LAW MAY INCLUDE BRIDE.

SALEM, Or., Dec. 22.—Dr. Owens Adair, author of the Oregon sterilization law, which is operated under the supervision of the state board of eugenics, has sent word to Salem that she will pass most of January here conferring with the legislators with relation to the adoption of amendments making the act more general in its application. It is said here today that about 100 persons have undergone operations in compliance with the law, and that in most cases the mental and physical condition of the patient has been improved.

Dr. Adair also was responsible for the enactment of the law making it incumbent upon men contemplating marriage to undergo a physical examination. This act, according to reports received here, may be amended at the next session of the legislature to include women.

SLAYER OF WOMAN SOUGHT.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—Search for the slayer of Mrs. Fay Sudow, whose nude and mutilated body was found in a small grove near here more than a week ago, continued unabated today.

District Attorney Woolwine spent several hours yesterday questioning Edward S. McLaughlin, the "gray-haired man," who was also taken into custody after it had been learned that he and Mrs. Sudow had been much in company shortly before her death.

Further efforts are being made to identify "H. R. H.," the owner of a handkerchief bearing those initials and found with the clothing that had been stripped from Mrs. Sudow's body.

A will leaving the estate, valued at about $150,000, to Mrs. Sudow's only daughter, Lucille, was found yesterday. It named Bernard Sudow, her divorced husband, as executor.

LAMBS LIKED SHELTER

About 60 percent of the lambs fed in the shelter, via open lot tests at the Union branch experiment station stayed in the shed in the morning, 25 percent at noon at 20 percent in the evening of pleasant days. Practically all of them used it in stormy weather. The shed itself is simple and inexpensive, but offered considerable protection, especially from hard winds. Methods of feeding and results of shelter are fully explained in the station bulletin, Fattening Lambs. Copies free on request.

PINE BEETLE CONTROL IS VERY EXPENSIVE

Barking the tree will destroy the mountain pine beetle, but will get only a small percent of the western pine beetle that is so terribly destructive in Oregon timber. The larvae of the latter beetle are found in the inner bark, which must be burned to kill them. Quite generally great that it is not best to attempt it until it is shown that the value of the timber saved will justify the expense. Details of control are published in an O. A. C. bulletin entitled "The Western Pine Beetle."

3,500,000 CHILDREN FACING STARVATION

Vast Relief Effort Launched by Eight Leading American Organizations to Avert Tragedy.

The most spontaneous as well as the largest consolidation of effort in the history of American relief and charitable organizations has grown out of the disaster which threatens 3,500,000 European children this winter. To the headquarters of every agency that dispenses American mercy overseas has come one steady cry for months past; the children, most helpless and blameless sufferers in the track of war, will perish by the thousands before next harvest unless America saves them!

When Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the Central Committee of the American Red Cross, returned from a recent trip abroad, his report throbbed with the need of the children. From the feeding-stations of the American Relief Administration throughout eastern and central Europe came letters, cables, pleas of every sort. The Protestant churches sent investigators into after-war conditions and every report breathed the impending tragedy of starving and diseased children. Protestant, Catholic and Jewish, the child life of Europe is threatened with heartrending misery.

The European Relief Council, with Herbert Hoover as chairman and the whole power of American charitable thought and effort behind it, has been formed. It consists of Edgar Rickard, representing the American Relief Administration; Dr. Livingston Farrand, representing the American Red Cross; Felix Warburg, representing the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee; Wilbur K. Thomas, representing the American Friends' Service Committee; James A. Flaherty, representing the Knights of Columbus; Dr. C. V. Hibbard, representing the Young Men's Christian Association; Miss Sarah S. Lyon, representing the Young Women's Christian Association; Dr. Arthur Brown, representing the Federal Council of Churches.

It is the purpose of the Council to raise $33,000,000, in an appeal centering at the Christmas holidays, to the end that the situation regarding child life may be met. In every town and community of the nation, it is hoped, local committees, representing all the co-operating agencies will be formed to secure the vitally necessary funds. Of the amount sought, $25,000,000 will be used for basic food. For every one of these American dollars the local governments and communities aided will furnish two dollars, in the form of transportation, labor, guards, clerical help, cash contributions and such food supplies as are locally obtainable. No children receive the free food except after medical tests showing them to be seriously under-nourished. The remaining $10,000,000 of the fund is just as urgently needed for medical service to the children.

The European Relief Council will do much more than effect economies in the raising of the child-saving fund. It will, with the inspecting forces of eight great agencies, keep a constant eye on the administration of America's merciful gift, in order that there shall be no wastage and no tendency toward pauperization.

ABOUT THOSE ADVERTISED PHONOGRAPH PRICES.

M. M. Davies, of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., who was in town today, claims that we are misrepresenting prices on the Brunswick phonographs which we have on display and are advertising in the News-Review. I would like to say that I have never intentionally signed my name to a misrepresented statement, and never expect to. These are phonographs taken in as part payment on other makes of phonographs and were presented to us as having cost exactly as we advertised them to have cost. However, Mr. Davies and Liburn & Son Furniture Co. claim the $308 value was only a $200 machine and $58 worth of records, instead of a $250 machine, which we understood it to be. We will give $108 worth of records instead of $58 worth, and the price will remain the same as advertised, $190; original cost being $308 for machine and records.

They also claim the $285 value, advertised as a $200 machine, and $85 worth of records, is only a $150 machine. Therefore we will give with this machine $135 worth of used records, and the price will remain the same as advertised, machine and records for $150; original cost of machine and records, $285. These are exceptionally good buys, considering the fact that machines have raised considerable since these were bought.

Christmas Turkey Price Is Dropping

PORTLAND, Ore., December 23.—The Christmas turkey market became unsettled yesterday afternoon and there was a prospect that the first prices would not be maintained.

The supply was not heavy as in former years, and the high price was an obstacle in moving receipts. While there were plenty of retailers on the market, they were by no means keen to take on turkeys at the ruling quotations. Many of them declared their business had fallen off in recent weeks, and they were skeptical as to the chances of passing turkeys on to the consumer at 60 or 65 cents a pound, retail. Some of them declared they could see a sign of an unorganized boycott on the extreme prices of turkeys, while meats and other commodities were coming down.

The front street firms that had enough shipping orders cleaned up at 54 and 55 cents. Others also managed to work off their stock at near those prices, but not a few had more than a comfortable supply on hand at the close of business and their offerings at 53 cents found few takers. It was the opinion that today's receipts would be fairly large and it is the case it will require active buying to keep the market steady.

Worth Saving.

The features of this girl portray the finest type of Polish childhood that now lies engulfed in hunger and disease and all their attendant miseries. Relief already administered by America has preserved her beauty and freshness, albeit her eyes betray the suffering she has seen, but literally millions in her own and adjacent countries still have no one to look to but America as another winter of horror closes in upon them. To the end that their prayer may not go unanswered eight leading American relief organizations have banded together in a joint appeal in behalf of Europe's suffering children. They are the American Relief Administration, the American Red Cross, the American Friends' Relief Committee (Quakers), the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, the Federal Churches of Christ in America, the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

Movie Closeups

The charming story, "Milestones" the feature attraction at the Antlers tonight, is told in three episodes, showing the characters first in the year 1860, then in 1885 and finally in 1910, thus giving exceptional opportunity for period costumes as well as quaint settings, features, which make a strong appeal to almost all persons interested in motion pictures and especially to women.

The aim of the authors is to show the bitter opposition of the older generation against the more modern ideas, progress and romance of the younger generation.

This is done by tracing through three periods the fortunes of the Khead and Sibley families. In each of the two first episodes, the older generations succeed to a great extent in discouraging and blocking the progressive trend of the new generation, and in controlling the romantic destinies of the young men and women. But in the modern episode, both modern progress and romance are triumphant and John Rhead, now an old man, is forced to bow to the inevitable and admit his defeat.

But a mere rehearsal of the plot can give no idea of the simplicity and quaint appeal of this story as it unfolds in the picture—the appeal, which as a play, won for it hundreds of thousands of admirers.

Some idea of the large and realistic scale upon which Jack London's famous story, "The Sea Wolf" was made into the picture may be gathered from the fact that producer, George Melford, hired a ferry boat and bought a huge schooner outright in order to stage the collision between the two craft in San Francisco Bay. The schooner was completely demolished in the crash. The company which made the film spent a whole month along the San Francisco waterfront making the exteriors.

However, not all the episodes were "shot" so near the shore, as the players made frequent trips out through Golden Gate into the open sea. One memorable day they spent some 50 miles from shore during a severe gale in a none too seaworthy fishing boat, while the camera registered destruction being wrought all around them by the wind and storm, will live long in the minds of Noah Beery, who plays the part of "Wolf" Larsen, Mabel Julienne Scott, Tom Forman and the other members of the cast. But director Melford expressed the conviction of all when he declared: "I don't want a mill pond, 'Wolf'."

"The Sea Wolf," which will be the attraction at the Majestic theatre until Saturday night is declared to be a production that would delight the heart of Jack London himself, were he living. Noah Beery is in every respect the brute philosopher, hero-
