France's Future May Rest With Fight's Result

By WEBB MILLER

(United Press Staff Correspondent) PARIS, (By Mail.)—Whether he wins or loses Carpentier's fight with Dempsy eventually will be a big actor in future military defence of France—and even her material prosperity.

This is the novel view taken by Caston Vidal, Under-Secretary of Technical Instruction in Physical Culture and Sports, the first official Minister of Sports to be appointed by any government in the world.

"After the enormous losses in the war it is a vital necessity for France to rebuild her depleted man-power if she is to effectively defend herself in any future wars of aggression. As you know, the birth-rate in France is not sufficiently above the deathrate to provide an inexhaustible supply of man-power. France's birthrate is much lower than her neighbors—especially that of Germany.

"Therefore, it is necessary that France do her utmost to conserve the few we have and keep the people in good health and physical fitness for service in our armies—if the need ever arises.

"Unfortunately France has always been far behind other nations—including Germany—in physical culture and sports which go to raise the average physical fitness of the nation. That is one reason the re-scent Ministry of Sports was created.

"That the French people can become as adept as any other people in sports and physical culture has been effectively proved. I have only to cite Carpentier, Lenglen, Vermeulen to illustrate that point.

"The problem remains to interest the French people as a whole in athletics. The rest will be automatic.
"Here is where the value of the fight of George Carpentier against Dempsy becomes apparent. The attention of France will be fixed in an unprecedented way upon physical athletics—that fight will plant the germ of interest which the Ministry of Sports hopes to develop. For his reason this single fight may have an incalculable effect upon the future physical development of France as a nation—and therefore her defense if it ever becomes necessary.

"As for the material prosperity of France—that is also affectable in its way. When the physical standards of the masses are raised it will not be necessary to keep young men in training in the army classes each year so long. That will permit men to go back to their normal employment months sooner and thus increase France's powers of production.

"We regard Carpentier as the flag-bearer of all French athletics and French physical culture."

The Ministry of Sports is already offering inducements for proficiency in athletics to encourage the growth of sports.

VAGARIES OF ANIMAL LIFE.

In the hottest climates wild animals are easiest of approach by man.
The deer is furnished with supplementary breathing places in addition to the nostrils.

Both mandibles of the parrot's beak are movable, but most birds are only able to move one.

The elephant has so acute a sense of smell that it can detect a human being at a distance of 100 yards.

The frog, owing to its peculiar structure, cannot breathe with the mouth open and were it forcibly kept open the animal would die of suffocation.

Dogs and horses can take ten times as much morphine, considering their relative body weight, as an safely be administered to a man.

Hares, horses and giraffes are better able to see objects behind them, without turning their heads, than are any other quadrupeds.

The camel's hump serves as an emergency ration. If deprived of food for several days the animal falls back on the fat of its hump, which then gradually disappears before the limbs are perceptibly reduced.

The rhinoceros, notwithstanding its unwieldy shape and short legs, is one of the most agile of beasts.
A horseman can scarcely manage to overtake it, and in strength it is scarcely surpassed by any animal.

U. S. TUBES

The same standard of quality built into U. S. Tires is put into U. S. Tubes.

Why some men seem to have all the tire luck —

YOU probably know a man whose car is a hobby with him. He knows just why it's the best little old car there is of its class.

And he'll stand up for that car against the world in any kind of an argument.

Year by year an increasing number of men feel the same way about U. S. Tires.

For a while they may try "job lot" stuff, "bargains," "big discounts" and "rebates."

But usually it doesn't take long for a man to sense the economy of the standard quality tire.

For years U. S. Tire makers have been building quality tires for sane tire users—for the car of medium or light weight no less than for the heavy car.

The tire buyers of the land have responded with a mighty U. S. Tire following.

The U. S. Tire makers meet the responsibility for supplying this nationwide following with characteristic energy.

Ninety-two U. S. Factory Branches are established, covering the entire country.

Find the U. S. Tire dealer who has the intention of serving you. You will know him by his full, completely sized line of fresh, live U. S. Tires—quality first, and the same choice of size, tread and type as in the biggest cities of the land.
