

Salem Wages On Downward Pitch

SALEM, Or., Nov. 17.—That wages of local workmen, long since having reached their peak, will in the future start on a downward pitch and in some cases are already tobogganing, was made obvious in the announcements this morning by three of Salem's largest concerns, relative to wage reductions.

Suggests Mooney Be Turned Loose

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—District Attorney Matthew Brady of San Francisco declared today that if the courts should order a new trial for Thomas Mooney, now serving life in the state penitentiary as a result of the preparedness parade bomb explosion here in 1916, he probably would move that the case be dismissed and Mooney be freed.

Brady made the statement in answer to a letter he received earlier in the day from Mooney, appealing for a new trial.

Kiddies' Coughs Can Be Eased Quickly

Dr. King's New Discovery will do that very thing, easily and quickly. DON'T say, "Poor little kiddie, I wish I knew what to do for you!" When the cough first comes, give a little Dr. King's New Discovery as directed, and it will soon be eased.

Many Ills Due To Catarrh

The mucous membranes throughout the body are subject to catarrhal congestion resulting in many serious complications.

PE-RU-NA

Well Known and Reliable Coughs, colds, nasal catarrh, stomach and bowel troubles among the most common diseases due to catarrhal conditions.

Dr. James Henry Breasted, of the University of Chicago, reports. Dr. Breasted, who is professor of Egyptology and oriental history there, has recently returned from a survey of most of the important buried cities of the Near Orient.

The collapse of the Ottoman Empire has opened the birth-lands of civilization to unrestricted investigation, Dr. Breasted said.

It will be possible to clear up the leading ancient buried cities of western Asia within the next 25 or 30 years or perhaps a generation, given sufficient funds and adequate personnel, according to Dr. Breasted.

Was The More Able One.

Four years ago a young man who intended to vote the republican ticket, and whose father was a democrat, was charged by the latter, when he went to vote to be sure and look for the rooster. When the youthful one came out, the father asked, "Well, son, did you see the rooster?" The son replied, "Yes, I saw two, one of them walking and one of them flying. I stamped the one flying, as

THEY ALL WERE AMERICANS

Interesting Observations on the Product of the Melting Pot by Frederick Palmer.

Where were the foreigners? I wondered as I looked at the faces in the streets upon my return from Europe. The French, who had heard much of our polyglotry, asked this question when they saw our soldiers marching along the roads of France. In French eyes the men were all of the type American. Yet they included foreign born, as well as sons of every race in Europe, Frederick Palmer writes in Harper's.

Are you Americans? their adopted country asked of them in those trying days. They gave their answer in sacrifice at home and in battle, often fighting against an enemy of their own blood. Zaitniks, Einsteins, Schmidts, Bertells, Katsanjans won the Distinguished Service Cross, thrilling our pride with a new sense of nationalism. Had they now reverted to loyalty to the lands of their origin? If so, what had wrought the change in their hearts?

To my fresh view all the people were distinctively Americans in garb and taste; in their complexion, which our climate so promptly affects; in their brusque and frank civility, their intensity, their pleasures, and their restless motion. Later, as I became settled at home and more discerning, I might note that this or that person was of Swedish, Italian, Hungarian or Slav stock. Then I would see through the veneer, as I was told. But aren't most of us—again, not a new idea—who are "off the reservation," of foreign stock? My people missed the Mayflower and came over in 1636. I could not discern that the descendants of the Pilgrims were more American than I was or than a dark eyed telephone girl whose father was an Italian immigrant.

Not even in the mean streets did I find patches. I saw no shriveling babies in emaciated mothers' arms on bread lines in the European sense, though conditions were bad enough from the point of view of desired standards which must ever call our attention away from stagnation of "everything is for the best in the best of worlds." In place of saloons in mean streets and average streets, new stores and restaurants had appeared. How clean the restaurants were compared to those of the same class in Europe? How wholesome was their atmosphere!

RASMUSSEN TO STUDY ESKIMO

Danish Explorer's Ambition is Said to Be to Make Thorough Study of the Northern Race.

The remarkable studies carried out by the Danish explorer, Knud Rasmussen, among the Greenland Eskimos are described by W. E. Ekblaw in the Geographical Review. Rasmussen, who is part Eskimo himself, was born and trained in languages and ethnology at the University of Copenhagen.

It is his ambition to make a thorough study of the whole Eskimo race, from eastern Greenland to Siberia, and he has already visited every Eskimo settlement in Greenland. It is said that he knows every Greenland Eskimo personally. Mr. Ekblaw believes it safe to say that no one else has ever come into such direct contact with a whole people as he has.

Late in 1919 he returned from a visit to Ammassalik, on the east coast. He was surprised to find that the east Greenland Eskimos preserve many of the customs of the central Eskimos, who still inhabit the ancestral home of the race about Hudson bay. He found that they are more closely related to the central Eskimos than are any of the other tribes of the entire Greenland coast, and that only recently have they been affected by contrast with the Greenland west coast culture. —Scientific American.

WAR ON DISEASE WORLD WAR

Health Problems of the Remotest Land is the Concern of All Peoples. The war against disease is a world war. Commerce carries dangerous infections, as well as goods and ideas. The health problems of the remotest land concern all peoples. More and more, nations are coming to recognize their interdependence in health as in industry, government, science, and culture. There are even now foreshadowings of world-wide co-operation in combating the maladies which have long threatened humanity. For this new campaign leaders are needed to extend the frontiers of medical science, to teach, to organize, to administer. Demonstrations are required to convince communities and nations that diseases can be controlled and even eradicated. The Rockefeller Foundation, enlisted for this world-wide campaign against disease, is co-operating with many agencies in five continents. It is fostering the growth of international confidence and good will, and is seeking the fulfillment of its chartered purpose—"to promote the well-being of mankind throughout the world."

Fuel Oil for Railroads.

The great scarcity of coal has caused the Paris, Lyons, and Mediterranean Railway company to transform some of its motive power from coal to fuel oil consumption, which is about to be followed by the Chemin de Fer de l'Etat, or state-owned railway, and engines at its shops at Salntes are now undergoing changes for experimental purposes. Much attention is being directed to the announcement that the first named railway company is planning to equip 200 locomotives for fuel oil and install numerous storage reservoirs of from 40 to 100 tons capacity at various points on its lines. —Scientific American.

Census Involves Much Work.

The 110,000,000 cards needed to record the population of the United States in the new census made a stack more than ten miles high. Without machinery it would be almost impossible to manage a census nowadays. It took seven years to complete and publish the census of 1890, and nine years to complete the census of 1930. By means of electrical mechanism which punches something like 4,000,000 cards a day, the cards are now sorted and tabulated in weeks instead of years. The device also saves expense and eliminates error.

Forewarned.

A little girl was sent to fetch some milk from a neighbor. She took with her two cans. On arriving home she was crying and bespattered with mud. Mother saw at once that her darling had had a fall and asked if she had lost all the milk. "No, mother, not a drop." "And how did my clever little darling manage that?" mother asked. "I knew I was going to fall, mother, so I stood the cans down." —Answers, London.

Back to Normalcy.

The times have been so out of joint That folks have talked till hoarse Endeavoring to score a point, Which was the proper course. But millions having cast their vote And said what things shall be, Let's cut out all discordant notes— Get back to Normal C.

The Ship of State (and commerce too) Has had a voyage rough. But now its up to you—and you— To cut the fancy staff. And pour the oil of fairness o'er The billows rolling free. To make it smooth from shore to shore— Get back to normal sea.

If everyone will lend a hand, To do the work in sight, A change will come upon the land And almost over night. We'll make our politics and trade, Just what we'd have them be. And by the efforts we have made, Get back to normal, see?

Farm Products Drop 19 Per Cent in Oct.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Prices paid farmers for principal crops at the farm dropped 19 percent during October, the agricultural department announced today.

Discouraged by these falling in prices, the farmers are carrying out their threats to curtail the production, according to other reports to the department, despite the fact that present prices averaged 148 percent higher than those of the pre-war period.

In Ohio sixty thousand farm workers quit farm labor during the 12 month period just ended, according to a survey which has been forwarded to the agricultural department. This survey, which was made by the Ohio state agricultural department, showed that there are 29,000 vacant farm houses in Ohio, compared with 18,000 of a year ago.

From Iowa, Illinois and other agricultural states similar reports are being received showing that farmers discouraged by prices they believe are lower than production costs are slowing up their labors.
