SATURDAY TO BE TURKEY DAY

Early Indications Show Unusual Aspects in Xmas Turkey Market.

POOL IS A FACTOR

Just What Effect the Pool Being Made by the County Agent Will Have on the Buying Price is As Yet Uncertain.

Activity in the Christmas turkey market has started and from early indications there will be some very interesting events during the buying season. Saturday will be "turkey day" instead of Friday as the buyers do not want the birds killed so early in the week, as Christmas is on Saturday this year. It is expected that there will be a very large number of birds for the Christmas market as many of the turkey raisers held their best fowls off to the Thanksgiving market. In spite of this fact, however, it is not believed that the number of turkeys placed on sale, will reach the normal, as the year has been very unfavorable for the raising of these birds.

The market conditions are very unusual, and several uncertain factors will enter into the buying this year. The pool being formed by the County Agent is an unknown quantity and just what effect it will have on the market, cannot be forecasted. Mr. Haslett states that he has lined up over 2,000 birds for this pool in the event he is able to hold this number when buying starts, there is no doubt but that the pool will control the market.

Just what plan will be followed in disposing of the pool birds cannot be stated as this will depend altogether on the price offered by the buyers. It is very probable that the pool will be held until the price offered is satisfactory when the growers will dispose of their fowls to the various buyers. In the event the price does not go high enough to suit the turkey raisers, the birds composing the pool will be consigned by the growers to some firm or else placed on sale at auction.

It is very probable that the pool will have a material effect in boosting the price of the Christmas bird. At Thanksgiving time, the dealers bought in Roseburg at 4 1/2 cents. These same birds were sold over the block at from 60 to 72 cents per pound. Turkey raisers claim that this is an excessive percentage of profit and hold that if the birds are to be retailed at such a sum that the profit should go to the grower who has given time and money to the raising and care of the fowls.

An attempt was made at Thanksgiving time to pool the turkeys offered at that time, and in fact the pool then did result quite satisfactorily. County Agent Haslett, consigned a shipment of 66 turkeys to a poultry house, and announced the net price to the grower as 54 cents per pound. Consequently if a good price is not realized, it is very probable that more birds will be consigned this year.

Coal Industry Sharply Criticized

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Sharp criticism of the coal industry accompanied a partial report of the senate committee on production and reconstruction, submitted to the senate. The report asked the power to continue the investigation and suggested government activities to bring about a co-operation under regulation in building construction. Senator Kenyon said if the present methods of producing and distributing coal are to go on, he "for one, harsh as the remedy may be, shall favor taking over the mines." The report urged the department of justice to prosecute the strongholds among labor leaders and employers who have combined to force unjustly high costs of building.

PLANS MADE FOR FUTURE MONTHS

Chamber of Commerce Meets and Elects Officers and Attends Other Business.

TO WORK FOR BRIDGE

Committee Appointed to Work With American Legion Men in Securing Road and Bridge at Rock Creek for Homesteaders.

A very important meeting of the directors of the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce was held at the office of the secretary yesterday evening. The directors met and re-elected the officers who have served during the last term, George Neuner being elected president, Irvin Brunns vice-president, A. C. Marsters treasurer, and C. S. Hatline secretary. These officers have done excellent service during the past few months and will persist in their efforts to place Roseburg in the class with other cities boasting live and active chambers of commerce. The directors are George Neuner, Jr., A. C. Marsters, J. W. Hamilton, J. E. McClintock, C. A. Lockwood and F. H. Churchill.

The directors considered the Rock creek bridge and road matter and appointed a committee composed of A. C. Marsters, George Neuner and J. E. McClintock to meet with a similar committee appointed by Umpqua Post of the American Legion to formulate plans and to meet with the county court at its next meeting and request the court to prepare plans for the bridge and to order the road from Rock creek to the forest boundary opened for the benefit of the homesteaders and settlers in that district as well as to open up a rich section of the county. The residents of that community have agreed that if the court will prepare the plans that they will get out the needed timbers during the winter months and will cut them into shape ready for use, and will donate labor for the purpose of building the bridge and the road, saving the county over fifty per cent of the cost.

The directors also decided to send delegates to the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce meeting which will be held in Portland on December 28 and 29. This delegation will endeavor to secure recognition for Douglas county.

It is the plan of the organization to hold a public meeting at the armory on January 11. A banquet will be prepared by the domestic science department of the high school and served at 11 per plate. Outside speakers will be present and an orchestra will be secured for the occasion and plenty of entertainment will be provided. The committee in charge of this affair is Irvin Brunns, J. E. McClintock and C. A. Lockwood.

New Store Room Occupied Today

With completion of the I. O. O. F. building and occupancy of the ground floor by the Peoples Supply company, one of the finest store rooms in southern Oregon is opened up this morning. The entire first floor is to be devoted to groceries and general merchandise, and a force of clerks are busy today arranging the counters and stock. The whole Jackson street front will be used in displaying merchandise, and the big plate glass windows, wide and deep, give the establishment a real metropolitan appearance. The Peoples Supply company have long anticipated this fine new room, and all through the fall and winter have been badly handicapped in the cramped, temporary quarters adjoining the Odd Fellows building. The firm has grown from a small beginning to its present proportions, which bespeaks for the management fair dealing with the public, and Roseburg and Douglas county are to be congratulated on having such an establishment here.

CLASS ENTERTAINED.

Initial Dance Is Enjoyable Affair

The L. F. T. Club gave its initial dance at the armory last night, and which was a social success in every way. From the comments of the large number of members present last night's event was the season's social feature and each succeeding entertainment promises to excel even the gaiety of their opening party last night. Many surprises and entertaining features may be expected, judging from the hints given out by the management. The meaning of the letters L. F. T. is shrouded in mystery, no one knows the real name of the club except the president, and he won't tell until their next dance. Prizes will be given to those members who can guess the right name. The popular "Jazz-O-Four" Orchestra outdid themselves at this event, their new up-to-date music made a great hit.

ROAD MEETING TO BE AT REEDSPORT

Chamber of Commerce and County Court Will Send Delegates.

PROJECT IS IMPORTANT

Interest Throughout Entire County Regarding Proposed Coast Highway is Very Keen—Court Urged to Rush Work.

With a view of promoting and aiding the construction of the Drain, Elkton, Scottsburg, Reedport-Coos Bay highway, the local Chamber of Commerce and the county court of Douglas county will be represented at a meeting to be held at Reedport next month with the Chamber of Commerce representing that thriving city. The county court will be requested to name the date most suitable for the attendance of its delegates and whatever date is set will be acceptable to the two chambers of commerce co-operating in this great project.

It was the plan of the Reedport Chamber of Commerce to hold a meeting to consider this matter on November 30, and invitations were issued to the local Chamber of Commerce and the county court. But on account of the inability of the members of the court to attend, owing to the regular monthly meeting of that body falling on the following day, the meeting was indefinitely postponed.

It is now planned to hold the meeting during the month of January and the Reedport body has requested the county court and the local Chamber of Commerce to set the date, asking that it be some time during the month of January.

At a meeting of the directors of the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce last night it was unanimously decided that the local organization will be represented at the meeting, and the county court will be urged to accept the invitation of Reedport to attend in a body or else be well represented by delegates.

The conference will be held with a view towards the ultimate construction of the highway, which project is favored by practically all people of both Douglas and Coos counties. It is a project which the various chambers of commerce of cities and towns concerned should emphatically urge.

Considerable money is now available for this road, the money being in the bond fund, which money can be matched with state and federal funds.

The Reedport Chamber of Commerce is very anxious to hold a good sized meeting, with representatives from the cities and towns interested in the development of the coast highway, and Reedport has been selected as the meeting place because of its central location.

This project is one which means a good deal to the entire county and next to the Pacific highway is the most important road project in the county. Sentiment is strongly in favor of the construction and the county court will be urged to do all within its power to push the completion of this most important road.
