ORIGINAL SCHEME
GOVT. PROPOSED

Scheme Calling For Irish Confederation Arouses Much Interest.

MORE PARTITION ASKED

Proposed Federal System May be Either Dominion or Republican —Ireland Should be Divided Into Forty Regions.

(By Associated Press).
CORK, Feb. 28.—An original scheme of government for Ireland, proposed by Professor Alfred O'- Rahilly, registrar of the University of Cork, is arousing great interest in Ireland. The correspondent has been informed that the plan has been endorsed by many men prominent in the Sinn Fein movement, in which Professor O'Rahilly is a recognized leader.

Briefly, the scheme calls for an Irish confederation and, according to Professor O'Rahilly, who discussed it at length in an interview with the correspondent, it provides the only solution of the northwest Ulster question.

Professor O'Rahilly is not opposed to the idea of partition. "Our proper attitude," he said, "should be to insist on more partition. Ireland should be divided not into two but into 40 regions. By tradition, instinct, faith and circumstance we ought to aim at decentralization and regionalism and uphold the sovereignty of the people.

"What many quite fair-minded Ulster business men fear is the possibility of an all-powerful central parliament in Dublin. And to tell the truth, Cork men are not really enthusiastic about a Dublin West-minister, nor are Connemara peasants likely to favor a central sovereign assembly controlling all the minutiae of Irish life.

"It's a mistake to think there is merely an Ulster problem. There are about 40 problems. We are heterogeneous people and to return to ourselves we must have far more local liberty and regional autonomy than is allowed in the ideal of a central parliament or two assemblies in Belfast and Dublin."

In Switzerland, he pointed out, there are 22 sovereign states differing in religion, language, size and economic position, although Switzerland is only half the size of Ireland.
"Every Irish country," he went on, "has as much right to partition as County Down or Belfast. The real objection to the partition act is that it doesn't give Belfast or Ulster enough local liberty and power. In an Irish confederation they ought to get far more.

The proposed federal system, Professor O'Rahilly said, might be either dominion or republican. There would be a federal assembly consisting of a national council and a council of counties.

Eddy Mentioned
For Senate Head

PORTLAND, Feb. 26.—The king is dead; long live the king! The 1921 legislature is dead and already "the boys" are discussing organization of the 1923 session.

The senators who will serve in the 1923 session by virtue of being holdovers are: R. L. Eddy, J. C. Smith, Charles Hall, W. G. Harv, R. L. Mc-Farrell, W. T. Home, C. W. Joseph, Jus C. Moser, Isaac E. Staples, J. R.
Nickelsen, Jay Upton, O. B. Robertson, Bruce Dennis, Charles Ellis and J. J. Edwards.

Those senators whose term expires are: Louis Lachmund, Alex La-Follett, F. H. Porter, W. L. Jones, John B. Bell, C. H. Thomas, I. L.
Patterson, W. T. Vinton, T. F. Ryan, John Gill, W. W. Banks, A. W. Norblad, C. R. Eberhard, B. W. Ritzer, and W. T. Strayer.

Fifteen of the 20 senators retire.
Of the fifteen holdovers, ten are members of the senate organization and five were in opposition to the organization.

Of the senators retiring, a number will undoubtedly try to come back unless something interferes with their plans. Among those expected to come up for re-election are senators Lachmund, LaFollett, Bell, Hyatt, Patterson, Vinton, Banks, Norblad, Eberhard and Strayer. Senator Ritzer, who has been president of the senate may prefer going into the house next time.

Among those being discussed as possible contenders for the presidency of the senate in the 1923 session are Senators Norblad, Hall, Farrell and Eddy. Of course, Norblad will have to be elected before he can become an active contender, but that incident does not interfere much with such plans as they may have for the presidency.

Senator Eddy was a contender against Senator Ritzer unsuccessfully and his name is being discussed The holdover senators who were in recent organizations are not likely to go to Eddy unless as a compromise.

Two years is a long time to wait, and many things may happen during that interim. Some of the other holdovers may feel the impulse to get into the race and may announce themselves.

IN PLEA FOR NEGLECTED MEN

Three Thousand Veterans From Legion Ranks Are Explaining Situation to American People.

John Thomas
Taylor.

Three thousand volunteer speakers from the ranks of the American Legion in every state are now carrying by word-of-mouth to the American people the Legion's story of the "suffering, shameful neglect and injustice" in the government's administration of the nation's debt to the disabled, which was contained in the formal memorial which the Legion presented to President Wilson.

The Legion aims to present to the people of the United States the facts regarding the disabled in the same language as they were presented to the officials of the government. The Legion's memorial was carried to the President at the White House by John Thomas Taylor, vice chairman of the Legion National Legislative committee. National Commander F. W. Galbraith, Jr., gave it to Senator Harding at Marion, where he had a long and important conference on the disabled situation with the next President.

The Legion denounces the present method of caring for the disabled as a "failure" which only can be remended by the entire reconstruction of the federal machinery dealing with the problem.

The functions of the three agencies, which deal with the problems of the disabled, the bureau of war risk insurance, the federal board for vocational education, and the United States public health service, "must be co-ordinated, their machinery decentralized and all three placed under common control," the memorial states.

As an equally essential remedy for existing conditions, the memorial urges the immediate appropriation for the use of the unified organization of a sum ample to build or rent a sufficient number of hospitals to take care of the 16,000 ex-service men who are unable to receive treatment at present because of lack of beds and shelter.

The "failure" of the government to afford justice to the sick and wounded veterans is attributed by the Legion to "an astonishing state of divided responsibility and wasted effort among the government agencies with which the problem rests."

The break in the chain of responsibility occurs, according to the memorial, as a result of the fact that the war risk bureau is under and responsible to an assistant secretary of the treasury, an officer of the executive branch of the government, while the federal board for vocational education is responsible only to congress, and is under control of the executive departments of the government.

The memorial asserts that the United States has been more liberal than any other nation in its provisions for the disabled soldiers, but that it has failed in large measure to make these provisions available in spite of the benefit of the experience of other nations in the recent war and the experience of this nation in previous wars.

"In the re-habilitation of a disabled man there are three needs—medical treatment, vocational training and financial support," the memorial states. "The government has recognized the three needs, but overlooks the fact that they are the summatous needs of one man, not of three different men or of one man at three different times. It makes three problems out of what really is one problem.

"Continuing this faulty conception, it has given the problem over to three agencies. All, by force of circumstances, are exercising functions they were not intended to exercise. This presents an amazing spectacle of administrative chaos, duplication, wasted energy and conflict, which is the key to the present condition.

"The result is the suffering of the disabled veterans. Thousands are waiting and have waited for months for compensation for their injuries.
Thousands have waited for months for an opportunity to re-establish themselves as self-sustaining members of society by vocational training.
Thousands are in need of hospitalization, and the government has no hospital facilities available for them. Of the 20,000 now in hospitals, 4,500 are quartered in institutions unsuited to the needs of the men quartered there.

New hospital cases are developing at the rate of 1,500 a month in excess of the number discharged. Sixteen thousand beds are the object of public and private charity. Afflicted and penniless veterans have been driven to refuge in almshouses and jails.
Many have died, and if immediate relief is not forthcoming, more will die destitute, without proper medical care, without compensation with which to obtain it, abandoned by the country they served. All this is attributable directly to the manner in which the government has administered the affairs of the disabled.

"The bureau of war risk insurance is responsible for the payment of compensation and for medical and hospital care of the man. Logically, this would involve establishing contact with the men at the time of their discharge from the military or naval service. It should then determine the existence and degree of disability and compensation on this basis.

"Due to the centralization of the bureau's forces in Washington, it is practically impossible under the present law to establish contact with the disabled man in the position of a man injured in industry who must see the company. He must carry on an involved and technical correspondence. It is usually months after he is dropped from the pay rolls of the army or navy before he is taken upon the pay roll of the bureau, even though his service discharge shows a definite degree of disability.
On November 29, 1920, 83,000 cases were pending in the bureau awaiting definite adjustment of compensation.
Thousands are suffering and many have died as a result of this neglect.

"The federal board for vocational training will accept the evidence of the bureau's medical files granting compensation as proof that a man is entitled to vocational training. The bureau, however, will not accept the evidence that the board has awarded training as proof that a man is entitled to compensation.

"If the veteran is receiving compensation and wants training, usually he must take another physical examination, administered by the board to determine whether the claimant has a vocational handicap entitling him to training pay, or merely a compensa-ble disability granting him training only. If the veteran is not receiving compensation, due to delay by the bureau, he must be examined by the board, to determine his eligibility for training, as well.

"When a man enters training with training pay, his compensation stops and he is shifted from the pay roll of the bureau to the pay roll of the board. The board, which was created as a training agency only, has become a compensating agency as well.
Many men have been kept on the pay roll of the board, not as a training measure solely, but as a measure of financial relief which they were entitled to, but unable to obtain from the bureau.

"When a man is dropped from training he is supposed to be dropped from the pay roll of the board and taken up by the bureau. On both shifts there is delay. The average length of time for a man to be dropped from the bureau pay roll and taken up on the board pay roll is about three weeks. The average time required for the second shift back to the bureau pay roll is two months. No provision is made for the man's maintenance during these interims. In the majority of cases a man must undergo a new physical examination before the bureau will again pay him compensation. In other words, he must again prove his claim.

"The position of the United States public health service is peculiar. It took its place in the re-habilitation scheme poorly equipped for the work it was to perform, but was apparently the best medical governmental agency then available. It acts as an agent both of the bureau and the board, but is responsible to no authority common to both board and bureau, because there is no such authority.

"In view of this condition the remarkable thing about the present rehabilitation program is, that it has accomplished what little it has. Such progress as has been made is a tribute to the sincerity of the men in the bureau, the board and the public health service who generally have made the best of an impossible situation.

"The best of this impossible situation, however, has been insufficient always. This is particularly true regarding hospitalization.

"Of the 20,000 men now in hospitals, 4,500 are in institutions which are unfit because suitable hospital facilities are not available."

"The Legion avers that 16,000 beds are needed at once. Of this number, 1,500 are necessary for transfer of tu-bercular patients from present unsatisfactory hospitals, and 8,000 for transfer of neuro-psychiatric patients from the inadequate lodgings which they occupy now. The number of tu-bercular cases in need of immediate hospitalization is estimated to be 6,500 and the neuro-psychiatric cases at 5,000. Beds are also required for about 800 general medical and surgical cases.

The statistics above are based on statements from the following sources: Public health service, Dr.
Thomas W. Salmon of New York, medical director national committee for mental hygiene; bureau of war risk insurance, Dr. T. Victor Keene of Indianapolis, member, American Legion hospitalization committee.

RECIPES FOR WAFFLES.
Nothing makes a more delicious breakfast than waffles, when made properly.
Following will be found a good recipe for waffles, and if followed you will be able to sit down to one of the finest waffle breakfasts you ever enjoyed:
First—Visit Uhlig's Electric Store and purchase a Universal Electric Waffle Iron. They are made of aluminum, which prevents the waffles from sticking. They are also equipped with two electric elements which bake both sides of the waffle at the same time.
After securing your Universal Electric Waffle Iron and you are ready to make your waffles, the following will be found useful: 1 1/2 cups level pastry flour, 2 teaspoon fuls baking powder, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, four tablespoonfuls melted butter, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs. Add beaten yolk to milk, flour, baking powder, salt and butter. Add stiffly beaten whites last.
Place waffle iron on the table and as soon as hot fill with dough and sit down to the table, for you will find that the waffles will be baked as fast as can be eaten, and you will find that you can always have hot waffles on your plate.

TO HOLD CORDIAL RELATIONS Legion Representatives in Attendance at Recent Formation of Inter-Allied Veterans' Association.

American Legion representatives took an active part in the formation of the Inter-Allied Veterans' association in Paris recently. The association is composed of delegates from the Union Nationale des Combattants of France, the Comrades of the Great War of Great Britain, the Federation Nationale des Combattants of Belgium, the Associazione Nazionale Combattenti of Italy, Druzina of Czechoslovakia and the American Legion.

The primary purpose of the organization is to preserve the cordial relations between the nations associated in the war on the allied side. As one means of accomplishing this it is proposed that the membership card of each society shall be recognized by the societies in all the nations represented in the association.

The delegates who attended the Paris conference have been instructed to report back to their respective organizations the details of the amalgamation. Paris was merely the starting point, from which veterans of the World War may form their own League of Nations.

The committee which represented the American Legion at the Paris conference included Cabot Ward and Arthur W. Kipling of Paris Post No. 1; Norman C. Coster, department adjutant of France; E. Sadler and W. H. A.
Coleman of London post; Edmond L.
Gros, George A. Dunagin and E. J.
Seligman.
