THREE COUNTIES WATCHING ACTION DOUGLAS COUNTY ON ROAD BOND ISSUE PLAN

County Ready to Grab State Funds If Douglas County Voters Fail to Take Advantage of Offer Made by State Highway Commission.

Three counties will watch eagerly the returns from next Tuesday's election in Douglas county to ascertain the disposition of the voters of that county regarding the proposed $1,000,000 road bond issue. Lane county will watch with the secret hope that the Douglas county voters will vote down the project, for Lane county is not making time in the march of progress but is doing a quickstep in giving to the county and to the city of Eugene the prestige and the city of Roseburg the opportunity which has been grasped as they were seated.

Coos and Curry counties will watch to learn whether or not they will be given a close outlet to the Pacific highway by way of Douglas county or whether they are to be forced to accept a second best route to go out by way of Eugene. Certain it is that if Douglas county fails to grasp the opportunity presented, the county will lose no time in turning up what Douglas county voters.

Attorney J. C. Kendall, one of Coos county's most influential attorneys, has been spending the past few days in Roseburg attending to legal matters, states that the Coos Bay voters are anxiously waiting the returns on Douglas county. Coos county has before them a measure worth $1,000,000 to be used exclusively to work on the Roseburg-Myrtle Point road, to match the $1,000,000 asked from Douglas county and the sum the Highway Commission has promised. Attorney Kendall states that the Coos county voters will go over with little opposition and the people of the neighboring county are extremely anxious for an outlet be provided through Douglas county.

Lane county is working earnestly for the outlet for these counties by the Siuslaw river route and in the event Douglas county refuses the unanimous agreement to cooperate the money will doubtless go to Lane county for its pet project and Douglas county will get not only the $200,000 but what is infinitely more precious the trade and market opportunity now proffered. This latter loss would be much greater than the mere monetary consideration, but if the vote is once established by way of Lane county, a million dollars would not pay Douglas county for its failure to connect up. The Coos county people are willing to do their share, which is considerably more than the Douglas county people are asked to do.

Mr. Kendall says that Lane county has already made advances to the Coos and Curry county people looking for an outlet by way of the Siuslaw river road. It is also a well known fact that Lane county is putting forth every effort to secure money for the Siuslaw river project which should go on the Roseburg-Myrtle Point highway, particularly for the service money, which is being held up pending the outcome of the bond issue election.

Robbing Country Stores Pays Better Than City Jobs Says Professional Burglar

There is more money and less danger in robbing country farm stores than there is in trying to pull off a job in the city, according to a professional burglar, who was arrested Tuesday night while in the act of robbing the Roseburg store and post office. Deputy U. S. Marshal Howard P. Gresham has a full statement in U. S. District Attorney Fennell, who was in Roseburg yesterday in his state. He was not contented with having kicked the burglar out through the roof of the store, but after his arrest there was a charge of stealing government supplies from a forest ranger station and also admitted a postoffice and store robbery at Bandon and also one in Northern California. His arrest at Hood River occurred about a year ago and his robbery at Bandon occurred last winter.

Haines says he started out in life to be a stickup artist. His first haul netted him 35 cents. Then for some reason or another people stopped carrying money on their persons and even the most prosperous looking individual had less than $5 and getting blackjacking a dozen or more and getting less than $1 each. Haines says he became disgusted and started out as a safe cracker and store robber.

Pillagers Rob Shacks of Negroes

(By United Press.)
TULSA, Okla., June 3.—Pillagers robbing the shacks in the negro quarters are giving a new problem. Numerous thefts were reported, even pianos being taken. General Barnett, in charge of the troops, is centralizing the negro property for identification. Martial law, slackened following a quiet day, was made more strict. Revised estimates of the casualties are 30 killed and 300 wounded. A multiplication of the reports of officers was responsible for the report that 170 had been killed. The negroes are back at their menial tasks, though they are not at ease. The citizens are dispatching supplies to the needy negroes.

(By Associated Press.)

Peggy's Jewels Seized By Officers

(By United Press.)
CHICAGO, June 3.—The New York customs office today seized a million dollars worth of jewels belonging to Peggy Joyce, the beautiful actress, pending an investigation as to whether she smuggled them into this country. Party Leaders Unite on Bill

(By United Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 3.—The republicans and democrats today united to extend the scope of the Borah disarmament amendment to the naval appropriation bill. Democratic Leader Garrett gave notice of his endeavor to pass the motion and instructing the house conferees to insist on a broadening of the Borah proposal.

After several jobs he discovered that the small stores were the easiest. There usually was a pretty good sized roll of money, especially in stores where the post office was conducted jointly with the mercantile business. There very seldom was a safe and it was an easy matter to locate the coin. Haines says this work netted him a very handsome profit and as he kept to the forests and the mountain trails he was seldom seen and little suspicion was directed toward him.

He denies ever having been in the penitentiary but it is believed that he has served time on previous occasions. He was arraigned this morning before U. S. Commissioner George J. Fox on two counts, one for his robbery of the Dixonville store and the other for his job at Hood River. He waived examination and was placed under $3,000 bonds, $2,000 being for his robbery in this county and $1,000 for his trick at Hood River.

Defendants Win Lumber Case

The case of the Yreka Lumber Company vs. the Lyall-Staveland Lumber Company which occupied the last three days of circuit court, was decided yesterday afternoon adversely to the plaintiffs. The case was one in which the Yreka Lumber Company was suing for $181,250 for damages alleged to be due for failure of the defendant company to fill lumber contracts. The plaintiffs alleged that a series of letters introduced into evidence constituted a contract, while the defendants claimed that the order was not accepted and that no specifications were filed within a reasonable length of time following the request for lumber shipments. Considerable technical information was introduced and the case was quite prolonged. The jury, however, returned its verdict for the defendant with only a short deliberation. Attorney Porter J. Neff, and Attorney Carl Wimberly of this city represented the plaintiffs and Attorney Neuner the defendants. This case concluded the jury trials and the jury members were excused until June 8, at which time court will convene again for the purpose of hearing the case of the State of Oregon against Floyd Romaine, charged with first degree murder.

TARIFF GIVES GREATER IMPETUS TO WOOL TRADE; OREGON PRODUCTS INCLUDED

Values Unchanged—Demand is Moderate—Improvement Shown—Values are Maintained In All Foreign Primary Markets Says Dispatch Today.

BOSTON, Mass., June 3.—(Special)—The imminence of the tariff seems to have given the market an impetus during the last two or three days. At any rate several of the larger worsted manufacturers have been in the market and have taken fair weights of wool, so that the total turnover has been a respectable one, although early in the week there was no unusual interest shown in wool.

Undoubtedly the fact that the tariff is to become a law so quickly has influenced the clothing trade to reorder more or less and has encouraged manufacturers themselves to cover their requirements more or less against contracts which they already had, but against which they perhaps feared cancellation if the emergency tariff failed of passage.

There is no reason to say that prices have advanced any during the week; on the contrary, values appear to have remained generally as they were and in a few instances lower quotations are being given than were formerly ruling. Some of the Western growers, who have had wool in the hands of Eastern dealers on commission, are said to have ordered their wools sold in order that they might determine their exact status, and where such orders have been given, naturally the market has not shown signs of strength.

The demand has been of a general nature during the last few days, including some little carpet wool in addition to that sold by the government, at auction recently, besides which there has been a good call for medium to fine grades, although the call for Australian wools has been less pronounced.

Oregon Wool Sold.
There has been a call for territory wools both of short and long staple. One lot of Oregon fine staple wool is reported to have been sold at a clean basis of about 73 cents for fair wool, but of heavy shrinkage. The rest in the grease is understood to have been about 22 to 23 cents. Other holders of fine staple territory are wanting more money for their wools, however, and it doubtless would be possible to get well up towards 80 cents clean basis for really choice graded fine staple Oregon and for wools of the Montana type 80 to 85 cents.

Wools of the fine and fine medium description of French combing length like the new Arizona wools have been selling at around 70 cents clean basis for the better lots, which means 28 to 27 cents in the grease. Some very sort or clothing wools, so called have been sold on a clean basis of about 60 to 62 cents.

Demand Moderate.
The call for medium wools has moved some three-eighths and quarter-blood wools at about 20 cents, clean basis, for the higher and 40 cents, clean basis, for the lower grade wool; that is, the three-eighths combing wools brought about 23 cents and the quarter-blood around 20 to 22 cents in the grease.

There has been a fairly large movement in foreign three-eighths wools (55s combing) in the last two weeks part of which were noted in the last letter. These wools have been selling at about 43 to 45 cents, clean basis, or 27 to 28 cents in the grease. Scoured wools, both fine and medium have been in moderate demand, and have pulled wools, also, with prices firm.

Western Operations Spread.
There has been rather more buying of the new clip reported through the West during the last week also, especially in Utah and Nevada, where

Congress Will Take Up Racial Question

(By United Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 3.—The leaders of both houses of congress today declared that congressional action on the American racial question would be speeded as a result of the Tulsa riots. No investigation such as followed the labor dispute riots in East St. Louis is expected, but the two bills in congress will be pressed for early action. Representative Dyer, of Missouri, wants the negro protected from lynching under the 14th amendment, punish lynchers for murder, and fine the county where the lynching occurred $10,000. Senators Spencer of Missouri, and Clark of Illinois, have a plan to afford protection in other ways. This bill has the support of the president. There are many opponents of the Dyer plan as it invades the state police power. The president took cognizance of the race question in his first message to congress.

Five Are Killed In County Cork

(By United Press.)

FAVORS ROAD BOND.
The Riddle Enterprise in yesterday's edition carried a big front page column concerning the road bond issue to be voted on next Tuesday. The Enterprise comes out heartily in favor of the measure and advances good logical arguments in the support of it. The Riddle community are back of the measure almost solidly it is said.
