WARREN G. HARDING

the campaign. It was a masterpiece. Douglas county farmers and sheep growers know that Mr. Flowers was right when he pictured the working of the democratic tariff law, under which cheap Canadian wheat, Chinese eggs, Australian wool and Argentine beef are pouring into our country, while the American producers are going to the wall. It is a condition—a serious condition, and not a theory that confronts us. Only the election of a republican president and a republican majority in the senate can bring relief. A vote for Chamberlain is a vote to continue the democratic tariff, continue the deadlock on the peace treaty and to hamper president Harding. A vote for Stanfield for United States senator is a vote to uphold the republican administration.

When Mr. Flowers, at the republican rally, began to pour hot shot into the Chamberlain camp, a well known citizen got up and walked out evidently believing he could start a stampede. But nobody followed. It took some courage to do the trick, and the results must have surprised the gentleman. Chamberlain sentiment in Roseburg is confined to a very narrow circle.

Ex-president Taft, who is an Ohio man, gives this estimate of candidate Cox. "Governor Cox has had considerable official experience as the governor of Ohio; he has shown himself a shrewd and active politician. He has saved himself from de-

President Wilson wrecked his own League of Nations. This is the testimony of ex-president Taft, of Elihu Root, of Herbert Hoover, of both the democratic and republican leaders in the United States Senate. And yet Candidate Cox declares for the wreck. Says he is in accord with the president and tries to make people think he can do better than Wilson. He does not answer, and cannot answer the arguments of Taft, Root, Hughes and others, that Article X of the treaty means not peace, but war, and war in which American blood would be shed to settle musty disputes among the races or nations of Europe, with which we have no concern, and which involve no principle of human progress.

From Senator Harding down, the republican candidates have refrained from "mud-slinging" as against any opposition candidate. The people appreciate a dignified campaign.

Cholera Spreads With Great Speed

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—As a result of the frequent movements of Chinese troops in Szechuan Province, west China, cholera has been spread more extensively recently than in the last 20 years. This is the opinion of Professor Daniel S. Dye, of West China Union university, expressed in a letter to Rev. W. R. Taylor, a representative of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society in China, now on furlough here.

The disease has caused great ravages in Tungchow, Chungking and Chengtu, as well as many of the smaller villages. Americans are Europeans are virtually immune, Professor Dye said, due largely to the unusual precautions observed by them in the preparation of food and in the matter of hygiene and diet.

The first graduates of the university medical school, who recently received their diplomas, are serving as interns in hospitals in the province.

Professor Dye was formerly a member of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin. He is a native of New Matamoras, Ohio.

WANTS YOUR TURKEYS

MR. TURKEY MAN, have you promised your turkeys yet?
DO YOU want outside competition in the field?
DO NOT make the mistake of promising your turkeys and letting the other man come in and make the market.
IF WE make the market, we are entitled to the turkeys.
DO YOU KNOW that the PACIFIC MEAT COMPANY was the only one that did not quit buying turkeys last year, others saying that the market had dropped?
WE DO NOT have to quit buying when some packer tells us to, and we do not have to depend on telegrams telling us what to do.
WE HAVE a market established for your birds in our own store, direct from Producer to Consumer.
WE HAVE HAD the proposition made to us by dealers, to stay out of the field, and they would furnish us with our turkeys.
IF YOU WANT US in the market, cut out the attached coupon, sign, and mail it to us at once.

feat, because of his affiliation with the liquor group in politics, and they have always regarded him as a true friend."

Tammany, which was instrumental in the nomination of Governor Cox, now makes it known that it dislikes his attempt to carry water on one shoulder and booze on the other. A competent political writer says:

"They have taken note of the fact that he sought to give the impression of being "dry" in the west, while the records revealed by the anti-saloon league day before yesterday, showed that only four years ago, when he was a candidate for the Governor of Ohio, he was aided by the liquor interests.

Tammany Casts Cox Aside.
The secretary of the Ohio Liquor league filed a statement of expenses with the secretary of state in that campaign, which made the following explanation of one item of $1200:

"The purpose for which this sum was paid was in connection with the candidacy of James M. Cox for governor of Ohio on November 7, 1916. Tammany is trying to save the governorship in New York, while in the other states Cox has been cast aside and all money and energies devoted to seeking the election of democratic senators. And no one who understands the workings of the American government mistakes the effect of such a victory. Winning the presidency is regarded as hardly more vital to either party than winning the senate. It is admitted that the democrats have an even chance of winning a senate majority."

In 1912 the democratic platform pledged the nominee to a single term in the presidency, and President Wilson repudiated that pledge. The same platform declared for exemption from tolls of American ships engaged in coast wise trade and passing through the Panama Canal, a policy which the republican party had already established. At the behest of President Wilson, the democratic congress repudiated that promise and repealed the law which republicans had enacted for free tolls. "The same platform declared that all American citizens travelling or residing abroad, "must have the full protection of the American government." Notice how that platform was repudiated in our dealings with Mexico. Remember the false pretense of 1916. "He kept us out of war," when the inner councils of the government knew that war was inevitable. No wonder the American people want a change.

Already it is apparent that some of our local democratic friends have admitted within themselves that the county ticket is lost, because rumors are rife of offers to make certain "trades." This is an infallible sign of the breaking down of a bold front. The local campaign of abuse and insinuation waged against certain republican candidates, has spent itself on the rocks of defeat. The people couldn't be fooled.

Since 1843 the democratic party has had control of both legislative and executive branches of government, in all eight years; two years under President Cleveland in 1892-4 and six years under President Wilson in 1912-16. In 1894 and 1914 under the fiscal legislation of the democratic party, the industrial life of the country was paralyzed, and in each case there was an army of more than three million men; a situation relieved under president Wilson only by the precipitation of the world war. Whether or not, the democratic party, under Mr. Wilson, has fulfilled the pledges of the party—single presidential term; economy in governmental expenses; reduction of the number of office holders; states rights; preservation of the Monroe Doctrine; protection of the rights of American citizens at home and abroad; reduction of the high cost of living; elimination of the inequalities of wealth; no Panama Canal tolls for American coastwise shipping; avoidance of entangling alliances—whether or not these and many other pledges have been kept, the people of this country are able to judge for themselves.

Legion's Attitude Toward Union Labor

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 26.—The official attitude of the American Legion toward organized labor is given in a bulletin issued from the national headquarters in this city. This plank, which was adopted at the recent national convention, is taken from a statement issued by former national commander, Franklin D'Olier and is as follows:
"The attitude of the Legion toward organized labor is the same as its attitude toward all groups of American citizens who are interested in a square deal for all in the maintenance of law and order and the protection of the institutions handed down to us by our forefathers. In any controversy between capital and labor, the interest of the American Legion is confined to that of maintenance of law and order and, without taking part on either side, in case a situation should arise where life and property are endangered, it is the duty of the members of the Legion to perform their full duty as citizens, according to their own conscience and understanding. In such a contingency it is the Legion man's duty to assist in the maintenance of law and order by acting as an individual and offering his services to the duly constituted authorities for the maintenance of law and order. There is nothing to prevent the individual member of the Legion acting as an individual, from taking either side in such a controversy, but the Legion as an organization will not do so."

This statement was adopted by the national convention delegates as expressing the Legion's official attitude in labor difficulties.
