Have Hard Time Mooring Airship

(By Associated Press).

PULHAM, Eng., Feb. 21—Experiments are shortly to be carried out at the aerodome here with the object of establishing the stability or otherwise of steel towers for moorings for big airships.

An attempt is being made to moor the Giant airship, R-33, sister dirigible to the trans-Atlantic flyer, R-34, to a steel tower 150 feet high.

If the experiments are successful, it will have a marked effect on the position of this class of aircraft for commerce cruisers, for it will mean the steel tower is likely to be the usual form of a station headquarters for the airship of the future.

The steel tower here, however, is only an experimental one, and not the highly developed tubular construction which the towers of the future are expected to be. A shaft runs up the tower and through this by means of pipes, the R-33 can be refuelled and re-gassed.

The R-34 was recently destroyed by a storm. The disaster was attributed by some aviation experts to a lack of a tower to which to moor the giant airship.

Legion Investigates Radical Hot Bed

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 21—The charges that the Puget Sound Navy Yard, at Bremerton, Wash., is a hot bed of radicalism, is being investigated by National headquarters of the American Legion, according to information received by officials of the Washington department of the ex-service men's organization.

The investigation started following a report by Robert A. La Roux, Legion national field organizer, who visited the Puget Sound yard after Washington Legionnaires alleged that practically all the navy yard foremen are Reds, and that they are discriminating against ex-service men in order to hire members of the communistic party.

"Of thirty seven men who were discharged recently at Bremerton, thirty five were veterans of the late world war," Mr. La Roux stated. "It seems that the Red foremen are hiring only men who are known to be radicals.

Lemuel Bolles, Legion national adjutant, proposes to ask for an investigation by the Naval Affairs Committee of congress, if the Legion probe bears out the contention of the Washington Legionnaires.

ARTERY IS SEVERED

MARSHFIELD, Feb. 20—"Tex" Vernon, a former prize fighter who is visiting at Ten Mile, was brought to Marshfield on the afternoon train from Ten Mile for medical assistance for a severed artery which he suffered in a gasoline fire scare this morning. He had lost considerable blood before he got aboard the afternoon train, which was flagged for him. Tom James found Dr. Richardson of Coquille aboard the train and they succeeded in staunching the flow of blood until he reached here.

Vernon and his wife were cleaning some clothes with gasoline in the woodshed. In some manner the gas can exploded. He dashed through the flames to his wife's assistance and stumbled on something and fell, the jagged can severing the artery in his arm. The fire was extinguished before much damage was done.

Vernon's real name is said to be Kilgore. He went to Ten Mile but a few days ago. He was pretty badly singed by the flames.

"Used Drugs for Constipation------ Now Internal Baths"

Mr. R. A. Denker of 4847 Langley Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes to the Tyrrell Hygienic Institute:

"I have used many kinds of drugs for Constipation but found only temporary relief. I have never used a drug for it since procuring the 'J. B. L. Cascade' five years ago. I cannot praise it too highly for what it has done for me."

The "J. B. L. Cascade" cleanses the lower intestine its entire length and keeps it always free of poisonous waste.

Thousands testify that Constipation, Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Biliousness, Headaches and all the many serious troubles which they cause are absolutely relieved and prevented by this Nature Treatment.

Nathan Fullerton, at Rexall Store, Perkins Bldg., Roseburg, will be glad to show you the "J. B. L. Cascade," explain its simple operation and will give you, free on request, an interesting little book by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, a noted specialist on Internal Bathing for 25 years in that city. Clip this out as a reminder to ask for the booklet at your first opportunity.

Movie Closeups

Have you ever climbed a ladder that rested in soft earth or on an unsteady foundation and felt it sway under you as you climbed upward?

This same illustration can be applied to the ladder of life. Before people start climbing upward to happiness or prosperity, or any other desirable state, they should first be certain that the ladder rests on a firm foundation, which will not give way and cause it to fall when they have nearly reached the top.

This, briefly, is the theme of Ethel Clayton's new Paramount Artcraft starring vehicle, "The Ladder of Lies," which will be shown at the Majestic for the last time tonight. In this production, Miss Clayton is seen as Edith Parrish, a young illustrator, who seeks to prevent Peter Gordon from climbing a ladder of happiness which is founded on the deceit and lies of the woman he has married. But the husband believes she is innocent and suspects, instead, the girl who is trying to help him.

The story is filled with interest and moral force, and culminates in a delightful and happy romance. Miss Clayton is supported by an excellent cast of players, which includes Clyde Fillmore, Jane Acker, Irving Cummings, Richard Sterling, and Ruth Ashby. Tom Forman directed and William Marshall was photographer.

At Age Seventy Three This Portland Man Has Gained 28 Pounds

"There is bound to be something unusual about a medicine that will make a man my age gain twenty-eight pounds," declared L. Gray, 284 East 87th St., South, Portland, in relating his remarkable experience with Tanlac.

"By taking Tanlac I have gotten rid of a case of rheumatism which had troubled me more or less for forty years. Two years ago I got so I couldn't walk a block, couldn't even get out of the yard. My whole system seemed to be affected and for a long time I couldn't move my hands, wasn't even able to put on my shoes, and I suffered so I could hardly keep from yelling out every time I tried to move. A pain would catch me in my back when I stooped over, and it hurt terribly when I straightened up. My muscles cramped and seemed like they were drawn in knots, and my kidneys bothered me a great deal.

"I had been told so many times that nothing could help me that I thought I would never be well again. But I finally decided to see what Tanlac would do for me and I have improved so much some of my friends hardly know me. Although I am now seventy-three I don't feel that old by a good many years, and this past summer I put in full time at my work, something I hadn't done in a long time." z

Tanlac is sold in Roseburg by W. F. Chapman, in Dixonville by John Hatfield and by leading druggists everywhere.

French Girl, Tennis Star, Coming to U. S.

By Henry L. Farrell,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—Suzanne Lenglen, the French tennis wizard, is practically sure to come to America this summer. She will compete in the woman's championship at Forest Hills, L. I., and will make an exhibition tour of the coast.

Americans will see in Mlle. Lenglen, perhaps the greatest girl player. Tennis critics who have seen the slim little girl on the courts declare that May Sutton is the only star that could approach her game.

Mlle. Lenglen is a great little advertiser. She was one of the banner attractions at the Olympic games last summer, and became noted, not only for her prowess on the court, but for her conquests with the opposite sex. She always entered the stadium late, and her presence was always heralded by an advance detatchment of her admirers who walked along the aisles with loud whispers of "Here comes the wonderful Mlle. Lenglen."

She followed them strutting like a queen. One afternoon she sauntered into the press box and was told by the gendarme that she could not remain unless she possessed a press badge. A flock of her suitors in her wake scowled at the gendarme and a Pom doy under each arm growled at him but he would not step aside. "I am the great Lenglen," she said almost scornfully.

"Ah, this is difwferent, you should tell me at once. Enter mademoiselle, said the gendarme with a low bow.

Mlle Lenglen however, has reasons for her little vanities. She shares with Georges Carpentier the honor of being almost a French God. Parisians think as much of her as they do of the great soldier hero.

The West Side tennis club is planning to build a new stadium at Forest Hills to accomodate the crowds that will attend the woman's championships and the Davis cup matches, and about 20,000 are expected daily and it is expected that the box office receipts will exceed $100,000.

Alleged Thieves Arrested in South

After several weeks in which they have been traced from one place to another, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chambers were yesterday placed under arrest at Monroe, Louisiana, and will be brought to this city as soon as possible on a charge of having stolen valuable property from the H. G. Wilson home in North Roseburg. Mr. Chambers and his wife were indicted by the grand jury which just concluded its investigations and upon being returned to this city will be arraigned at once in the circuit court.

It is alleged that before departing from Roseburg, where Mr. Chambers was employed with the S. P. company, they packed their trunks full of valuable dishes, clothing, and numerous other articles belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, whose house they occupied, and endeavored to make away with them. It is stated that the action was discovered by the caretaker of the house and the baggage was held here. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were called to this city and identified several hundred dollars worth of goods found in the trunks. Chambers and his wife were arrested in San Francisco, but because of delay in transmitting a warrant were released. They were traced to New Orleans and to other places in that vicinity until they were at last definitely located in Monroe, where they were arrested. Dave Shambrook will leave as soon as requisition papers are secured to bring them back to Roseburg for trial.
