

Where's Your Bread Buttered?

WHAT makes your community a prosperous one? You don't need to do a "Sherlock Holmes" to figure out that the industries of a state or community are the sturdy oaks around which the vine of prosperity twines. And that the successful development of an industry depends upon the quality of the product and a market.

Oregon manufacturers are putting the quality into their products; you can help extend their market by asking for "Oregon Made" when you buy. And incidentally put more butter on your own bread.

HER DAUGHTER AND HIS SON.

BY IDAH MCGLONE GIBSON

Grace Explains.
When I entered the bedroom, I found Grace lying with her face turned toward the wall. With a woman's intuition I knew it was because she did not want me to see how well she looked.
"Oh, Ann, isn't it awful?" she exclaimed.
"What, your marriage?" I asked deliberately.
At this she bounced over and faced me indignantly.
"Ann Whitson, you always were beastly at the wrong time. You know I was not talking about my marriage. What I was trying to say was how perfectly terrible it would be for me to be such a young widow. I hate black, and crepe always gives me a shiver. And yet," she paused, as though toying with the thought, "I imagine it would be rather becoming." And then to verify her words, Grace picked up a nearby hand mirror and surveyed her blond beauty with complacency.
"Sorry to disappoint you, Grace, but from last reports Ken is going to live."
"How can you be so unfeeling, Ann? You know that my heart would be broken if anything happened to my poor, dear husband. Oh, I wish I were able to go to him this minute."
"That is what I came for, Grace. Mr. Halsey sent me to tell you that he will let you know when Ken is able to see you. At present he is allowed no visitors."
"Not even his wife? Have you seen him? Did he inquire for me?"
"So far as I know, Grace, Ken has not mentioned you at all," unable to control myself.
"Has he regained consciousness?" she asked eagerly.
"Yes," I answered.
"What does he talk about? Were you there?"
"No, I wasn't there, but Mr. Halsey told me that Ken recalled the events of last night perfectly up to the time Jimmie Callahan and I left the restaurant and Ken returned to our party. From that point on Ken remembers nothing."
"Well, I like that," said Grace. "Do you mean to tell me that Ken does not remember that he insisted upon our being married? Doesn't he remember how I opposed him with every ounce of my will, and yielded only when I was mentally exhausted? Doesn't he remember how he found a justice of the peace and we were married? Surely Ken recalls these things."
"Then Ken insisted that we should celebrate. It was very late and almost every place was closed, but finally on one of the side streets we found a queer kind of a cafe which was open and Ken insisted upon ordering something to drink. At first they would not sell it, but Ken offered them a hundred dollars for a bottle and they brought us something they called whisky, and ginger ale for mixing highballs. I, of course, would not drink and tried to persuade Ken not to, but he insisted that he would be married but once and meant to celebrate. He drank more than the rest of our party and soon after he dropped to the floor unconscious. I was frightened, but thought he was just overreached by too much liquor. I had no idea anything was seriously wrong. Then a man who tried to lift him from the floor said: 'Why, I believe he's dead!' About that time all the rest of the party except myself became more or less ill and the proprietor insisted that we leave immediately. It was then that I suggested that we take Ken to the hospital. Up to that time no one had seemed to know what to do. You probably know the rest." I sat there and looked at Grace Cameron Halsey almost in awe as I heard her recount, with such unfeeling minuteness, the experiences of the night before.
"Grace," I asked, "are you a woman with no heart? Don't you love Ken at all?"

Another Royal Suggestion GRIDDLE CAKES and WAFFLES

From the NEW ROYAL COOK BOOK

THERE is an art in making flapjack pancakes, griddle cakes or waffles, call them what you will. But it is an art very easily and quickly acquired if you follow the right recipes.

Here are some recipes for a variety of breakfast cakes that will make grandmother envious. The secret, of course, is Royal Baking Powder.

Royal Hot Griddle Cakes

2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons shortening
Mix and sift dry ingredients; add milk and melted shortening; beat well. Bake on slightly greased hot griddle.

Griddle Cakes with Eggs

1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1/2 cup milk
2 eggs
2 tablespoons shortening
Mix and sift dry ingredients; add beaten eggs, milk and melted shortening; mix well. Bake immediately on hot griddle.

Buckwheat Cakes

2 cups buckwheat flour
1 cup flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1/2 cup milk or milk and water
1 tablespoon molasses
2 tablespoons shortening
Sift together flours, baking powder and salt; add liquid, molasses and melted shortening; beat three minutes. Bake on hot greased griddle.

Waffles

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1/2 cup milk
2 eggs
2 tablespoons melted shortening
Sift flour, baking powder and salt together; add milk to yolks of eggs; mix thoroughly and add to dry ingredients; add melted shortening and mix in beaten whites of eggs. Bake in well greased hot waffle iron until brown. Serve hot with maple syrup. It should take about 1 1/2 minutes to bake each waffle.

LAYING BLOOD TELLS

"Blood will tell" is the heading under which Professor of Poultry Husbandry, James Dryden, O. A. C., describes the success of a Pacific coast millionaire and an expert poultryman in running one of the biggest flocks in the world. The Country Gentleman for October 23. The investment in the business is $63,000. Eggs from one of the breeding pens sell at $2 each. The illustration shows a day's egg production, 5,895 eggs from 9,322 hens. The breeding stock was from 7th record, trap-nested hens with a pedigree behind them, and the author calls this use of them as putting heredity to work." Prof. Dryden has written a number of special poultry articles for the Country Gentleman and is preparing still others for publication.

KANTLEEK

It Can't Leak, Because It's Made in One Piece

A KANTLEEK is built like a bottle—all in one piece. Most hot-water bottles are made in sections, then cemented together. When cement dries and cracks, the bottle leaks.

Every Kantleek Hot-Water Bag is moulded of pure soft rubber—one continuous piece. No parts, patches, cement. Even stopper socket is moulded in.

And guaranteed for a full two years' service—or a new Kantleek free.

Don't wait until your old bag leaks. Get a Kantleek. Your old one may break open tonight.
