Council Disposes of Minor Matters

Aside from the consideration of the bridge project and the telephone rate raising, the council had little important business at its regular meeting last night. A. J. Lilburn appeared and asked that the construction of the sewer in Laurelwood be hastened as several people are desiring to build houses there at once. S. E. Krohn and Mrs. Haynes, the former a property owner of Flesher street and Mrs. Haynes a property owner on Rose street, were given time in which to make payments for improvements. Mr. Krohn said that he had not been notified of the paving in front of his property in time to bond his property. An agreement was reached for the use of the city in front of Mrs. Haynes' property, and she was given additional time in which to pay.

A jitney license was granted to Ralph Howard. A bill of the Brundage Brothers for the sidewalks forced in by the city on the Marks and Haynes property on Rose street, was allowed in the sum of $489.66. City Attorney Wimberly reported that the Cardwell sidewalk, which the city forced in had been paid for by the property owners. A resolution urging congress to station the Battleship Oregon at Portland for the use of the Oregon Naval Militia, was unanimously adopted. The mayor reported that a lease on the Cardwell section of the auto camp ground had been obtained for a period of three years. A bill for $25, for work on South Stephens street was ordered paid. The amended plans for the Laurelwood sewer were adopted and the recorder instructed to give notice of the intention to build the sewer. A petition of Hall and Sons for permission to place a canvas sign across Winchester street in front of their garage was allowed for a period of sixty days. The ordinance for paving Lilburn street and Madrone avenue in Laurelwood was passed upon third reading.

GORDON SETHER GIVES PARTY.

Gordon Sether, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Sether, entertained a number of his boy friends yesterday afternoon in honor of his eleventh birthday. The afternoon was spent with various games, after which a delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Sether. Those enjoying the little party were Raymond and Maynard Bell; William Monroe, Hall Seely, Merrill Ritter, Fred Rice, Howard Shaw, George Churchill and the host, Gordon Sether.

Park Bridge Practically Abandoned

(Continued from Page One) days were to be allowed for the city to act on a bridge. It was shown however, that no matter what action the city should take, the county court is now bound by this petition to proceed with the road. Mrs. Bryant presented a map and chart showing a proposed under-grade crossing at the site of the former bridge. This map showed the possibility of tunnelling under the railroad tracks. In this case to cut down the height of the first pier and a steep grade would constitute the approach. This was deemed impractical on account of the high water which would cover the crossing during a portion of each winter. Several projects were discussed but as the situation now exists the proposal of new plans is practically useless. Two letters were introduced, one from President Sproule, of the S. P., and one from A. T. Meeker. Both officials state that the company is unchangeably opposed to a grade crossing and that it will not commit itself in regard to an undergrade or overgrade crossing. Mayor Hamilton, stated emphatically that the city will do nothing to antagonize the railroad company, and that consequently it will not build the bridge at the old site. He stated that the city has not money enough to build the bridge alone, and as the county court has now taken the preliminary steps to start the road, that the project might as well be given up.

Says Baseball Game Sunday Was a Tie

W. S. Hogan, the Oakland barber, telephoned this office today that the report of the baseball game at Oakland Sunday between a team of that city and Riddle resulted in a tie, after 11 innings had been played. Mr. Hogan says he was one of the three umpires of the Sunday game and that they decided when the going sounded for the last half of the last inning that the boys broke fifty-fifty on the score.

Farmers Urged to Express Want

In order that the American Farm Bureau federation leaders may know that the farmers of the country in general are directing their activities we are asking that meetings be called by the local chairman immediately in every organized community and a vote taken on the various measures submitted in the June number of the Douglas County Farm Bureau Monthly.

These measures make up a part of the National Farm Bureau program and with your backing of these, the federation leaders will be able to carry more weight when they work for legislation to put this program into effect. In unorganized communities each individual should vote by postal, sending same to the county agent's office. In case any one is unable to decide on these measures, Mr. Mansfield will explain each one in detail Saturday, June 25, at the farm bureau picnic. Everyone, whether farm bureau members or not is urged to attend this picnic as subjects of great interest will be discussed by C. E. Spence, master of the state grange, and by Mr. Mansfield, president of the state farm bureau.

Many people are saying that the work now carried on by the farm bureau federation should have been done years ago. Well, it was started but lack of support on the part of those for whom the work was being done caused it to have its ups and downs. The farmer of today is awake to his situations as no others of the past have been. Leaders such as never before have been obtainable are now on the job and are seeking to put agriculture on a stable basis.

Among other matters to be discussed at Saturday's meeting, will be the results of the "Marketing Conference," held at Corvallis last week. This in itself, would justify anyone in making Saturday, June 25, a special day to be at the picnic, for it is not a question of production that is bothering the farmers of Douglas county today, but it is one of proper marketing.

FRED A. GOFF, Pres. Douglas County Farm Bureau.

W. H. Smith, of Sutherlin, came to Roseburg this morning and spent a few hours attending to business matters.

The Water Spider.

A correspondent of English Country Life describes a peculiar spider that lives under water the greater part of its life. It builds a dome-like nest of silk among weeds in ponds and ditches, and fills the nest with air. In that strange house it lives and lays its eggs. In autumn it makes another nest at a greater distance below the surface of the water, and, having sealed itself inside, it sleeps until spring. Taken out of the water, the spider looks like any other, but as soon as it is put back, the bubble of air that it collects round it body makes it look like a ball of quicksilver. It is the only spider that has taken to a wholly aquatic life, says the writer.

Thousands have seen the play and millions more will now have an opportunity to see the photoplay, founded on the novel and the play, with Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, the noted comedian, in the title role, when it is shown at the Antler's Theatre tonight.

Brewster succeeds in spending the million, but loses the big proposition when he breaks the rules by marrying the girl. But the girl has wisely invested enough of the original million to save the day, and all ends happily. Betty Ross Clark is the girl.
