LITTLE SYMPHONY IS NOTED ALL-STRING COMBINATION

Orchestra Organized by Thurlow
Lieurance to Give High-Grade
Concert Here.

Lieurance's Little Symphony, patterned after the Metropolitan Symphony orchestras of the cities, and organized by Mr. Thurlow Lieurance, is to appear here soon as one of the star numbers of the local course.

Lieurance's Little Symphony is an all-string combination which plays sketches from a representative number of symphonies. It was especially organized by Mr. Lieurance to meet the wide demand for good music rather than trash. The noted composers believe that nothing short of the best would satisfy the craving for real music in America, and this is the reason for the Little Symphony. It is an organization with a purpose—a company with a musical ideal.

This strong combination consists of four violins, and a pianist. It is under the personal direction of Mr. Harold Lewis in the absence of Mr. Lieurance, who does not appear with his organization. Throughout the extensive program Mr. Lieurance has arranged the music for several different combinations. The varied program resulting in one of unusual charm.

A pie social will be given at the Fullerton school, Friday evening, Oct. 29 at 7:30. Pies will be sold by the cut. Proceeds to go to Industrial Club Fund. A good program will be rendered.

Should Be Examined!

YOU should know whether your children's eyes are normal, whether they see near and distant objects perfectly and whether school work and reading have strained their eyes. Poor eyesight will hold back their progress and make them seem dull. Do not let them be handicapped with poor vision, when a properly fitted pair of glasses will give them relief and make them on par with the others.
