ANTI VACCINATION BILL SUPPORTED

Claims Opponents Have Misconstrued Facts In Statements to Public.

CITES LAW AUTHORITIES

Claims that Bill if Passed Will Not Abolish All Health Activities of State Board and Will Not Be Detrimental to Health.

The following communication regarding the anti-vaccination bill, has just been received from Attorney Junius H. Ohmart, the framer of the measure. A strong campaign is being waged both for and against the bill, and the opponents and adherents are working diligently for their respective sides. Mr. Ohmart says:

To the editor:—

Recently there have appeared in the public press, articles emanating from the public health authorities attacking the proposed Anti-Compulsory Vaccination Amendment to the State Constitution to be voted on by the people at the coming election, November 2nd. The health authorities, in these articles, attempt to misconstrue and thus to mislead the public in reference to the scope of this amendment and its operation, and with this object in view, sought and obtained an opinion from a deputy city attorney, that seems to fit in with the desires of the opponents of the measure.

The undersigned deems it his duty at this time, inasmuch as he prepared the initiative petition incorporating this amendment for the Public School Protective League of Oregon to defend this amendment against these nujust attacks.

There can be found nothing in that amendment that can possibly warrant the impression being spread broadcast by the health officers that it will abolish the present laws or prevent the passage of any legislation in the future covering reasonable quarantine and sanitary practices by the health authorities. Most of the people rightly believe in quarantine and sanitary measures.

Here is the proposed Anti-Compulsory Vaccination Amendment, which reads as follows:

"No form of vaccination or inoculation or other medication, shall be made a condition in this State for admission to or attendance in any public school, college university or other educational institution; or for the employment of any person in any capacity, or for the exercise of any right, the performance of any duty, or the enjoyment of any privilege."

There is nothing in this amendment that can warrant any such assumption that it will prevent quarantine of contagious diseases and the enforcement of sanitary measures. Quarantine is not vaccination, inoculation or medication.

The only words that the opponents of this amendment can possibly select to misconstrue, is the phrase, "or other medication" in the clause, "No form of vaccination, inoculation or other medication." They might contend that this phrase, being general, includes al kinds of medical treatment. If so, then our friends in the city hall apparently have failed to apply the elementary rules of statutory construction in making their "analysis" of this amendment for the Health Bureau.

That this amendment will abolish all the health activities of the public authorities: that it will result in increased epidemics and deaths, that it will increase the population of the underworld, etc., are highly imaginative assertions, for which no basis can be found in this amendment if the legal rules of construction are applied.

It is an elementary principle of statutory construction long established and recognized everywhere, and supported by a mass of precedents, that "When there are general words following particular and specific words, the former must be confined to things of the same kind. This is known as the rule or doctrine of ejusdem generis." (Sutherland on Statutory Construction, Vol. 2, Sec. 422.)

In the case of Nichols vs. state, 127 Ind. 406, the rule is clearly stated: "The rule is that where words of a particular description in a statute are followed by general words that are not so specific and limited, unless there be a clear manifestation of a contrary purpose, the general words are to be construed as applicable to persons or things or cases of like kind to those designated by the particular words."

To illustrate. In a statute are the words, "warehousemen, wharfingers and other persons." The words "other persons" the court holds "must be understood to refer to other persons ejusdem generis, (same general character.)" viz., those who conduct the business of warehousemen and wharfingers with some other pursuit, such as shipping, grinding or manufacturing." (Butcher vs. Commonwealth, 102 Pa. St. 555) Many illustrations from adjucated cases could be given if space permitted.

Applying this principle to our amendment, the words "or other medication," must be understood to refer to any medication of the same general nature or character as described by the words that precede the word "medication" that is, any process of injecting infectious matter into the blood or body of the individual.

It is not the purpose of this amendment to prevent anyone from voluntarily submitting to vaccination or to prevent any physician from vaccinating anyone who requests it. But it is clearly the purpose and substance of the amendment to prevent vaccination being forced by compulsory measures upon those who do not believe in the so-called efficacy of vaccination and who wish and should have the right to protect themselves from its deleterious and often disastrous and fatal effects. Authentic statistics are abundant, notwithstanding the "statistics" of the doctors to the contrary, that inoculation is dangerous, causes much sickness, and some deaths, and also plants the seeds in the human system of future diseases.

So, Mr. and Mrs. Voter, do not be deceived by the misleading propaganda of the American Medical Association and those who are interested in forcing you to defeat this amendment; but go to the polls and vote in the interests of humanity and medical freedom by voting Yes on the amendment entitled "Anti-Compulsory Vaccination Amendment."

Please see the affirmative argument by the Public School League, printed in the pamphlet on pages 21 and 22, mailed to all voters in the state.

Bridal Shower For Miss Stephenson

Complimenting Miss Mattie Lee Stephenson, a popular and well known young lady of this city, Mrs. Herbert D. Quine and Miss Beulah Jewett sponsored a bridal shower at the home of the former on Pitzer street last evening. Miss Stephenson's engagement to Archie B. Taylor, proprietor of the Coos Bay-Myrtle Point stage line, was recently announced, the wedding to take place early in November.

The rooms of the Quine home were attractively arranged with dahlias, asters and quantities of autumn leaves. Many beautiful gifts were received by Miss Stephenson, consisting of cut glass silver and many other dainty articles. A dainty luncheon was served by the hostess at a cleverly arranged table. A large doll bride surrounded by a delicate tracery of autumn leaves occupied the center of the table, and the guests found their places by means of small couplets written on "bride and groom" place cards. The couplets were descriptive of the guests and when read aloud caused much merriment. Halloween favors containing a small prize and a dunce cap were given each guest. Those seated at the table were Miss Mattie Lee Stephenson, Miss Clayte Black, Miss Clara Patrick, Miss Madge Miller, Mrs. Woodley Stephenson, Mrs. Harley Watson, Mrs. Bert Bates, Mrs. John McClintock, Mrs. James Goodman, Mrs. Herbert Quine and Miss Beulah Jewett.

WILL FLASH RETURNS.

Arrangements have been made by J. W. Perkins whereby he will flash election returns on a screen on his building on Cass street election night. Mr. Perkins will secure national and state returns and will also be furnished returns from county precincts. He has secured a projecting machine and will flash returns as fast as they are received over the wires.

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Judge J. C. Fullerton in speaking of the good old campaign days of 1876, when Tilden and Hayes were presidential candidates, recalled the manner in which the national returns were received in this city. Judge Fullerton states that at that time Walt Hamilton, now mayor of Roseburg, was a telegraph operator. Walt used to "tap the wires" every morning for over a month in an attempt to ascertain the outcome of the election, and Judge Fullerton was one of the faithful few who gathered at the telegraph office all during that time. The real results of the election were not known for nearly two months.

DEER HUNTER SHOOTS MAN.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Oct 21.—Walter Kaino, 26, will probably die of a wound received from a rifle in the hands of T. M. Colver, a neighbor, who mistook him for a deer, according to reports. Mr. Colver's crops had suffered by deer eating his berry and other bushes. Last night he went to the place where the deer had been jumping the fence.

Noticing a movement in the bushes he shot and immediately was greeted with a cry from his victim. Examination of the wound indicated Kaino's spinal cord was cut by the bullet. Kaino had been seeking a runaway horse.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC.
