Anyone wishing to subscribe or renew subscriptions to magazines will please do so through the Glide high school. The high school gets a certain per cent, and they are working for a Victoria.

Fifteen pupils attend the high school at present. It is hoped that more will start at the beginning of the second semester.

The regular Grange meeting was held Saturday night. Sunday school attendance last Sunday was twenty-five. Everyone is urged to attend.

Sunday afternoon a party of high school students and others started on a hiking trip, headed for the caves. The crowd stopped at Lilly's. An invitation to dinner awaited, and Mr. Lilly favored with violin selections. The music was interrupted when a society belle came to call. Miss Johnson was beautifully attired and proved to be very entertaining. All were numerically lined up before a kodak and waited while Miss Taylor slowly counted seventeen for a time exposure. Miss Johnson gracefully posed before the kodak and silence prevailed.

Glide is lovely, surrounded by snow-covered mountains. Mr. Scott proves to hold its own. It stands superbly outlined with its mantle of white, and all Glide gazes with admiring eyes.

Glide is on her way to a better city, with friendly neighbors and prosperity.

There's a feeling deep in my heart For Glide and its settlers; A feeling a king would cherish, For friends never part.

There's a friendly way about them, And their loving kind and true, Surely their smiling faces tell us, Nothing but God's flowers they strew.

Here's to Glide and its surroundings, Here's to Glide, here's to you, Here's to the city of friends, May God bless them too.

GLIDE NEWS.

Mrs. Roy Bond arrived at Glide Wednesday from a visit at Junction City. They remain at Glide until the last of the year. Their future home will be in Junction City. An interesting party took place at the Casebeer home Wednesday evening. Music helped to furnish entertainment for the evening, while another surprise lay in wait. A high school boy appeared dressed as a girl. For a while the entire party was surprised and amazed. On New Year's eve a party will be given at the Glide high school. All are invited to bide the old year farewell and to welcome the new year. The Glide high school has organized a student body. The officers are Vern Shrum, president; Florence Casebeer, vice-president; Ona Vaughn, secretary and treasurer; George Casebeer, sergeant-at-arms; James Vaughn, parliamentarian.

Fisher's ROLLED OATS

Electrically toasted

Once you know Fisher's Rolled Oats you want to try Fisher's Blood Flour, for every purpose, Fisher's Pancake Flour, just add water, it's ready, and Fisher's Branmed Wheat Berries. Your dealer will supply you gladly.

The right food gives your boy the right start—

How he does enjoy his big bowl of Fisher's Rolled Oats with plenty of rich milk and a sprinkling of sugar. You know he is going to be a happier, healthier boy for the good food he is eating.

Oats are most nourishing of the breakfast cereals and furnish in an easily digested form just the nourishment that he and all your family need for hard work and play.

Fisher's Rolled Oats do taste different. It's the plump, full grown western oats to begin with and the unique Fisher process develops the best of the rich oat flavor. Electrical toasting in our own ovens gives the rich golden color and the delicious toasted flavor.

Brennan Knocked Out by Dempsey

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, tonight knocked out Bill Brennan in the 12th round of a scheduled 15-round fight here tonight and thereby retained his title. Dempsey was leading on points up to the time of the knockout while the big fighter from Chicago had managed to win a shade in about one or two of the rounds.

The winner of the fight will meet Jess Willard, ex-heavy champion, according to contracts previously signed.

Movie Closeups

Frank L. Packard is the author of "From Now On", the big Fox production featuring George Walsh which shows for the last time at the Liberty Theatre tonight.

Mr. Packard is probably the foremost writer of stories for the screen today. He was the man who wrote "The Miracle Man". A specialist in tales dealing with the underworld, he brought all his knowledge of this phase of life to bear on writing "From Now On."

Of peculiar interest is the fact that not until this famous author had spent years in engineering work did his latent ability as a writing man burst forth. Born of American parents at Montreal, Canada, he was graduated with honors from McGill University and took a post graduate course in engineering at L'Institut Montefiore, University of Liege, Belgium, graduating in 1898. Not until 1906 did his desire to write finally result in contributions from his pen. Of his stories, those that have proved most popular are "The Miracle Man" and "From Now On."

George Walsh, the star who enacts the leading role in this Fox production, is noted as an athletic actor. The play is a succession of thrills from the moment the first scene is thrown upon the screen until the final fade-out.

Glowing reports of the success of "From Now On" have come to hand from other towns where the picture has been shown.

Ethel Clayton hands a great surprise to screen lovers at the end of her new Paramount-Arcraft picture, "More Deadly Than The Male", which opened at the Antlers Theatre last evening and will play for the last time tonight. Right up to the final fade-out, the pretty star has all the appearances of an adventuresome who, though possessing a husband, is using all her feminine charms to keep a wealthy clubman from going on an exciting trip to South Africa in order that she may win him for herself. To prove to her victim that thrilling adventures are not confined to exotic lands, she turns her mountain camp into a Zulu jungle, stages a duel between the man of her heart and her supposed husband, and sets the police on the former's trail with a trumped up charge. But it's mighty entertaining fun while it lasts, though a trifle grim until you learn that the "husband" is really the heroine's brother and that the deception was all that was needed to show the innocent victim that he loved his gay deceiver.

Miss Clayton is supported by a good cast headed by Edward Hoxen. The picture was directed by Robert G. Vignola and is a Paramount-Arcraft.

The picture at the Majestic Theatre this week feels the pulse of New York and finds it not alone the hive of temptation that it is often called, but also the haven for vaulting ambition in the arts and sciences. "On With The Dance" is the big city in all its seething phases. Against this background a dramatic love story has been worked out by the master hand of Ouida Bergere, certainly one of the foremost scenarists of the silver sheet.

Mae Murray and David Powell are the featured players. Miss Murray shows that she has not lost one whit of her skill in the dance, which first brought her into prominence in the Follies. But she also exhibits pleasing qualities as an emotional actress of surpassing ability. Mr. Powell is, as always, the suave gentleman and accomplished actor.

The story concerns the adventures of a little, pretty Russian girl, suddenly left an orphan amid the luxury of New York's smart set. Her encounters with men, good and bad, her temporary yielding to the lure of a "soft life", and her final redemption in the big crisis provide an absorbing plot that held the interest of last night's audience every moment.
