Oregonians Pay Heavy Per Capita Tax According to Report of Tax Commission

SALEM, May 10.—Direct taxes paid toward the support of the state of Oregon and its various political subdivisions this year average $52.49 for every man, woman and child within the state, according to statistics compiled by the state tax commission's office here. The per capita tax for 1920, records in this office show, was $41.70.

The per capita tax for this year is based upon a total tax of $41,117,367.71 which will be paid by owners of Oregon property this year, an increase of $3,320,672.68, or approximately 32 per cent, over the total tax of $32,596,695.03 collected in Oregon in 1920.

There is, however, little opportunity for "passing the buck" on the increase in the size of the taxes as the records show that the big end of the grand total was authorized by action of the people themselves.

In fact of the grand total of the annual tribute levied upon the tax payers this year only $14,489,371.80 is listed as regular taxes levied within the 6 per cent limitation, whereas $26,627,995.91 is shown as special taxes authorized either by direct vote of the people themselves or by their legally constituted representatives.

For instance, of the total of $9,493,105.22 which will be paid into the coffers of the state this year only $3,394,846.56 comes within the constitutional limitations while $6,098,258.66 was authorized by vote of the people as follows: Special levy for the University of Oregon, $1,044,655.47; special levy for the Oregon Agricultural college, $1,292,873.95;

special levy for the state normal school, $121,876.47; special two mill levy for support of elementary schools, $2,018,678.10; special levy for soldiers' educational aid fund, $416,335.62; market roads, $1,040,839.05.

An aggregate of $5,350,605.52 levied for county purposes is listed as regular taxes, but special taxes levied by cities and towns within these same counties aggregate $7,175,633.58.

A total of $12,064,034.84 will be paid in for the support of public schools of the state in addition to the $2,081,678.10 provided by the state levy. Of this amount only $3,063,221.60 comes within the constitutional limitation where $9,000,813.24 is special taxes voted by the people themselves.

Road work, in addition to bond issues, will require $3,758,191.50 in taxes this year, of which amount $2,671,237.12 is within the 6 per cent limitation and $1,086,954.38 are special taxes authorized either by the county courts or the taxpayers. In addition to this amount $1,027,026.58 will be paid into the market road fund as a special tax authorized by the county courts of the various counties to meet state funds.

The port commissioners of the seven ports in Oregon have created levies requiring the payment of an aggregate of $912,280.49, which is in reality a special tax upon the property of the port districts and authorized either directly or indirectly by vote of the people of these districts.
