TWO MORE WILL HANG FOR MURDER

Owen and Rathie Were Found Guilty at Pendleton Yesterday Afternoon.

MURDERED TIL TAYLOR

When Verdict is Read Two Defendants Break Down and Are Taken to Their Cells—Pendletonians Are Satisfied.

PENDLETON, Or., Oct. 5.—Guilty of murder in the first degree as charged in the indictment, was the verdict returned at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon by a circuit court jury sitting in the trial of Elvie D. Kerby, alias Jim Owens, and John LaFebbe, alias Jack Rathie, two of the five men indicted for the murder of Til D. Taylor, sheriff of Umatilla county, on July 25 last. The verdict closed the last trial of the five conspirators who planned to break jail and shoot their way out to freedom, and of the five, three go to the gallows and two have been sentenced to life imprisonment.

Judge Phelps of the circuit court will Friday sentence the men found guilty today. The judge allowed the defense five days to file motion for a new trial and 50 days to file a bill of exception.

Two hours deliberation has all the time taken by the jury in reaching their verdict, following the receiving of instructions of the court, after hearing the closing arguments presented in court this morning. Attorney-General Brown, making his last appearance as prosecuting attorney, marshaled the evidence for conviction in a strong plea for a verdict of guilty in closing the case of the prosecution this morning. It was during the progress of this trial that he was informed of his elevation to the state supreme bench.

In reviewing the whole case, Mr. Brown showed that the five men had agreed to break jail, that they had agreed to shoot their way out and that when the break was made on Sunday, July 25, they all acted their parts as agreed in the subsequent break and murder.

Indication was made by the jury at 3 p. m., that they wished to report their verdict and a rollcall of the jury was made at 3:30 p. m. before the judge with a half-filled courtroom of people hurriedly assembled.

Kerby and Rathie appeared in the court with a defiant attitude, but following the reading of the verdict they left the courtroom in the custody of the sheriff, broken men. Both returned with bowed heads to the jail and were joined immediately by relatives.

Pendleton people, on hearing the last verdict, expressed satisfaction that the law had taken its course in the punishment of the desperadoes who had taken the life of Sheriff Taylor.

Fine Stage Setting For Film Production

One of the most unique stage settings ever seen in Roseburg in connection with a motion picture will be displayed tonight at the Antlers theater in conjunction with the famous Goldwyn production, "Joe Call Me Jim," featuring Will Rogers.

The beauty of this big outdoors story is greatly enhanced by a small miniature camp which has been established on the stage. A small bit of the outdoors, with autumn leaves and everything has been transported to the stage of the Antlers and a small campfire and camp have been established. One egg almost smelt the beans cooking in the huge iron kettle which hangs over the fire and as one gazes on the camp a vacation trip to the woods is all that can satisfy the longing that arises. A prologue to the picture will show the camp as it looks in the daylight, then the moon rises, darkness falls, and then Will Rogers appears in the film which is everywhere pronounced as one of the best outdoor scenes to be seen on the screen.

(By Associated Press.)
ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 6.—The destruction of several cotton gins and business houses in the cotton belt after anonymous threats had been received by the operators and business men to cease activities while cotton was selling at what many farmers termed as prices below the cost of production, has resulted in placing armed guards around several gins and closing business in at least one community. The burning of the second gin in the Stamford, Texas, territory within two days was reported last night. Altho they were only four legged animals, their depth of devotion for their master and mistress, and their faithfulness and loyalty to their interests could have taught many a lesson, and their loss is mourned by Mr. and Mrs. Watson as they would mourn that of very dear friends. Princess Pat was a registered Alredale and Laddie, a Belgian Police Dog. They were expensive pets and absolutely devoted. Princess Pat had been a pet of the family since a pup and Laddie was secured by them but a few months ago. They were supposed to have been poisoned, probably by fish. On the occasions that Mr. Watson brought them to this city they were the cause of much comment and interest.

Pavement Is In Need of Repair

W. J. Weaver of the Umpqua Hotel today addressed a petition to the city council requesting that the Jackson street pavement at the corner of Oak and Jackson streets be repaired. Cars parked in front of the hotel during the hot weather have caused numerous depressions in the pavement. The same is true of practically the entire street but because of the softness of the paving at the hotel corner it is much worse than elsewhere. Whenever it is rainy weather, water from the Cass street end of the block washes down in front of the hotel, where it becomes ugly in appearance and disagreeable in odor. Tourists through the city have been heard to comment in a manner very derogatory to the city regarding this condition and a very bad impression is created in the mind of the visitor to the city because of the existence of this unsightly and unsightly place. The street department is now patching the pavement, and it would be a very slight task to resurface the street in front of the hotel and eliminate the trouble. Mr. Weaver in his communication to the council requests that the ruts be filled before the rainy season starts and that immediate steps be taken to eliminate the undesirable condition.

Stockmen Stop Fakir's Shows

Having just recently returned from the state fair, the county agent would like to call the attention of stockmen to the following action that took place at the state fair. It shows what united effort can do when used in attempt to correct an evil.

The stock exhibitors at the state fair, many of whom travel about from state to state showing their stock, were shocked and disgraced at the manner of fakir's shows allowed on the grounds by the fair management. At an evening meeting at which more than 75 percent of the exhibitors were present, action was taken requesting that the management cause to be removed from the grounds a large number of these questionable shows. If they were not promptly removed the exhibitors almost unanimously refused to exhibit their stock longer at the show. The following morning a committee was appointed to inspect the shows and a number were immediately told to vacate their stands.

The state fair management is to be congratulated on this wise action they have taken, and it is the wish of the stockmen that another year will see the state fair without any of these side shows.

The moral of this action is that united effort, when used for any good aim will produce results.

YOUNG LADIES JOIN LEGION

Yeomanette, and Two Army Nurses Are Admitted to Membership.

CELEBRATION PLANNED

Umpqua Post Takes Up Arrangements for Coming Armistice Day Celebration—All Day and Night Affair.

Three young women were last night admitted to membership in Umpqua Post of the American Legion, having had service in the army nursing corps and in the navy. The new members are Mrs. Isabella Dodson Blankenship, former navy yeomanette, Marguerite O'Brien and Emily H. Smith, of the army nursing corps. All of these young ladies have had active service and are fully eligible to membership in the Legion. Several other young ladies have previously been admitted to membership in the Legion in this city. Four other members were also added at the Legion meeting last night, they being John A. Hopkins, of Canyonville; Albert Easton, of Roseburg; William K. Ewing, of Oakland, and Hugh J. Carter, of Canyonville.

The meeting last night was the first one held since spring, the meetings having been postponed during the summer months. The chief matter for discussion at the meeting was the arrangements for the Armistice Day celebration to be held on November 11. This is to be made an all day and all night affair, and from present indications will be a humdinger. A special meeting is to be called for October 12, at which time additional plans will be made and new stunts proposed and considered.

The Legion plans to start the day's program early, and in rain or sunshine will put on a program that will be long remembered. Special committees to put the plans into execution will be appointed at the next meeting and fuller details will be available after that time.

A committee composed of W. K. Wright, Leo Devaney, Guy Cordon and Charles Springer was appointed to assist in conducting the funeral of Private Roy A. Smith, whose body is on the way from New York to Roseburg, having been brought back from St. Nazaire, France. Private Smith was formerly a resident of Glide, his death being caused by pneumonia. He died on December 5, 1918, and was buried in France, his body having been disinterred and sent back to his home.

The Legion will be represented at the funeral and it is urged that very ex-service men turn out to pay honor to this comrade. The date of the funeral will be announced later when definite word concerning the arrival of the body is received. The committee went to Glide today to confer with the parents of the deceased regarding their wishes.

The ladies of the W. R. C. met with the Legion post and invited the affiliation of the women's auxiliary of the Legion with the W. R. C. The committee expressed interest in the work of the Legion and offered a number of very good suggestions.

I expect to make the trip through here next summer by automobile, and will stay long enough to take in the beautiful drives that I have heard surrounds your town."
