Entered as second-class matter May 17, 1920, at the post office at Roseburg, Oregon, under the Act of March 2, 1879.

ROSEBURG, ORE. GON. JUNE 27, 1921.

SHARPER AND THEIR PREY.

That pawnbrokers and other money lenders in Portland are "approaching ex-service men with tenders of ready money in exchange for an assignment of their bonus claims" under the new war veterans' said aid act, is a statement made by Henry Boyd, president of Post 1 of the American Legion, says the Portland Sunday Journal.

Mr. Boyd relates one instance in which an ex-service man has already assigned his claim to a Portland pawnbroker in exchange for but 50 per cent of its value. It was in an effort to prevent sharpers from preying upon ex-service men that Mr. Boyd laid the facts before Governor Olcott and Secretary of State Kozler, Thursday, and urged them, as members of the state aid board, to promulgate a rule whereby the commission would refuse to recognize any assignments of bonus claims.

Here is confirmation of the contention of the Journal that members of the American Legion would be steadfast in insisting that the law should be administered in a way to uphold the integrity of the act and in a manner to uphold the honor of the Legion. President Boyd is leading the way, and it will be found that his hand will be upheld by the mass of Legion membership.

Meanwhile, public sentiment will give short thrift to cormorants who seek to prey upon the service men or to debauch and demoralize a law that was passed in a sacred cause and under motives of the highest patriotism. Service men and others should make public the proposals of these birds of prey, and nip in the bud all the practices for a cunning and parasitical abuse of the bonus law.

The bonus act is the personification of a people's gratitude. Society has no parasites more degraded than those men who would make merchandise and coin disgusting dividends out of a people's honorable effort to recognize the young men who suffered and sacrificed.

OVERDOING CONSERVATION.

One of the most popular movements in this country was that for the conservation of resources. Back in President Roosevelt's term it was recognized that the American people had scattered their boundless wealth with spendthrift hands. They had slaughtered their forests with wasteful cutting, given away valuable lands for a song, etc. It was a fine and noble movement to stop this prodigality. Yet it has often seemed as if the people had become so afraid that someone would make a dollar, that they had tied up many resources so no one could touch them.

Take the case of Alaska. Here is a rich reserve of natural resources. But the people became so fearful that monopolists would get hold of these resources, that they have locked them up under government control. They are not being developed. Where there were 36,400 people in Alaska in 1910, the number had decreased to 27,883 in 1920. Of the natural resources of the country 98 per cent belong to the government and only two per cent to private parties. People have not been willing to go up there to develop the country, because of the popular fear that someone would make some money. So the country is deprived of resources and products it might have.

Such resources should be handled judiciously, so that monopolists would not make exorbitant profits. But people will not put funds into development, unless there is some return for enterprise and risk. The same condition exists in regard to natural resources in various states of the union. The people do not want their wealth squandered, but they want it developed so the present generation can have some good out of it.

The Cranford Club, of Cranford, Rhode Island, seems to have the right idea about promoting neatness. It has hired a man to pick up the litter in the streets. It has personally solicited tenants of houses to keep their yards and sidewalks clean, and it has raised money to pay the cost of keeping the surroundings of public property in good order. A tenant or house owner who maintains a disorderly place should be solicited by someone to keep it cleaned up. It is for the real estate owner's interest to attend to that, but some fail to do it. If the civic organizations would take up the matter and offer prizes for the most improvement in private grounds, and urge those who keep disorderly places to co-operate a big improvement could be made around some unattractive homes.

Some people have peculiar ways of sharpening their wits. A woman at Stayton, Oregon, swallowed a jack knife, five inches long with the blade open. She should be "pinched" for carrying concealed weapons.

An Illinoisian regained his sanity when he had all his teeth pulled, but it is not believed having a tooth pulled will ever become a popular craze.

The soviet government is "the strongest in Europe," says Washington Vanderlip, thus confirming the suspicion that it needs a disinfectant.

The idea, it seems, is for Mr. Dempsey to land in such a way as to make Mr. Carpentier regret the day he landed.

The comet's tail failed to sweep the earth Sunday—though the earth needed a cleaning in several spots.

EXTEND WAGE REDUCTION.
 By Associated Press
 CHICAGO, June 27.—The United States railroad labor board today extended its wage reduction order, effective July 1, to practically every large railroad in the country. No change is made from the average 12 per cent reduction granted 164 carriers June 1, it was made by today's decision. The new order will affect 210 roads throughout the United States.

Good Price For Douglas Heifer

Some people still believe that the world is flat; others that it does not pay to advertise; others that money spent on education is wasted; some farmers and stockmen take the attitude that it does not pay to improve the breed of livestock. This is not a general rule, however, in these times. Among our local stockmen who believe in improving the breed of their herds is Emery T. Smith, who has proof positive that this practice pays. For several years Mr. Smith has been raising high class Jersey stock, and his herd has produced some fine specimens of this breed. At a recent Jersey sale one of Mr. Smith's heifers sold for $600. This animal has the poetical name of Buttercup of Silver Hills. At the same stock show her daughter, Buttercup Riottress, brought $210, though a little over a year old. In addition to this showing Mr. Smith has bred other valuable animals. A bull from his herd has been taking prizes at the leading stock shows in California for several years.—Myrtle Creek Mail.

Father Attempts Take Own Life

MYRTLE POINT, Ore., June 25.—Bruno Lang, rancher, attempted to commit suicide at Myrtle Point during the night while his wife was giving birth to a child at their farm home outside the city. Lang is in the hospital and may die as the result of losing blood from a deep gash he cut in his wrist with a razor. After calling a doctor after midnight to attend his wife Lang suddenly disappeared. The mystery created a good deal of excitement and Lang was found about 9 o'clock this morning. Lang was taken to the Pemberton hospital. He had lost so much blood it is questionable whether or not he will survive, though he has some chance. Once he regained consciousness, but not sufficiently to talk of the attempted suicide. Apparently Lang had inflicted the wound on himself shortly after leaving the doctor's office. It was believed that he had lain in the brush all night. This morning Mrs. Lang had not yet been informed of the plight of her husband.

Rate Schedule Is Made Public

SALEM, Ore., June 21.—The state industrial accident commission, in a statement prepared here today, set out the new rates to be paid injured workmen who are protected under the workmen's compensation act. The new schedule will become effective July 1, under a new law enacted at the last session of the legislature. The new rates, as summarized by the commission, follows:

Single man, minimum per month, $30; maximum per month, $55.
 Man and wife, minimum per month, $40; maximum per month, $65.
 Man, wife and one child, minimum per month, $40; maximum per month, $72.
 Man and wife and two children, minimum per month, $40; maximum per month, $81.
 Man, wife and three children, minimum per month, $40; maximum per month, $89.
 Man, wife and four children, minimum per month, $40; maximum per month, $97.

If the wages are lower than the minimum rates, actual wages apply as a minimum rate.

Intermediate rates are: Married workman, 40 per cent; married workman, 48 per cent; married workman with one child, 53 per cent; married workman with two children, 63 per cent; and married workman with four children 66 2-3 per cent.

WILL HAVE GOOD CROPS.

Crops are looking fine in this section now. The farmers are cutting an immense hay crop and will have some grain to harvest later on. Corn is beginning to grow nicely now and prunes, peaches and apples are coming strong. Times are going to be all right, and people should swallow their loss through the recent skid toward normalcy, and smile, take up their belts another notch, and work like blazes to make things come to pass, and bye and bye everything will be running smoothly. Myrtle Creek is one of the best locations in the old U. S. A. and we have a bunch of folks here who compare favorably with the best of any other community.—Myrtle Creek Mail.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all of the friends who so kindly assisted us during the illness and after the death of our beloved relative, Mrs. Eva Gilder. We wish to especially thank them for the many beautiful floral offerings.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL

Richard E. Haworth, who was injured on June 7, as a result of a fall from a loaded hay rack, died Saturday at the Mercy hospital, as a result of a ruptured spleen. An operation was performed following his fall but he was unable to recover from the injury. The body was shipped to Drain Saturday night and the funeral was held yesterday.

OREGON MYRTLE STANDS TESTS

Disc of Wood From Coos County Weathers Blows, of Speakers Gavel.

OTHERS SPLINTERED

Discs of Other Woods or of Marble Broken and Splintered Under Heavy Blows, But Myrtle Remains Intact.

(News-Review Washington Bureau.)
 WASHINGTON, June 27.—Speaker Gillett and house members who preside over the committee of the whole have at last found something which will not crumble into fragments under the powerful blows of the house gavel. The newly discovered treasure is nothing less than a disc of hard wood from an Oregon forest—the heart of a Coos Bay myrtle tree.

It was presented to Representative McArthur when he was speaker of the Oregon legislature in 1909 after he had smashed a score of marble slabs and oak blocks and was used during the latter part of that session and also during Mr. McArthur's second term as speaker in 1913. It was presented by a Coos county friend who also gave Mr. McArthur a beautiful gavel of the same material. A few days ago when Mr. McArthur was presiding over the house he wielded the gavel with such force as to split the walnut pounding block into a dozen pieces. He immediately thought of the Oregon myrtle disc which was reposing in a bookcase at his Washington residence and on the following day presented it to Speaker Gillett. The speaker and several temporarily presiding officers have delivered countless sledge hammer blows upon the face of the disc without making a dent and its resonant qualities are superior to ordinary wood or marble.

Breaking and splintering the pounding boards and blocks on the speaker's desk has become a habit with the presiding officers of the house, but it looks as though the Coos Bay myrtle disc has them guessing. Mr. McArthur says he hates to part with the disc, but feels that it was serving no useful purpose until recently pressed into service. His gavel, affectionately known as "Lizite," is dearer to his heart than the disc and he wouldn't part with it for love or money.

Man Is Arrested And Is Released

Theodore Wimmer was arrested yesterday by Chief of Police Shambrook, following the receipt of telegraph information from Glenwood Springs, Colo. Wimmer came to this city several weeks ago, and at that time a letter was received stating that he was wanted in Colorado on a felony charge. Before he could be arrested, however, he had left the city, leaving an auto in a local garage to be sold. The machine was disposed of and yesterday he returned to get his money and was at once placed in the county jail. This morning Chief of Police Shambrook received a message from the sheriff at Glenwood Springs, to the effect that the prosecuting witnesses refuse to stand the expense of taking Wimmer back to Colorado and consequently he was released from jail this morning.

PORTLAND WOMAN SAYS SHE CAN'T SAY ENOUGH FOR THE GOOD IT DID

"Two years ago I was a nervous wreck unable to do my housework, but since taking Tanlac I am feeling just fine," said Mrs. E. C. Emerick, 1484 Boston Ave., Portland, Ore.

"I had suffered with stomach trouble for four years," she continued, "and couldn't find anything to help me. I had sour stomach and nervous, sick headaches nearly all the time, and often during the day I would get so dizzy I could hardly stand up. I always felt awfully tired and didn't seem to have a bit of strength or energy. My nerves were completely upset so I couldn't even stand the noise of the children playing."

"Tanlac gave me back my appetite, corrected the sour stomach, stopped the nervous headaches, the dizzy sick spells and gave me back my strength and I also gained eleven pounds in weight."

"I just felt fine after that until I had an attack of the 'flu' that left me all run down, weak and nervous. Tanlac soon brought me right out and I can't praise it too much. My appetite is good, I eat anything I want and my food makes me feel well nourished and strong. I am doing all my housework with ease, the weakness and nervousness are gone and I have gained seven pounds."

Tanlac is sold in Roseburg by W. F. Chapman Pharmacy, and leading druggists.

Prizes Awarded In Guessing Contest

The guessing contest at Uhlig's Electric Store has been watched with considerable interest, and on Saturday evening when the prize winners were announced, many people were present. The guessing contest concerned the weight of a small amount of dirt in a glass jar which had been placed in the window. Clay Darby, of Hamilton's Drug store was called upon to weigh the dirt on Saturday evening. The weight was found to be 5 1/2 ounces. As five people had guessed correctly, tickets to correspond with their answers were placed in a hat and one drawn. Mrs. R. L. Whipple was announced as the winner of the first prize, a Royal Electric cleaner. Mrs. J. H. Slinger won the second prize of an American Beauty Electric Grill and Mrs. O. D. Adams won the third prize of an electric iron.

ADVICE TO LOVELORN AND OTHERS

BY MRS. ELLSBURY

A Daily Column of Questions and Answers Conducted by Mrs. Ellsbury Who Knows. Address your Letters to Mrs. Ellsbury, Care Roseburg News-Review.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: Since you give such good advice to others perhaps you can help me. I am a girl 18 years old. Am not at all attractive and am very timid. When I am with girls I am all right, but just as soon as I get alone with a boy conversation drags. Tell me how to make myself attractive so that boys of my own age will go with me. I go to dances and therefore am considered tough, which is not so. Please tell me how to show that I am not tough without quitting dances. I am waiting for your advice.
 M. C. Yencalla.

A. I think the only trouble with you is that you have gathered a good many wrong ideas. If you are 18 and go to dances there is no reason why you should consider yourself either unattractive or tough. No girl of 18 should be unattractive. Study the way other girls that are young and popular dress and comb their hair and follow their style. Make yourself forget to be timid. It can be done. Be interested in what others say to you, ask intelligent questions, and you will soon forget that you are timid. I don't understand you when you say you are considered tough because you go to dances. Surely nice girls go to dances. I think you must imagine that this condition exists. Go with a chaperone or a group of girls dance only with nice boys and to anyone to whom you have an introduction. Always be polite and I am sure you will be as tough no matter what you do.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: Please tell me how I can wash my face and keep them fresh looking. I always look faded after I wash my face.
 BESSIE LAMBERT

A. Wash them always with powders or flakes that you get at any grocery store and send me a self-addressed envelope I will give you the name of the preparation that is the best. When rinsing with water use a little of the same soap. When washed do not scrub dry, but wrap in a towel at the next morning.

The Ford group needed a moment of several days from Monday. Among them were the sedan to William W. Co. of the calla; a truck to E. Co. of the calla; and touring car to E. Co. of the calla. Charles L. Wimer called a day of Roseburg.
