

ROSEBURG NEWS-REVIEW
 Issued Daily Except Sunday.
 E. W. Bojars, L. Wimberly, Bert G. Nelson

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
 Daily, per year, by mail, $4.00
 Daily, six months, by mail, $2.50
 By Carrier, per month, $1.00

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein. All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

Entered as second-class matter May 17, 1920, at the post office at Roseburg, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879. Roseburg, Oregon, January 7, 1921

PORTLAND MAN HAS GAINED 21 POUNDS

Andy Towles Says Tanlac Built Him Up So He Is Ready to Go Back on Job—Rheumatism Gone

"Tanlac certainly proved to be the medicine I needed for since I began taking it I have gained twenty-one pounds and am ready to go back to work," said Andy Towles, 522 Market street, Portland, Ore.

"For two years before I started taking Tanlac I had suffered from stomach trouble and rheumatism. My appetite was poor and the little I did manage to eat wouldn't digest and made me miserable for hours afterward. Gas would form on my stomach and press against my heart and lungs until I could hardly breathe and often I just had to gasp for breath. I was always constipated, had awful headaches, there was a roaring noise in my head and I often became so dizzy I could hardly stand on my feet. The rheumatism in my back and legs was so bad I was nearly always in pain and my joints were so stiff I could scarcely use my limbs. Finally I became so nervous, run-down and weak I just had to give up and quit work entirely.

"A friend of mine in Seattle told me of the benefits he had received from Tanlac, and I decided to try it myself. Well, sir, it has done me so much good my friends all ask me what I have been taking to make me look so well, and I might quickly tell them it was Tanlac. I now have a splendid appetite, everything agrees with me, and I am never troubled with gas or shortness of breath. The rheumatism has left me entirely, and I can get around as good as I ever could. I am not bothered with constipation, never have a headache or dizzy, and that peculiar roaring has gone from my head. My nerves are in good shape. I sleep well, have regained my lost weight and strength and feel simply fine all the time."

Tanlac is sold in Roseburg by W. F. Chapman, in Dixonville by Thos. Hatfield and by leading druggists everywhere.

CRY FOR RETRENCHMENT.

From all over the state comes the cry for retrenchment in public funds. Taxes have steadily increased for the past few years until the small and large property owner is beginning to wonder where and when the brakes are going to be applied, if at all, to "get down to earth" again.

Investors have little incentive under prevailing conditions to place their money. They are prone to "sit tight" and await more normal times when fair returns on their capital will lend encouragement to make substantial improvements to their holdings or give way to legitimate investments.

With the retrenchment thought uppermost in the minds of the public generally, and a desire for sane, safe and conservative government, as it applies to state affairs, this seems to be the opportune time to take an inventory—strike a balance and determine to lop off every conceivable item of unnecessary expenses to the taxpayers. The people demand this action and it should be the effort of all concerned to co-operate.

When the state legislature convenes at Salem next week the members of this important assembly will be besieged throughout the entire session for various and diverse appropriations—many worthy ones, which should receive most careful attention and prompt action. On the other hand there will be the usual list of semi-important measures calling for state financial aid and support, but of no paramount value to the taxpayers at large.

Here is where the axe should be applied—without fear or favor to anyone, great or small, that a curtailment of our present exorbitant expense account may be brought down to a level consistent with demands of present conditions throughout the state of Oregon.

Every senator and every representative who go to make up the two houses of the state legislature should strive to outline a program of economy, rather than one of needless expenditures of the state's funds. This is a period in the history, not only of the state, but the nation as well, that calls for a strict business administration, conducted solely along conservative lines and where methods should be employed to reduce, not to encourage too reckless program for carrying on the business of the state.

Douglas county should feel a degree of pride in the representation to the 1921 session of the Oregon legislature, as it is the concerns of opinion among all its people that each member selected to represent this county has that business training and instinct that will urge upon other representatives throughout the state the grave importance of strict economy during the entire session.

THE DISARMAMENT PLANS

The senate shows a strong disposition to go ahead and try to work out some plan for disarmament without waiting for the new administration. The senators recognize the subject has awakened tremendous interest in this country and in the other countries concerned. It is because people are rebellious against continued high taxes and see in the high cost of armament since the armament the least excusable cause of the burden. The senate could hardly avoid or postpone the question if it wanted to. Evidently it does not want to.

The most discussed plan proposed so far is that of Senator Borah which contemplates a 50 percent reduction in new naval construction for the next five years by a triple agreement on the part of the United States, the British Empire, and Japan, the three foremost naval powers. It has received much favorable attention in all three countries. The prevailing sentiment here is plainly for some such arrangement. It arouses enthusiasm that ignores party lines. There seems to be nearly as much Democratic support for it as Republican.

Many of the senators, however, while agreeing on the principle, object to limiting its application to the three powers and would like to see it applied to the other major powers, France and Italy. There can hardly be any logical objection to such an extension. The only reason for limiting the plan to three nations is that it made the problem simpler.

There is an additional complication when the proposal is made that the militia as well as the naval armament be included. There is less likely to be any agreement on armament for the present at least, than there is on navy. France particularly will oppose any limitation because she feels obliged to maintain a large military force in the field until the German treaty is fulfilled. It would be at least no harm in discussing the matter with the powers concerned, either through the disarmament commission appointed by the league of nations assembly, or, if the senate objects to such recognition of the League, then directly with the various powers.

Suggested motto for the New Year: God Save the King! "What King?" you ask. Well, didn't they use to tell us the Dollar was king in this country.

The nation is in favor of disarmament for crooks, at least.

BETTER CROP REPORTS

The United States Department of Agriculture has proposed that the six new England states unite in a co-operative plan of crop reporting for the entire section. The federal government would meet half the expenses, the states the other half. Reliable crop reports have proved very beneficial to farmers in other parts of the country. New England's need for them is said to be greater than that of some other localities. Its six states are equal to a combined area of but one average sized state. Its commercial crops come from several states and find their markets in all six. Crop reports covering a single state would therefore have very limited usefulness and would cost much more than one-sixth of the cost of such reports for the whole area. Each of the six states are considering the proposition. Maine has already taken favorable action, and there is every prospect that the others will do likewise. For a country whose people are so efficient in private enterprises, the United States is bewilderingly slow in developing sensible methods of marketing and distribution. Waste, extravagance, duplication of facilities in some places, and total lack of them in others are prominent features of the existing system. It can be called a system. The public's eyes are sore for all this, ignoring the fact that it is the distributor and the producer as well as the consumer. Crop and market reports are essential as a start in the right direction have already been used.

BUSINESS FIGHT COMING

"1921 Will Reward the Fighters" This was the slogan put before the advertising forces of the Chicago Tribune at their recent convention. In referring to the motto, one of the speakers remarked: "In many ways this will be the best year we have had. It will not be an easy year or a soft year, or a boom year such as we have just experienced. General business conditions will resemble those of 1915, or the year before the war broke out. There will be great opportunities, but there will be great competition for them, and only those who battle hard and intelligently will win out."

The philosophy of the advertising business applies equally well to all lines of business endeavor. There has been too much armchair sitting and blaming the other fellow since the bubble of inflated prosperity burst. A nation grown fat and sleek had no mind for strenuous life. But now the reaction from the reaction is setting in. Business is coming up out of the dumps and the battle will be on before the New Year is fairly set in its right of way. Better sharpen the weapons and study the field. It will be a big fight but it will be worth while.

An eastern writer commenting on the recent city election at Yoncalla has the following to say:

Yoncalla, Ore., seems to have experienced a little private landslide of its own in the November election. The Mayor and all its councilmen this year are women. Although it is one of the smallest towns in the state, it is old, and rich in historical interest. Now it is about to make more history. The women of Yoncalla have everything in their favor. No dissenting masculine voice can be raised in the council meeting to say that some new measure will fall simply because it has never been tried before. Only factions arising in their own ranks can obstruct their plans. The writer does not happen to know any of Yoncalla's needs in regard to the schools, parks, garbage disposal, street lighting, or paving or anything else. It would be a shame, however, if there were no serious municipal problems for the women to solve while they are in charge of the affairs. The demonstration of ability which they give may serve either as a horrible example or a beacon light to other towns. At any rate, we wish Yoncalla a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

When those "best minds" have all made their pilgrimage to Marion, they ought to form a permanent organization. Still, on second thought, a good many of those minds might not go along with each other.

The vast progress which scientists forecast for the human race will come when civilized nations stop the spending of nine-tenths of their income for past, present and future wars.

If families acted like nations, there would be a fortified trench around every yard, a machine gun on every roof and a poison gas outfit in every cellar.

The money market is not disturbed in the slightest, according to a financial report. Maybe not, but the people who need a little money to go to market are.

Pension Wanted For Indian War Veterans

Agitation for a more equitable pension for the veterans of the Oregon Indian war, especially of the Rogue River war, is the latest mission upon which J. B. Horner, Oregon historian and member of the faculty at the Oregon Agricultural College has embarked.

Mr. Horner has found that the veterans of the Indian wars are receiving a small pension, but by no means sufficient to constitute any material aid to those who are in need of financial assistance, as many of them are said to be.

It is expected that the matter will be brought to the attention of Oregon's congressmen. The G. A. R. as an organization is said to be behind the proposed pension increase and it is expected that other similar organizations will follow suit when the time comes for seeking action.

When word came in 1855 that the Indians had destroyed all the homes and killed all the men, women and children they could find between the Rogue river and Cow Creek canyon, Governor Curry, on the 15th of October issued a proclamation from Corvallis, the temporary capital of Oregon, for the formation of nine companies of mounted cavalry. Men volunteered throughout the state to suppress the warlike savages. Volunteers were placed under the leadership of Colonel John Kelsey and Major James Bruce. Other companies were organized and officered at the towns of Brownsville, Eugene, Roseburg and others, and the following year the Indians were subdued and placed on reservations.

Forty years after the Rogue river war, the state of Oregon hardly paid the soldiers the wages of a farmer of the time they served and reimbursed them for such horses as they had, but the state did not provide a pension for them in their old age.

Klamath County May be Divided

KLAMATH FALLS, Jan. 7.—Surgeons will soon be running lines for the county boundary down Fourth street, or the farthest east allowable, down Fifth—if the rumored plans of the Hot Springs factionists in the court house controversy materialize.

It became known today that one of the leading counsel for the county court has abandoned his attack along judicial lines and will again seek the people with a mandate for a petition to split Klamath county in two on a north and south line.

The county west of the line will remain Klamath, and the county east the line will become Warden. The capital of the former would be the Main street court house, while the official county seat of Warden county would be in the Hot Springs building.

The "master mind" has not yet completed the details it is said, but in a general way the line runs as follows:

Dividing the city along either Fourth or Fifth streets, the boundary would zigzag southerly from the city limits to take in all Warden county interests possible through the valley, passing around Malin and including that fertile section in Warden. Northerly the line would be extended from the city limits to upper Klamath Lake, and the easterly shore of the lake would be the boundary line.

While the matter of division is yet

MONSTER TABERNACLE

Seating Nearly 2,000 People. Opposite Presbyterian Church

BULGIN-LEWIS EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN

Sunday, January 9th, 1921, 7 p. m.

THE GREATEST MUSIC YOU EVER HEARD BY MR. and MRS. ROBT. LEWIS

AND THEIR WONDERFUL CHORUS OF 200 SINGERS
 Dr. Bulgin is one of the Greatest Preachers

In the world today because of his fearlessness in speaking the plain truth, he has been shot at, spit on, knocked down, lied about and false-ly represented. You have no doubt heard and read much about this converted agnostic, infidel lawyer-preacher, but NOW the people of ROSEBURG and vicinity have the exceptional privilege of seeing and hearing for themselves this national character, who in many respects is greater than "Billy Sunday"—Rev. E. J. Bulgin, D. D., Ph. D.

HE WILL MAKE YOU LAUGH AS YOU NEVER LAUGHED BEFORE HE WILL MAKE YOU THINK AS YOU NEVER THOUGHT BEFORE
 THE BIGOT WON'T, THE FOOL CAN'T, THE COWARD DARE NOT THINK
 IF YOU ARE NEITHER BIGOT, FOOL, COWARD—COME! HEAR! THINK!

You expect the doctor and lawyer who has studied medicine and law for 25 years to know more about medicine and law than a blacksmith or carpenter. Then when you get sick who do you send for? Surely, then, the man who has for 25 years made a deep, thorough study of the Bible and Theology is better qualified to help us in these, the greatest and most important of all science, THE LIFE HERE AND HEREAFTER, AND IMMORTALITY OF THE SOUL, than the person who has never given much or no time to this study.

A writer of national fame, describing Dr. Bulgin, said:
 "Dr. Bulgin is a preacher and evangelist of national fame. He is one of the most powerful and eloquent speakers on the American platform. Bulgin was an agnostic, infidel lawyer before his conversion and his sermons and lectures are logical and convincing to the extreme. He resembles Abraham Lincoln in many ways. He is long, lean, lank and bony, with a homely face. He was born in a log cabin in the mountains of North Carolina in extreme poverty. He never attended school but three weeks in his life, yet is a D. D., Ph. D., L. L. D. He supported his father's family of ten when a lad of 11. He never owned a pair of shoes until he was 14 years old, and those he made himself. He has come up through the alleys and by-ways of hard knocks, discouragements and severe testing times. Dr. Bulgin has the logic of a Pinney, the wit of Sam Jones, the eloquence of Talmadge and the fight and pluck of Billy Sunday."
 Associated with Dr. Bulgin as Assistant Evangelist Musical

Chorus Rehearsal Friday Evening, 7:30 p. m. at the Tabernacle

(Every Singer is invited to be present.)

GREAT SONG SERVICE SUNDAY NIGHT AT 7 P. M.

(Led by Mr. Lewis and the Big Chorus. Mrs. Lewis at the Piano.)

DR. BULGIN'S First Sermon Subject: "THE QUESTION OF THE AGES."

COME EARLY IF YOU WANT A SEAT

Special Luncheon (free) served for all young people—ages 15 to 40—Presbyterian Church, Sunday, 5 p. m. Great service, led by Mr. Lewis at 6 p. m. in an uncertain stage, inside information has it that the inner council finds it practical to start the petition in circulation shortly.

The division would probably have the effect of nullifying the efforts of certain Bonanza residents to lop off a part of the eastern territory and create a new county of Equity. A metropolitan newspaper, misguidedly referred to the proposed county as "the county of Inequity."

New Glove-Cleaning Device.
 A Massachusetts inventor has developed a glove-cleaning machine which is somewhat like an ice cream freezer. The soiled gloves are dropped into gasoline or other cleaning fluid and whirled around by a perforated blade through which the liquid is forced. After the handle has been turned about three minutes the gloves may be taken out spotless.

Eye is Badly Injured.
 F. S. Blakely, of Glendale, left for Portland today to consult with a specialist in regard to an injury to his eye, which occurred several weeks ago while he was splitting wood. The local treatment has failed to bring relief and it is feared that the lens of the eye is injured. Recently the member has been quite painful.

TONSILITIS
 Apply thickly over throat—cover with hot flannel—
VICKS VAPORUB
 Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

FRUIT TREES
 Ornamental Shade Trees, Walnuts, Flowering Shrubbery, Roses, Vines, Berries, Etc.
 Catalog on request.
 If interested in Italian prune trees, write for special quotations, stating number desired.
ALBANY NURSERIES, Inc. Albany, Ore.

people attending to business matters here

Around the Town

Returns to Albany
 Mrs. C. E. Earles, of Albany, returned to her home this morning after spending several days in this city.

Return to Yoncalla
 Wm. Hellwell and J. Ferris, both residents of Yoncalla, who have been visiting in this city, returned to their homes this morning.

Leave for Yoncalla
 Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Payne of Yoncalla, who have been visiting in this city for the past few days left this morning for their home.

Out of Town Residents Visit
 I. E. Rice, of Issoria, T. J. Matley of Oakland, Lester Blakely of Mt. Scott were among the out of town

Visited Sister
 Henry Luchinger of Scottsburg, who has been visiting with his sister at Ashland for several days stopped in this city yesterday on his way home.

From Canyonville
 C. O. McGilvray of Canyonville was a business visitor in Roseburg yesterday. Mr. McGilvray is wire chief for the district for the Postal Telegraph service and yesterday he made the trip along the line to ascertain the amount of damage done by

Here From Peel
 H. I. Engels of Peel was in town yesterday. His daughter, Grace, who underwent an operation in the local hospital recently is now much better although her recovery is slow.

Here on Business
 Prof. P. L. Campbell of the state University at Eugene spent Wednesday night in this city conferring with Judge J. W. Hamilton, a member of the board of regents in regard to matters pertaining to the University.