OSTEOPATHS TAKE EXCEPTION

The Wisconsin state federation of labor has taken up the cudgel for osteopathy in its fight against the boycott declared by the old school hospitals and will appeal to the legislature. Resolutions were unanimously adopted at the last meeting of the federation at La Crosse. The resolutions state that in certain cities the old school physicians have formed combinations and agreements whereby osteopathic physicians are not permitted to practice in the hospitals, and that many members of organized labor and others prefer treatment by osteopathic physicians and are greatly inconvenienced by not being able to be attended by the physicians of their choice while in hospitals controlled by the old school physicians.

GREEN SCHOOL IS CLOSED

On account of the prevalence of an epidemic of small pox, the school at Greens was closed yesterday. It is reported that the epidemic is in light form and none of the cases are serious but in order to prevent any further spread it was deemed advisable to close up the school. There is a great deal of sickness all over the county, especially among the children. There are a large number of cases of pneumonia and a light form of small pox and a few cases of the meningitis.

REV. CONDER TO GO EAST

Rev. J. E. Conder, former pastor of the South Methodist church, left this afternoon for Portland. From Portland he will go to Idaho and on east in the interests of the Anti-Saloon League, with which he is associated. He expects to return here in the summer for his vacation about July first. Rev. Conder has just returned from a trip through southern Oregon where he arranged a tour for Dr. Louis Albert Banks, Dr. Banks will arrive in Roseburg from Portland tomorrow. He will speak at Jacksonville on Sunday.

COURT LIMITS AUTO TRUCK LOADS

Roads and Highways to be Given Protection from Overloaded Vehicles.

CONDITION IS SERIOUS

Roads Are Now in Such Condition That All Available Funds Will Be Necessary for Their Repair and Maintenance.

The critical condition of the roads of Douglas county, which have been made veritable quagmires by the combination of prolonged rains and extra heavy traffic, made necessary, in the minds of the county court, which met yesterday, the passage of an emergency order limiting the loads that are to be carried over certain of the improved roads of the county, to 2000 pounds for any vehicle having tires of any width less than four inches, and not more than 3000 pounds for any vehicle having tires of more than four inches in width. The order also prescribes that no chains, flanged wheels, spikes or other such articles shall be used on the trucks carrying loads. This order is patterned after a similar one passed by the Lane county court for the protection of its roads.

"Auto and truck drivers have shown no consideration for the roads of our county," said County Judge D. J. Stewart today. "As a result it will take absolutely all of the road funds available to do only the maintenance and repair work made necessary by the present condition of the roads, and the county will be entirely unable to carry on any new work or make any new improvements.

"The prolonged rainy weather softened the roads and huge overloaded trucks cut through the surface and destroy the work of years. Our roads were originally built for horse drawn vehicles. We have not had the money to pave our roads and highways suitable for heavy automobile traffic, and consequently the roads were not in any shape for the loads they were forced to bear. Drivers of motor vehicles, particularly truck drivers, gave no consideration to the roads. I can cite one instance, where between Riddle and Canyonville they carried huge loads over the roads until they had them so soft and muddy the trucks were unable to hold to the surface, and then they wrapped the wheels with logging chains and completely tore up the surface so that the road is now almost impassible. People have been buying larger and larger trucks. They have been increasing the capacity ton after ton, until the loads are more than the roads could stand, and now the court is in such a position that it will have absolutely no funds to carry on its road program this year.

"As a result of this we have been forced to adopt some sort of an emergency order to prevent the condition from being made worse. As soon as the roads can be put in shape and have sufficiently dried out to sustain heavier traffic the order will doubtless be amended so that it will be strictly enforced and we will do everything in our power to prevent the highways from being made worse than they are at present."

The order as passed by the county court is as follows:

"Whereas, great damage is being done by persons, firms and corporations hauling heavy loads of cordwood, saw logs, lumber, ties, timber, piling, stone, rock, gravel, sand, or other heavy merchandise, over and over certain of the improved public highways of said county; and

"Whereas, owing to the excessive amount of rainfall and conditions of the roads it is greatly damaging said highways and against the interests of Douglas county, Oregon, and will impair, if allowed to continue, said public highways and render them useless and impassible; and

"Whereas, parties have been notified to cease from conveying and hauling heavy loads with wagons and trucks upon said highways, but have failed and neglected to obey said order or direction; it is therefore hereby

"Ordered by the county court of Douglas county, Oregon, that the maximum weight of each load of cordwood, saw logs, lumber, ties, timber, piling, stone, rock, gravel, sand, or other heavy merchandise to be hauled in or upon any vehicle upon the following described roads, to-wit: Wilbur to Hardin Davis place, Sutherland to Nonsperil, Oakland to Englehart, Roseburg to Coles Valley via Edinboro, Gladys to Anchor, Roseburg to South Deer creek, Roseburg to Roberts creek, via Corns station; Drain to Sueda's place on Drain-Elkton road; Alhambra to Hoyet sawmill; Riddle to Canyonville via Orchard valley, shall not be more than 2000 pounds for any vehicle having tires of any width less than four inches, nor more than 3000 pounds for any vehicle having tires of more than four inches in width; and

"It is hereby ordered that no chains or wheels of trucks used for hauling, or any flanged wheel, or spike wheels, or any other such articles shall be used upon said highways during the time that this order is in effect, and this order shall be in effect until revoked by the county court of Douglas county, Oregon; and

"It is hereby further ordered that the roadmaster of Douglas county, Oregon, be and he hereby is directed to enforce the provisions hereof, by having a duly certified copy of this order served upon the person or persons, firm or corporation so damaged

Pruning School to be Held at Riddle

There will be a pruning school held at Riddle next week, beginning Tuesday, January 25th and ending Friday, January 28th. This school will be similar to those being conducted in other parts of the county and in which much interest has been taken by all orchardists. County Agent Haslett asks that all residents of Riddle who expect to attend the school to be at B. F. Nichols butcher shop or at the Riddle post office by one o'clock on Tuesday to find out what orchard the demonstration will take place. County fruit inspector, C. E. Armstrong and F. B. Guthrie, field representative of the Oregon Growers Co-operative association will conduct the demonstration. The school at Sutherlin closed last night the demonstration yesterday being well attended with a great deal of interest being shown. The morning demonstration was on prunes and the afternoon demonstration was on pears. Prof. Clayton L. Long returned to Corvallis last night after completing the work.

Masked Singer Holds the Stage

A dainty, much-be-cured Mary Pickford held the stage last night at the Antlers theatre in a cleverly arranged prologue to the Mary Pickford feature, "Suds." The stunt was arranged in co-operation with Mr. Uhlig, of the Electric store, who supplied two Thor washing machines one of which was kept running in the lobby of the theatre making mountains of suds, and one on the stage in the prologue to the picture. Mary Pickford's double, in the ragged dress of the homely little slavey, which part is taken by Mary in the picture, sang a clever little song all about "Grace" the hero of the picture, and later extolled the merits of the Thor washing machine while washing a shirt, symbolic of the story around which the story "Suds" centers. Tonight the mysterious Miss Mary Pickford will unmask while on the stage. The first five guessing her identity before the unmasking, free tickets will be given.

Legislature Passes More Bills Today

(By Associated Press.)
 SALEM, Jan. 21.—The house and senate today passed a joint memorial calling on congress to provide a protective tariff on poultry products. The memorial is directed particularly at the importation of Oriental eggs.

The senate adopted Hall's concurrent resolution for committees of the legislature of Oregon, Washington and Idaho to confer relative to uniform automobile laws. The senate passed the following bills: Regulating the sale of foodstuffs and livestock; extending the term of office of county recorders from two to four years; providing buildings constructed by banks need not be confined to an expenditure of not over 50 per cent of the bank's capitalization.

NEIGHBORHOOD ROW AHEAD

A quarrel of long standing between Leo Allen and Manuel Moore, residents of Hayshurst was aired in the justice court at Drain yesterday before Justice of the Peace Thomas Cruzon, attorneys Cruzon and Whipple of this city appearing for the respective principals. It is claimed by Mr. Moore, who brought the action, that Allen had threatened his life and had made other threats of bodily injury. The quarrel, it is stated, started over a road through Allen's place which Moore was forced to use. Mr. Moore requested that Allen be put under bonds to keep the peace. On account of the general knowledge of the affair there was a large throng of Drain residents present at the hearing, and it became necessary to transfer the court from the city hall to the I. O. O. F. hall. After the testimony of both sides had been taken both sides rested, and following the argument, Justice Cruzon bound Mr. Allen over to appear before the grand jury, bonds being furnished in the sum of $250.

Blue Laws Deemed Menace to Nation

ture entering the field of religion, and deciding a religious controversy, and establishing a precedent which, if followed to its legitimate end, will lead our fair land into a career of intolerance and fan into flame the smouldering embers of religious oppression.

Further, the Sabbath commandment is only one of the precepts of the Bible. For example, the Word declares that the tenth of our income shall be holy unto the Lord. This is as plain as the Sabbath precept. Then there is the Lord's supper. Shall this be enforced by national legislation? If not, why not? And what about the Lord's prayer? It is surely a good thing to pray. Shall we have a law enforcing this prayer at the end of a policeman's baton? Then there is baptism, an institution of the church established by the Lord himself. Shall congress make a law enforcing this holy ordinance? True, all are not agreed as to the mode of baptism, but it is as much the province of congress to define the mode of baptism as which day is the Sabbath and the manner of its observance. To enforce any of these sacred institutions by law would destroy the very purpose for which they were divinely instituted.

The gospel of the Son of God, and the Constitution of the great American republic recognize no power but that of persuasion for the enforcement of religious observances, so that the divinely ordained principle of civil government and the freedom guaranteed by the fundamental law of the land may remain unimpaired, for the nation, District of Columbia, and state. We, therefore, as Christians and loyal citizens, protest against all enforced Sabbath observance, whether it be the seventh day which we ourselves observe, or some other day.
