Sacrifice Sale

Will Continue All Next Week

"Dear Ed: I guess I am learning to fisherize, but don't you know, I am liking that sacrifice and that store more every day. I just told the neighbors that if they would fisherize I know they would economize a lot. I've saved enough on their flannel night gowns today to buy 'Little William' a pair of shoes. And I am going to get BUSTER BROWNS."

"DORA."

So satisfactory has the sacrifice proven during the opening days this week that the store will allow the same 15%, 20% and 25% reductions on the entire stock of Dry Goods, Shoes, Coats, Suits and Dresses, Hose, Cor sets, Silks, Underwear and Blankets, and on every article and yard of goods in this store.

Where can you pay less?

This means OUT OF TOWN people will have the same opportunity to buy STANDARD GOODS AT SACRIFICE. Sale on ALL NEXT WEEK.

We will have gingham all next week at 27 CENTS.

A Word of Appreciation

Having disposed of my jewelry interests in Roseburg, I wish to extend a word of sincere appreciation to all my friends and patrons whom it has been my pleasure to serve in the past.

Now, having no store responsibilities, I will be free to devote my entire time exclusively to the optical work; and will therefore be in a position to render better optical service in the future than in the past.

Yours for better Eyesight,

Jonathan Bridges to Speak In Roseburg

"The Tobacco Traffic" will be the subject of discussion on Sunday afternoon in the Baptist church when Jonathan Bridges, of Eugene, will address the public. This question is being agitated in all parts of the country, and especially in Utah and California, where every week large audiences are gathered together. Oregon, though, has been keeping her pace with this reform, too, and every week in some part of the state there will be found a large body of people waiting to hear the speaker. In Ashland, on September 19th, a large meeting was held in the Chautauqua building where the subject was discussed, and last Sunday in the Central Church of Medford a like gathering was held.

The Baptist church of Roseburg should be packed to the doors for this meeting, since it is the first of its kind that Roseburg has had for some time. There will be an abundance of entertainment furnished so that a great meeting is looked for. The Sunday School of the city are in a contest for attendance at the meeting, that is, the Sunday School or Church which is represented by the largest number of people will be given a prize of $7.50.

Every person who has given this subject any thought whatever should come early and get a good seat. Three o'clock is the hour.

No More Donations Are Needed

No more donations are needed for Mrs. Anna Davidson and her children whose pitiful case was called to the attention of the citizens a short time ago. So generous has been the response in this worthy cause that those who have been pining for the case report sufficient supplies and clothing have been received to care for the family for some time. Everything possible is being done for them and they are now in good circumstances. Anyone knowing of cases of destitution at any time should notify Miss Agnes Pitchford, and an effort will be made to supply the needs.

Takes Charge of Rose Kitchen

Miss Olive B. Bassett, arrived in the city today and has taken over the management of the kitchen at the Rose confectionery. Miss Bassett is a graduate of the Oregon Agricultural College in the department of Home Economics, and was an instructor in that subject at the Medford schools for a number of years. During the past year she has had the management of the kitchen at the Canon Beach Hotel. She took charge of the local work today.
