New "Gold Brick" Game Tried Out

Ample evidence that the old-time "gold brick" bunk game has been considerably dimmed of late years is given in the following item taken from the Los Angeles Daily Times: The gold brick has long been the favorite article for sale by bunko artists throughout the country, but yesterday the youngest confidence "man" known to be operating here was brought to the attention of the police when it was learned that he had sold two of the common or garden variety of bricks for $19.32, and these samples of Irish confetti were not clothed in the ordinary tin foil that first-class bunko bricks assume. Yesterday Mrs. A. L. Adams of 412 West Fourth street was called on the phone and asked if she would pay for a C. O. package addressed to one of her boarders. She said she would. Later a boy about 13 years of age appeared with a package and said there was a charge of $19.32. Mrs. Adams paid it. When the boarder returned she called his attention to it. He looked surprised and opened the package, whereupon he looked pained. The package contained two second-hand bricks.

Senator Harding Speaks B. P. O. E.

BEDFORD, Va., Dec. 5.—Speaking not as the next president of the United States, but as an Elk holding membership in the Marion, Ohio, lodge No. 22, Warren G. Harding delivered the memorial address here yesterday at the annual exercises at the National Elks' home, President-elect Harding was invited here last spring by Henry Stowe, a resident of the home. The senator, who then promised Mr. Stone he would come, was reminded of the promise after his nomination last June and replied to Mr. Stone as follows: "No matter what happens in the election in November, my promise holds good to speak to the Brother Elks at the Home on next Memorial Day."

Two High Schools Be Standardized

Walter M. Smith, first assistant to the state superintendent of education, arrived in Roseburg last night and accompanied by County Superintendent O. C. Brown, left this morning for Days Creek to standardize the union high school there. The school has complied with the standard requirements in the way of equipment and is now ready to be officially recognized as a standard school. After standardizing the Days Creek school Mr. Smith will go to Reedsport for the same purpose.

ORANG FEARED THE CAMERA

Photographer's Presence of Mind Probably Saved Him From Death or Fearful Injury. As a rule orangutangs, the fiercest of the apes, are caught young and tamed before they are shipped to Europe and the United States. One of these animals that arrived in London came with the best of characters. He was considered a very tame, steady-going creature, and an expert was engaged to photograph him. The man entered the orang's cage as he had entered many others. He had not exposed many plates before he saw that the animal was intent on mischief. He was a very powerful beast, and the man would have stood no chance at all if the orang had attacked him. The man's only chance was to use the camera as a weapon. Making a sign to the keeper to keep silent, the photographer pointed his hand camera at the orang and with slow and steady step approached him. The keeper was outside the door ready to open it; but neither of them uttered a sound. The photographer was relieved to see the orang gradually retreat and at the same time to be able to rise from the crouched and menacing position he had taken. Once the creature was on the move the man knew he had a chance. He succeeded in working the camera around to the corner furthest from the door, which the keeper had silently and slowly opened. Still pointing his camera at the beast the man very slowly backed out of the cage, the door was slammed to and he was safe.

COMPLETE WORK OF TODAY

Unfinished Tasks Simply Mean That One Has Placed a Mortgage on His Tomorrow. Leave today's work undone and your mortgage tomorrow. And tomorrow may bring the big opportunity you have been looking for so long. Try to keep tomorrow for yourself. Try to keep it free. Don't load it up with work that should be done when you leave your desk tonight. You never know what it may bring. You never know what chances there may be tomorrow—if you have it clear—to show somebody who can pay a big salary what you can do. Your days are important, every one of them. Each has its own work that must be done. Start every day with a clean sheet. Say: "This is the work that is to be done today—that must be done today." Then do that work, and do not leave any of it hanging over into the next day. Once fall behind in your work and your tomorrow will soon be mortgaged for a long way ahead. That means wage slavery. It means lack of a chance to seize opportunity—or to make opportunity.

Look forward to your tomorrows as days of achievement—days in which to plan and do new tasks—not to finish old ones. You will be glad to see them then. You will be glad of the fresh eight hours that can be employed in something that is valuable and interesting. —John Blake, in Chicago Daily News.

Burro Saw the Point. One who knows says that some people claim that animals can't reason, but if they were around burros awhile like he was when he ran a burro train up in Colorado they'd change their minds. One of the burros fell down in crossing a stream and he was loaded with sugar, and it took about fifteen minutes to get him on his feet and his load didn't weigh more than half as much when they started out again. For months afterward that critter always contrived to fall down when crossing a stream of water. It didn't lighten his load any, for the driver never trusted him with sugar any more, but he still had hopes until they happened to load him with sponges one day. That cured him. — Los Angeles Times.

Arab Puts Comfort First. The beautiful villas that remain in Algeria are Moorish villas, for the Arab does not care for things artistic and comfortable that other races of the earth demand. If he were given a house he would first remove the doors and burn them; he would next drive a hook into the facade to hitch his mule to, and then he would abandon the chimney-place inside the house and build his fire in the middle of the room, defiling all the walls with smoke. His personal ideas of comfort come first. The Algerians are not like the French. They are different in manners, customs, habits and morals, says Charles Divin in the Century. Even the Arab remarks it, and calls all people who come from France "Parlatan Romans."

Novel Idea of Aviation. A certain Francis Lana, some two centuries ago, worked out to his own satisfaction that a vessel, with its air supply exhausted would sustain itself suspended in the atmosphere. He produced such a vessel but there is no evidence to show that his scheme was ever attempted as an air-machine. Now women and children can fly through the air, and that so simply that the children make pictures of their flight, and think no more of it than they do of going by train, or by boat.

Telephone Financing

Our business in Oregon is financially unsatisfactory. Our revenues must be increased. Present service cannot be maintained at a desired standard, nor can our system be expanded to meet new requirements unless new capital is secured. Many people may not understand that in the operations of a public utility its extensions and permanent improvements are not provided for in the rates for service charged, but they are paid for by "new" money—money invested in the business by those who have surplus funds. The large sums necessary must come from the people who buy stocks and bonds and who have confidence in the soundness, maintenance and earning power of the investment behind their securities. For this money the market rate of interest must be paid—high at the present time when nations, cities and corporations of unquestioned financial responsibility are seeking capital. The United States is paying 6% for money. Sound trust mortgages are offered at 7%. Good industrial stocks at 8% and higher. The people of the State of Oregon last month by a vote of 5 to 1 defeated a proposition to limit interest in this state to 4% and 5%. They realized that nothing but business disaster and commercial paralysis would follow the adoption of such a measure. Who would loan money in Oregon at 4% and 5% when other investments, just as sound, were available at 6%, 7%, 8% and higher? The property of this company in the State of Oregon today is not earning 1% upon each dollar invested. With such a showing on present investment, how can we expect additional investment? We have asked the Public Service Commission to consider our situation. The facts and figures will be placed before this official body with their own special facilities for investigation and verification. We are asking simply to be placed in a position where we can give good service, make extensions, provide a proper reserve, pay interest on our obligations and a reasonable return to the owners of our property.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company

Southern Pacific To Show Movies

The Southern Pacific this month joins the ranks of the motion picture producers, and will present for the consideration of its employees seven thousand feet of film depicting graphically the Story of Oil. It took five months to complete this picture, which in seven reels presents, from production to consumption, the inside story of "Liquid Gold." There is a message to be learned by all who see this film. The fuel oil industry faces a crisis; those who depend upon the industry must take measures if they would stave off disaster. The picture shows what these measures are. Consumption of fuel oil now exceeds production by 30,000 barrels a day. Reserve stocks in California are being depleted by 1,000,000 barrels a month. At the end of this year approximately ten million vehicles will be using by-products of crude oil for fuel. The Southern Pacific is now burning 60,000,000 gallons per month, or about 16 per cent of all oil produced in California and production is falling. Watch for the pictures; they will be shown at all terminals and at principal points on the system.

Memorial Services Very Impressive

The memorial services of the B. P. O. Elks held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the lodge rooms were well attended and the program was extremely impressive. The services were opened by the Elk's orator absent brothers who have passed the members of the order marched to their seats led by the lodge officers. Following this Exalted Ruler Liberator and the officers performed the opening exercises consisting of ritualistic work. The roll call of the absent brothers who have passed away during the current year was given by the secretary, followed by the invocation by Rev. Warrington, Brother Jas. Sawyers delivered the eulogy which was one of the best heard in many years. The Elks' orchestra played a beautiful selection and Lyman Spencer, accompanied by the piano by Mrs. C. S. Heinline, rendered two baritone solos. Mr. Spencer has a wonderful voice and his efforts were greatly appreciated. Brother O. P. Coshov delivered the memorial address which was most excellent and served as a wonderful lesson to those heard him.
