RICKETS DID THIS.

Before this five-year-old Vienna girl was operated upon in the American Convalescent Home her leg was even more horribly deformed from rickets and she was in constant instead of intermittent pain. Now at least her leg is straight again, and by degrees she is relearning to walk. Rickets is the aftermath of under-nutrition, and it is to cut down the harrowing prevalence of such disease as this among the children of Europe that eight American relief organizations are making a joint appeal under the name of the European Relief Council for funds to succor the millions that face a winter of horror. They are the American Relief Administration, the American Red Cross, the American Friends' Service Committee (Quakers), the Jewish Joint Distribution committee, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Knights of Columbus, the Y. MUST USE FOUR LANGUAGES

Advertisers in Turkey Necessarily Under a Handicap That Amounts to a Good Deal.

In order to advertise in Constantinople it is necessary to use four languages. The market is hard to cultivate, but newspapers give good results there. The population of Constantinople is very cosmopolitan, and all the foreigners speak their own language and read their own newspapers, writes Trade Commissioner Eliot G. Mears. To reach the public in general, advertisements should be published in newspapers of at least four languages.

However, the best results are obtained by publication in Turkish newspapers, for, on the one hand, the Turkish population is most numerous, and on the other the Turkish reader is more susceptible to the claims of advertisements than are Europeans and Armenians. It has been found by experience that advertising in newspapers gives very good results in Constantinople, especially if it is pushed vigorously.

No advertising is carried on tramcars. Street advertising is not protected by law and cannot be recommended to foreign concerns. The circulation of newspapers is not great. French newspapers have an approximate issue of 6,000 to 8,000, Greek 4,000 to 12,000, Armenian 4,000 to 8,000, and Turkish 10,000 to 15,000.

MONOPOLY LOST BY GERMANY

American Chemists Are Now Producing the Rare Sugars Required for Scientific Purposes.

Not least among the triumphs of the new American chemical industry has been the production of the rare sugars, so long a German monopoly. The sugars were called for by the small hospitals, as they are required in small amount in bacteriological laboratories—one of them, for instance, being the most sensitive stimulent of typhoid growth, while others serve in the detection of cholera germ. The infinite care necessary to prepare them in a state of absolute purity makes their cost seemingly enormous. The most expensive rare sugar catalogued is stated by Drug and Chemical Markets to be dulcitol, at $375 a pound, while mannose is worth $140 a pound. This is a delicate and delicious sweet derived from manna, which is secreted in thin scales from certain trees and shrubs, and with which the children of Israel were miraculously fed during their wanderings in the wilderness. Xylose, quoted at $120 a pound, is made from the corn cob; inulin is obtained from the bulb of the dahlia at certain seasons of the year. Other rare sugars are—aribinose, at $100 at pound; levulose, $80 a pound, and raffinose, $75 a pound.

Better Weather Forecasts.

Weather forecasts for months ahead will be possible within a few years as a direct result of solar observations, R. M. Stewart, assistant director of the Dominion observatory, told the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada.

The sun is the great influence over varying weather conditions on the earth, and recent observations of it have led to the belief that observatories will be able to predict with accuracy the general trend of weather for six months or even a year ahead, he said.

To be able to foretell the amount of precipitation and the general temperature for several months in advance may take 50 or even 100 years of observation, he added, but expressed the confidence of the observatory that this end would be reached.

German "Thoroughness."

Max Walter, head of a boys' training school in Frankfort, tells the following story by way of illustrating German thoroughness:

A venerable teacher in one of Germany's preparatory schools was distractedly ambling about his study one day when he noticed a stray piece of paper. Picking it up he saw that it was a Latin composition from one of his devoted disciples.

On looking at it more closely he detected an error which he had overlooked. Seating himself at his desk, he dipped his pen in good red ink and made the necessary correction. He then folded the paper into a neat roll, stuck it in the fire, and with it lighted his pipe.

Belgians Teach Farming.

The Belgian government has hit upon a novel scheme of teaching the farmers of the country better methods of farming, says Motor. The idea of a school for farmers is not new, but the idea of taking the school to the farmer by means of a motor caravan is certainly novel. The school building consists of three units, one powered with a gasoline motor; in short a building section on a motor truck. With this powered unit go two trailers and the three rolled into position and joined together makes the commodious and convenient classroom.

Cat Goes 600 Miles in Wheel.

A kitten crawled inside the rim of a big flywheel at the Great Northern mills at Burlington, Neb., and fell asleep. The mill pet was unnoticed and the giant machinery was set in motion. The wheel whirred about with the kitten inside for nine hours, held to its perilous position by the running of the wheel. The kitten was still alive when the machinery was stopped for the night. It was estimated it had traveled 600 miles.

Movie Closeups

Pauline Frederick, Goldwyn star, as "Madame X" in Alexandre Bisson's famous French play of that name, a Goldwyn production, which comes to the Majestic theatre for tonight only, has one of the greatest emotional roles ever given to an actress. Miss Frederick is presenting a new and wonderful interpretation of this character around whose sad and stormy life the action of the play moves.

The dramatic intensity of the trial scene has seldom been equalled in any play, particularly when Madame X recognizes her son in the young lawyer who is defending her and the man sitting beside the judge is her husband. The entire play is full of dramatic situations that call for the best that an actress can give. Miss Frederick, who is one of the greatest emotional actresses in motion pictures is doing the very best work of her career in "Madame X."

The new Paramount Arteraft picture, "The Tree of Knowledge" to be shown at the Antlers theatre on Saturday only is declared to have that rare combination of highly dramatic and entertaining storp, talented star and fine supporting cast, and expert director, that results in the really unusual play.

The mention of the names of such players as Kathlyn Williams, Wanda Hawley, Tom Froman and Irving Cummings establishes the cast far above the ordinary. The director was William C. DeMille, who, aside from being a veteran at the screening of motion pictures is the author of the play, "Strongheart," "The Warrens of Virginia" and other stage productions, as well as several film stories that were produced by his brother, Cecil B. DeMille.

With a bundle of newspapers under his arm and with a voice twice as loud as any other kid in San Francisco's Chinatown, "Dinty" fights the world for a living, and makes himself Newsboy King at the head of the Newsboy's trust. He does it all to provide a home for his old Irish mother. Then when his mother dies, "Dinty" has to fight down the feeling that "life isn't much after all," and battles to get back in the game and make himself the success which his mother had always longed to see him.

As King of the Newsboy's Trust, "Dinty's" two lieutenants are a little Chinese halfbreed and a jolly little coon, both selling members of the Trust, and for them "Dinty" puts up many a fight.

One night he picks up a wallet belonging to Jack North, third assistant district attorney, and returns it to him. This is the beginning of a very real friendship between the two and "Dinty" just naturally begins to fight for the 3rd. A. D. O. Later the 3rd A. D. O.'s fiancee, Ruth Whitley is kidnapped by "King" Dorkh, Malay half-breed and leader of a gang of cut throats. "Dinty" puts up the one big fight of his life for her.

The activities of an up-to-date band of opium smugglers have for some time been puzzling the district attorney's office. This picturesque group of highbinders operate by airplane and cutter between Mexico the Orient and San Francisco, with a secret wireless station and a strong political influence to aid them.

"Dinty" and his gang are perefctly familiar with Chinatown, both on the surface and underground, and this familiarity enables "Dinty" to do little detective work in just the right way and at just the right time. Then comes the one big fight.

There is a beautiful love interest in the story, and in this, of course, "Dinty" has a hand, while running a little romance of his own on the side. The picture will be shown at the Majestic theater for three days beginning Sunday.

As Marcia Meadows, the heroine of "The Chorus Girl's Romance" and the possessor of two of the most irresistable shoulders ever seen on the screen, or off, Viola Dana proved to have found a most charming characterization of her career. She will be seen Sunday at the Antlers theatre.

The story adapted from the fiction of F. Scott Fitzgerald and published orignally as "Head and Shoulders," in The Saturday Evening Post, has to do with an odd romance between a chorus girl, whose show is trying out in New Haven, and Horace Tarbox, a prodigy in scholarshp. It seems that some of Horace's more worldly friends persuaded Marcia to go to his college rooms and see what would happen. What did happen is not just what Marcia or Horace, or Horace's friends or even the audience imagined. The consequent events form one of the freshest and sprightliest and most human stories seen on the silversheet of the theatre in many a day.
