Were Married On Election Night

Mr. Wm. E. Rose and Miss Lizzie Fisher were united in marriage at 7:30 o'clock last night at the parsonage of the Christian church, Rev. C. H. Hilton, performing the ceremony, using the ring ceremony. The parties were accompanied by only a few relatives. Mr. Rose is well known in Roseburg, being in the barber business on Sheridan street, and has a host of friends in Roseburg. He has been building a home for the receipt of his wife and they begin housekeeping at once. Mrs. Rose is also quite well known in Roseburg, and the happy couple will begin their housekeeping with the blessings of their numerous friends.

SYSTEM WAS FINE.

In past elections a great deal of trouble has been encountered in securing the complete returns from all the precincts. The system as organized by the News-Review this year eliminated all of this trouble and at 9 o'clock this morning only 23 precincts were out. Everything else had been reported in full and the telephone was kept busy all night long receiving the vote counts. This sets a record for receiving complete returns in Douglas county.

ELECTION CROWDS
 "STAY WITH SHIP"

In Spite of Drizzling Rain the Bulletin Boards in Front News-Review Crowded.

RETURNS BRING CHEERS

Every Place Announcing Returns Had Fine Crowds—Crowd Starts Going Homeward As News Arrives That Harding is Elected.

In spite of the disagreeable drizzle which dampened the ardor of the less enthusiastic and drove them to shelter, several thousand people spent the major portion of the night hours frequenting the usually deserted streets of Roseburg following closely the results of the unusual election staged throughout the entire county yesterday. Keen interest was shown wherever shelter could be obtained, and the crowd stayed until the "wee sma" hours and copied the results as they were published in the various manners.

Until the rain started the streets were thronged, but the moisture drove many indoors, and the theatres and the Jazz-o-Four dance benefitted exceedingly because of this fact.

The News-Review bulletin boards were kept crowded until well after midnight. At twelve o'clock, the round house employees were notified that Harding had been elected, and the whistle there proclaimed the fact to the citizens of the city, who were unable to remain uptown to witness the bulleting of returns as they were received.

Continuous communication was maintained all night with all of the election centers of the county. Returns were kept coming without a break and a complete return from various parts of the county without the long waits and pauses. At the Perkins building the street was blocked for many hours, and the projecting machine was kept busy flashing the returns as fast as they could be taken from the wires.

The Associated Press furnished the News-Review special service on the state outlook and those congregated about the bulletin board were given complete information on the political situation all over the country as fast as the returns could be sent in to the respective headquarters.

The Majestic theatre gave an all night performance, running a 41 reel feature serial picture and flashing election returns at frequent intervals the theatre being well filled, and the show was finished at 5:30 this morning.

The Liberty theatre also gave a special performance for this occasion, and bulletined the returns until midnight.

The dance at the armory was exceptionally well attended and the dancing continued until well after midnight.

A large portion of the crowds left the bulletin boards when it was learned that Harding had received a substantial plurality. The majority, however, remained to watch the returns on the races for the county offices and so close was the contests that all who could possibly do so, remained to learn the success of their favored candidates.

PRETTY GIRLS STOWAWAY

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 2.—Two days out from Vladivostok, bound for Seattle, Captain O. C. Austin, master of the steamer Cross Keys, one of the United States shipping board carriers in service of the Pacific Steamship company, was informed that there were women on board. On investigation he found Era Piritz, aged 22 and Anna Feodorovna Lapina, aged 20, occupying the quarters of H. P. Hansen, boatswain.

Hansen was summoned before the master and stoutly denied that he had had any hand in bringing the girls aboard. Both are pretty. Hansen asked the master to marry him to Miss Piritz. Hardly had the boatswain been hailed before the master when Frank C. Betts, a seaman, but a graduate of a Seattle high school and said to have been a shining light in local interscholastic football and athletic circles, appeared before the master and asked that he be married at once to Miss Lapina, who is the younger and the prettier of the two girls.

Captain Austin questioned the quartet, being compelled to rely on an interpreter in interviewing the girls, and it developed that the boatswain had no hand in bringing the girls on the ship. Betts readily confessed that he became smitten with Miss Lapina, whom he met in a restaurant at Vladivostok, where she had been employed.

The girls are held in the United States immigration station and the two sailors are under arrest.

BOOZE CAR RUNS AMUCK

Much excitement and indignation was created in the business district at 8:15 o'clock last night when an Essex Six car in which were three intoxicated men, ran amuck on South Front street at fast speed between the Nash hotel and East 5th street crashing into three cars that were parked on the west side of South Front street, and finally striking a large maple tree with such force as to tear it up by the roots. Fortunately no one was injured, says the Medford Tribune.

The indignation spread about the city today when it became known that the facts in the case were that five men were arrested Saturday night, and the reports that bootlegging activity in the city has been on the increase lately.

Mayor Gates was incensed over last night's affair and gave orders to Chief Timothy that the men if found should be arrested and prosecuted. The fact that no arrests were made last night is due to the fact that the men were spirited away by friends before the police learned of the incident.

The drunken car in its career of wreckage, first struck a Ford car and knocked it galley west, then hit a Chevrolet car and smashed it all to pieces. After hitting the third car it struck and uprooted the tree.

FARM BOY BECOMES LORD.

LONDON, Eng.—London's next lord mayor will be a man who started life as a farm boy. He is Alderman James Rolf, a famous four-in-hand driver, who has been a leading figure in the Pickwick Coaching club for many years.

News of Missing Soldiers Are Asked

It was October 17, 1918, that Lieut. Wilford McFadden, Jr., accompanying the 193rd squadron of the third pursuit group, decided to leave the formation and travel alone toward the German lines. Fellow aviators saw his plane dwarf into a speck as McFadden steered his lone course toward the Argonne forest. This is the last ever seen or heard of McFadden by his friends and relatives.

Such cases of disappearance are common enough in the annals of the A. E. F., and the American Legion Weekly is co-operating with the News-Review in an endeavor to clear up some of these mysteries that are breaking the hearts of parents throughout the land. McFadden's mother learned that no grave bearing her son's name was registered in France or Germany. She believes he may be somewhere in a hospital, even at this late date, suffering from lost identity. If any reader has any information about Lieut. McFadden he is requested to communicate with Mrs. E. E. McFadden, 654 McKinley avenue, San Antonio, Texas.

Other similar cases, where bereaved parents desire information, follow:

HIDES HUSBAND'S MURDERER

LA CROSSE, Wis., Nov. 2.—Deputy State Fire Marshall L. M. Shearer, today announced that Mrs. Helen Biersen of Brickman Ridge had told him she had kept John G. He said Mrs. Biersen admitted to him that her husband was carrying a shotgun when he found Bier in the closet, and that Bier had told her he killed her husband with a revolver and then used the shotgun to fool the authorities. That night they burrowed the house in order to have an excuse to leave the neighborhood, she told him.

Reason For Car Shortage Given

Equalization of interchange is the only solution of freight car shortage in Oregon, according to G. F. Richardson, superintendent of transportation for the Southern Pacific Co., who says, in this matter of concern to local shippers—

"The reason for car shortage on Southern Pacific lines in Oregon is plain. For many months past there has been a heavy movement of commodities, especially lumber, from Oregon to eastern points routed through Portland. Many of the cars moving in this manner are those that have previously been hauled from as far south as Texas.

"In order to maintain a supply of cars in Oregon it is plain that the lines taking the loaded cars out of the state through Portland, should return an equal number of cars, either loader or empty, from day to day—in other words—they should equalize the interchange. Because of the failure to do so we have lost 4099 cars in the past seven months through the Portland interchange.

"The Pacific system has moved into Oregon since March 1st, to the present date, 16,704 empty cars in an attempt to fulfill their obligations to the shippers of the state.

"Even though it be considered that the Southern Pacific lines should move empties into Oregon to the extent necessary to make up the deficit caused by the failure of the northern lines to equalize the interchange at Portland, the fact remains that owing to the physical characteristics of the line reaching in Oregon having a 3.2 percent grade over the Siskiyou mountains,—enough cars cannot be moved in through the Ashland gateway in a given length of time to accomplish the above result. Therefore, as long as the failure on the part of the other lines to equalize interchange continues, there is bound to be a continuous car shortage in Oregon despite every effort of the Southern Pacific lines south of Ashland to maintain the supply."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A WAGE WORKER'S VIEW

Editor News-Review:

I read with interest an article appearing in your issue of Nov. 1st, entitled "Who Runs Roseburg," and signed "Taxpayer," also your article on front page of issue of Nov. 2, entitled, "Creason Refuses to Withdraw Petition."

In the first place I wonder why Taxpayer hasn't courage enough to sign his name. I say come out in the open, give us your name, and show your colors. If you are so anxious for the people's will to rule, why don't you work for what the people wanted and voted bonds for? Why are you so anxious to bond the people for a huge sum, simply for a mammoth advertising scheme. If you think the majority of the taxpayers want an aviation field, I think you are badly mistaken. Creason circulated that little petition in the interests of the taxpayers, and if it didn't contain names enough to convince any one, I can present another one inside of two days with five hundred names, and if a special election is forced upon us, I will make it my business to canvass the entire city voting in favor of the people of the people voting in favor of the aviation field last spring are not tax payers and wanted an airplane landings field merely for what little excitement it can afford. The same people would vote for a municipal moving picture show house. If Nichols thinks the business men are sore, he should talk to a few of the wage earners and see what they think. The great trouble is, the interests of the business men and the wage earners are not the same. The wage earner is busy earning the money, and the business men are busy getting it from him. "There ain't no use disgustin' Roseburg's biggest airplane asset, is airplane advertising!"
