SHOW NAMED FOR A VALLEY.

Quite a Few of Those Who Use the Word "Vaudeville" Are Ignorant of Its Origin.

The Fairest Lady turned to her escort at the variety show the other night during the intermission and asked him where the word "vaudeville" came from anyway.

"Movies" is simple, she said. Anyone can trace the origin of the word coined by Young America and now generally used. The British "cinema" applied to cinematograph pictures is also easily traced.

It wasn't until next day that the escort, who had pretended not to hear the Fairest Lady's question about vaudeville, got a chance to look it up. Then he found that the word came from the French "Val de Vise"—a valley in Normandy where originated many humorous and satirical drinking songs that became popular all over France—known by the name of the place of their origin. Eventually the word became corrupted to "vaudeville" and was applied to a certain kind of popular song. Its application was limited to such songs until the end of the Eighteenth century, when it began to refer also to an entertainment that included singing and dialogue as well as dancing and variety acting.

Failure Is the Final Test.

Real winners in life never show the white feather. They are like the drummer boy in our Civil war, who, when his regiment was being mowed down still kept pushing ahead, beating an advance. When ordered to beat a retreat, the boy replied that he had never learned how—he had only been taught to beat an advance.

The finest type of manhood is never overwhelmed or entirely dismayed no matter what comes. If a man of this kind loses property, if his ambition is thwarted and his plans demolished his spirit remains undaunted, his courage, his resistance and his self-confidence are undiminished, and he can start again. Many a man has been made by his failures, because he used them as a stepping stone for his advance.

Failure is the final test of persistence and an iron will; it either crushes a life or solidifies it.—Orison Swett Marden in the New Success Magazine.

Quaint New England Expressions.

There are many quaint expressions peculiar to New England, some of which are heard only in Rhode Island or in places where their use has been perpetuated by former residents of this locality. "Won't you take off your things?" is a common invitation to the caller in this state, though in some parts of the country it would be unusual. When a housewife changes her gloves, she moves her "things," and when going on a journey, she packs her "things" in a grip.

In the south country it frequently rains "pitchforks" and sometimes "cats and dogs." The most intensive expressions of the native, however, are that it is "raining like all Sam Hill" or like "all possessed."—Boston Globe.

DOES THE FARMER WANT OR NEED A FARM BUREAU?

If he does then get into the harness, each and every farmer and his wife, and give it your abject support. Get busy and show the non-farm bureau member wherein he can be benefited by being an active member. The time is ripe for the Douglas county farmers to hitch up to an organization that is non-political, eminently positive and constructive. An organization, "not to voice the morbid moanings of the unsuccessful, but to enlist the best brains and the most progressive purposes of the highest type of the American farmers." It is an instrument for securing for the farmer a just return for his honest labor. This is well illustrated by the recently formed turkey pool. If the farmers had not been informed as to the price they should have received for their turkeys and a pool formed, they never would have realized, in dollars and cents, the money they were losing. But, as a result, those who consigned their birds to the pool, realized practically fourteen cents a pound more than the initial price offered by foreign buyers. As a result of the formation of the pool, the buyers were forced to come up with their price. The price for birds shipped on consignment was 62 cents per pound gross and 54 cents per pound net.

Not only did Farm Bureau members benefit by the effects in price as a result of this pool, but every turkey raiser in the county was benefited indirectly. This pool caused the buyers to raise their price to 48 cents at the eleventh hour. This price was eight cents more per pound than turkey raisers would have received, had not the pool been formed. The savings to the turkey growers of the county as a result of this action, have been estimated to exceed $3,000.

Never in the history of the county, has there been greater need for the farmers to band themselves together and make a first and united stand for themselves. The Farm Bureau will lend its strength to organizations already formed, and will stimulate the development of a marketing system for farm products on a safe and sound basis.

Success or failure is in store for the Farm Bureau, as the men and women of the farms join or refuse to join. Its success is a matter of individual responsibility on the part of those men and women on the farms. Don't forget the Farm Bureau needs the individual "punch" of all farmers to accomplish its aim. Why maintain such a county organization if they are not going to get behind and push? Make the membership campaign 100 percent strong. Is there any reason why Douglas county should not stand highest in membership?

It's the biggest county event of the Cascades and should have a membership to correspond. Come on, Everybody boost the Farm Bureau. H. E. HASLETT, County Agent.

GLENDALE NEWS.

The Royal Hawaiians played to a crowded house on Wednesday. They are musicians of unquestioned merit and their native attire was spectacular and viewed for the first time by many in the large audience. As humorists they did not impress anyone, perhaps because we are not accustomed to their sense of humor. The "Great Shirley Concert company" is billed for the 10th in our city under the auspices of Olivet Ladies Aid society. No doubt it will be a real musical treat, and we expect a liberal patronage.

Mrs. John Gilliam, a pioneer of Douglas county, is critically ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. Joe Brown, in this city. Her husband and children are with her, and we hope to be able to note her recovery soon.

R. A. Barnes, of Portland, arrived today for a short visit with his son, Bobbie, and other relatives. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Partin are moving to West Fork. Mr. Partin, who is a truck walker, can cover his division better from that station, yet we regret to lose them from our city. They are very desirable citizens.

Mrs. Armand Gibson, the mother of C. W. Partin, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnson until the Partins are settled in their new home.

Ed Garrett, of Grants Pass, was greeting his host of friends in this city and valley this week. Mr. Garrett reports all well at home, and Grants Pass booming.

Glendale will come under a new regime of city officers next Monday, and we feel sure our town will continue to prosper. We certainly have been greatly benefited under our retiring officials, who have left us very much better off at least financially, and we are sure a continuation of wise policies that are in evidence will be steadily carried out.

Albert Snyder, our retiring mayor, young in years and the official head of the Glendale Lumber Co., has made a very diligent and successful mayor. Also our recorder and council have all made fine records. We are pleased that our city will enforce the curfew law, and Chief Alphonse is determined to exact implicit obedience to the same, in which we all will do our part to aid our officers.

The editor of the Glendale News sees very bright in regard to hoodlumism and lawlessness. His advice to parents and guardians is very timely and fully appreciated. Our public schools are making their usual most excellent record under a splendid faculty. Yet there is great need for a truant officer to be present on the playgrounds and to duty all the time. X. REAL TURK NOT MONEY MAD

Recognizes There Are Higher Things in Life Than Practicing Buying and Selling.

The real Turk, unlike the so-called mongrel Turk, does not have to impress his sense of superiority on others. And, although the latter is at ways eager to do business with you according to Mr. Herbert Gibbons in Asia, the real Turk is often quite in different.

Some real Anatolian Turks are merchants and sit in the bazaars. But they will not go out of their way to make a sale, and they really do not care whether you buy or not. Often they ignore strangers; sometimes they rebuff them. When you meet with this type in the bazaars where all the Jews and Gentiles are hard after your money, it is like a dash of cold water in your face.

Once in a little open shop I saw a rug that attracted me. I started to enter, but the crunched figure on the mat put out a long-fingered left hand, grasped firmly my ankle, and removed my foot outside the threshold. I thought there must be some superstition about which foot went first; so I tried the other. The same left hand proved again its strength. All the while the merchant did not speak or look up. His right hand was stringing beads, and he was smoking a nargile.

He simply did not want to bother with me, and my shoe told him that I was a foreigner (European). Later I got to know that old bird, and we laughed over stories together. But he never asked me to buy anything, and I did not want to risk his friendship by making a second try for the rug. There are more important things in life than buying and selling.

"SQUEEZE" POPULAR IN CHINA

What the Western World Calls "Graft" Is Practiced by All Classes in That Country.

One trait firmly imbedded in the Chinese character which the foreign business man and the housewife both have to contend with is the weakness for "squeeze." It is said by foreigners that the Chinese merchant, coolie, politician, fisherman, chauffeur and beggar would rather make $1 by "squeeze" than $10 by the same amount of brain work or manual labor.

Squeeze is Chinese for graft. It is a word in that international Far Eastern tongue known as pidgin-English. But squeeze is something more than graft. Its political phase might be termed graft, and that form of squeeze is what makes the military governors of the provinces and the politicians of Peking and Canton so fat. Most Chinese politicians would have been acceptable in the eyes of Julius Caesar, and squeeze is the reason for some of the competence in China.

Squeeze is the Chinese translation of "as much as the traffic will bear." It is a factor in Chinese business, as much as supply and demand, or profit and loss.

Tapestry in History.

During the Italian Renaissance the art developed in subtle treatment of color and shading, and Flemish tapestry reached its height of artistic perfection in the magnificent pieces from cartoons by Raphael and other Italian masters. Royalty supported the industry at this period. Incidents of history were woven into design with threads of gold and silver, and even jewels. Others were mellowed by soft colorings of wool, with their rich lights supplied by alien threads. The dyes, often as costly as the gold and silver, have held their colors for centuries, and it has been beyond the modern chemist to solve their alchemy. No such colors can be produced today, nor none that are so un fading. When tapestry making was in Brussels, France developed the art, and under Henry IV and Louis XIV the Gobelines were famed for their perfection of workmanship and color.

An Apple a Day.

"They tell us," said Mr. Billtons, "that an apple a day keeps the doctor away, and I guess that is so; I am sure that an apple a night promotes sound and restful slumber." "We keep our apples in the icebox. The last thing that Mrs. Billtons, ever-thoughtful Mrs. Billtons, does in making her rounds before retiring for the night is to get an apple out of the icebox and place it, with a fruit knife, on the dining-room table for me. "Nightly the last thing I do before going to bed is to go out into the dining room, get myself comfortably, and eat that apple; leisurely. I find it cool and refreshing; in every way agreeable; and having eaten it I turn in and sleep delightfully." "An apple a day keeps the doctor away. An apple at night makes you sleep right."

Exclusive Organization.

Though legendarily reputed to be more than 1,000 years old, the Order of the Thistle was founded by James II in 1687. After the revolution, says the London Star, it fell into desuetude, but was revived by Queen Anne in 1707. The chapel of the order, in St. Giles' cathedral, where the king attended service on Sunday, was not commenced until 1690.

The Thistle is one of the most exclusive orders. Its only members being the king and 16 knights. The motto of the order is: "Wha daur meddle with me."
