BUSINESS MEN OPTIMISTIC.

In the face of continued slumps in prices as industrial and trade defiation progresses, it is noticeable that there is an encouraging note of optimism by leading manufacturers and business men. The period the country is now nen. The period the country is how passing through was discounted in ad-yance by men familiar with the opera-tions of economics. Merchants sen-erally were relaxiant to "take a loss" and at area provided to "take a loss" and at once enter upon the lower price levels for merchandising, and it is not surprising that this should have is not surprising that this should have been the case. Most merchants had stocked up heavily with high-priced poods. But business men how realize that they were guilty of an error of judgment in proceeding on the assum-tion that high level prices would hold up through the present winter. Bi-terness against the federal reserve beard which followed its action in based. There is yet much to be done in the work of readjustment, but a be-ginning has been made, and there is reason to believe that recovery is now getting under way. Predictions that workers would refuse to accept new conditions are now seen to be un-founded. Nothing is to be gained by enlarging on the condition of even ployment, but all should join in the spread of optimism, for a great deal will depand on the state of mind in which the nation approaches solution of the industrial problem. The prin ciple if psychology functioned in bringing present conditions about; it uld operate to help in overcoming

THE HABIT OF ACCUSING.

Severe condemnation should be heaped on the practice of many per sons, which has almost attained the proportions of a national habit, to make charges against public officials or other prominent persons through the newspapers or in ways that give them no opportunity of defending themselves. Charles M. Schwab president of the Bethleham Steel Corporation, who gave much of his time to the Emergency Fleet Corporation during the war became the victim of an unwarranted attack when Colone Abadie, former controller of the United States Shipping Board, charged that Mr. Schwab had collected $200 that Mr. Schwab had collected [200, 000 from the government in a single month. Mr. Schwab promptly went before a congressional committee and produced evidence to show that he had not received a dollar from the government as safary and that he had paid his own personal expenses. Col-onel Aladie apoligized for his hasty charge but a grave signation has been charge, but a grave injustice has beer done Mr. Schwab. Serious charges are frequently made against officials are frequently made against birror of the government, usually by persor who are not responsible either in fin ances or character, and these individ unis are permitted to escape the pun tshment they deserve for their at tempts to defame the character of public men. Even though apoligies are forthcoming, much harm has been done in the minds of thoughtless per Congressman Simeon D. County Commissioners Long and Weaver spent yesterday at Rock oreak investigating the need of a new oridge across that stream at the site of the former bridge, which re-cently collapsed. At the present time the residents have swing a cable across the stream and on this have a rider, comissing of a seal ning on a pulley, enabling them to cross with a great deal of trouble and exertion. This is a very dan-gerous means of crossing the stream, and is hardly suited for a person of avordupoids, consequently neither of the commissioners attempted a crossing. DO YOU DREAM OF GHOSTS!

Sometimes one dreams of seeing a ghost. Not a dead person appear-a to him as if in life and taken by the dream consciousness as living, but a ghost such as we read about in "croupy" stories such as furnishes the notive power for only bourds; dim bantous flitting through dreamland Don't be scared if you have such a fream; the mystles know all about these apparitions.
