lives in the Marque-sas islands in the Pacific ocean, where they need only work two hours a day to eatch fish and pick bananas and spend the remainder of the day watch-ing the skybine sea wash incily over the golden sands,

The money would be required to pay a second-class passage from one of the Pacific coast ports, with outfit, and the balance to purchase fertile land at $2 an acre.

The Marquesas are situated in 8 to 11 south initiade and 140 west longitude and are of volcanic origin and moun-tainous. They are under the French re-public and the commissioner lives at Taiohal, the chief town, which is on the Island of Nukawa. There were 4,300 inhabitants in the Islands when the census was taken in 1900, but the natives, who are Christians, have dwindled away since then. There are 3,800 square miles in the thirteen is-lands, which compose the Marquesus group. The chief products are tropical fruit, copra and mother of pearl. The landing is difficult, as the shore goes up like a wall from the sea.

Passengers arriving from the Pacific sny that the climate of the Marquesas is ideal and that life there is one long day dream, with no disturbing element beyond the silver-tongued notes of the bulbul at sunset from its lofty perch on the ancient baobabs by the seashore.-New York Times.

RELIC OF MEDIEVAL TIMES

Sacred City of Mongolia Has Rut a tion of Today.

Urgn, sacred city of the Living Budthe day of the north of Mon-golia, is a relic of medieval times overlaid with a veneer of twentieth cen-tury civilization, and is a city of viotent contrasts and glaring anachronisms. It was used us a base of sup-plies by Roy Chapman Andrews, lead-er of the second Asiatic zoological expedition of the American Museum of Natural History,

Motor cars past camel caravans fresh from the Good desert; holy lamas in bright robes walk side by side with black-gowned priests and swarthy Mongol women in the fantastic headdress of their race store wonderingly at the latest fashions of their Russinn sisters, relates a correspondent of the Detroit News. Three great races have met in Urga, and each carries on its own customs and way of life. The Mongol's felt-covered home has remained unchanged; the Chinese shop with its wooden counter and blue-gowned inmates is still pure Chinese, and the ornate cottages proclaim themselves to be Russian.

Men from all races and corners of the earth gamble together. All Mongolia lives on horseback, and a Mongol will never walk even a hundred yards if he can help it. Summer in Mon-golia is short at best, and in the winter the temperature drops to 50 and 60 degrees below zero, and the great plateau is swept by biting winds from

Leaders Must Pay Price.

There's satisfaction in being able to do hard things. Weaklings have to be exceptionally insignificant if they can't do something. Then there is a large class that can do many things indiffer-ently. Those who can carry big loads and carry them well are few. To be in this select class appeals to most folks, but only the few really deserve place in it. And they do not land there without effort. Such honors are matters of growth. Time and toil are the price paid for the advance. Beginning with what comes easy the worthy ones become experts and then add to their sphere of achieving such things as na-turally fall in line with their endeavors. Then they grow without being really conscious of added strength. That comes as a glad surprise when some one calls attention to it.

NOTICE OF SALE OF GOVERN-MENT TIME R General Land Office, Washington, D. C., August 28, 1920.—Notice is hereby given that Asparagus Has a Pedigree.

Asparagus was cultivated in Rome 200 years B. C., and Pliny, in his "History Naturalis," menifons that near Ravenna there grew a kind of which three heads weighed a pound. Asparagus dourished also in Greece. It is a native of several places near the send in Beltain. At Kynance cove, in Cornwall, a rocky island is called "Asparagus island," because at one time the plant was cultivated there. In ancient days all sproats of young vesetables were called asparagus; and in comparatively modern times the artichoke, cardoon, scalanle and alisander were included. Novadays only the one is so called. Most probably all are wild sea-coast plants, and cultivated asparagus of no unpalatable order may still be found on British shores.
