Melrose Wins From Glide

The Melrose baseball team added another scalp to their list Sunday at Glide. In the first two innings it looked like a walkover for Glide, as they were able to score five tallies while Melrose failed to score. The third and fourth innings were shut-outs for both sides. In the fifth inning the Melrose boys just realized that the game had been called and began to play ball, scoring five runs with Glide three. In the sixth Melrose put over three more while Glide scored naught. In the seventh Melrose put four more across the plate and Glide three. In the eighth

William Spry of Salt Lake City, commissioner of the general land office, Department of the Interior, was born in Berkshire, England, in 1864, and came to America in 1875. He is a Mormon.

The Melrose bunch drove the horsehide to the field for ten scores. After that neither side was able to score. About one hundred people from Melrose and vicinity were in attendance, which is somewhat larger number than were present from Glide. Those going from Melrose enjoyed a picnic dinner from Glide's beautiful streams. Next Sunday it is planned for the married men to play the single men at Melrose. The following day being the Fourth of July, it is expected that a game will be arranged for with some strong team at Melrose.

Table with 2 columns: Team, Score. Melrose 12 3 4 5 6 7 8 9. Glide 0 0 0 0 5 3 4 10 0. Stubs, Pierce and Brown were the pitchers for Melrose, with Churchill as catcher. Blakely and Strader pitched for Glide, with Strader as catcher.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the kind neighbors and friends who were so helpful to us during the illness and after the death of Mrs. Francis Hart. We also wish to thank them for the many flowers.

MERTEN COX. LOREN COX. ALTHEA BARKER. VIOLET McCULLOCH.

But It's the Fashion. Wifey—Aren't you positively ashamed that your wife and daughter are all out at the elbows? Hub—Nope. But I'm ashamed that they are all out at the knees.—American Legion Weekly.

Efficient Spending. The measure of real necessity is surprisingly small. When one finds the medium ground between prodigality and stinginess he will realize that he can live there, even though his income may be moderate. Greater moderation in many things would leave us a healthier and happier race, to say nothing of what it would do for our bank accounts. Certainly, before buying a thing one should honestly ask himself whether he needs it. He should, likewise, give himself an honest answer.

The second principle of efficient spending is that when one has honestly decided that he needs a thing he should buy the best he can get. If one buys at all, it pays to search the market for an article of high quality. Moreover, he is very apt not to find an article of high grade unless he does search the market rather carefully.

Right View of Life. It is time to get over the idea that we have to be comfortable because we were brought up that way, while others were predestined to misery and are so helpless to their condition that we needn't bother. One effect of travel—if the traveler is impressionable, and some travelers are not—is to show us that no country has a monopoly of certain heavenly virtues that take root and flourish in the bleakest, as in the richest soil. Nor is any other country particularly interested in our introspective studies of how good we are and our lugubrious imagination of our greatness. Bonstiffulness is a posture as unlovely for the millions as it is for one. Let us give credit to others for possessing some of the qualities we admire so much in ourselves.—Exchange.

Two Saw Way Out of Jail Today

VANCOUVER, Wash., June 27.—Charles Munson and Edwin Beck sawed their way to liberty today from the county jail. The men are still at large.

Used Nature's Gifts.

There are no indications that in remote time either oil or gas was put to much practical use as modern people understand that term, but there is little doubt that priests of the fire-worshipping cult which flourished in old Persia made "good things" out of the phenomena. Not far from Beku are the ruins of a temple of the cult which is believed to have been in existence for more than 2,500 years. Tower beacons and altars are provided with channels concealed in the masonry, which demonstrate that gasfitting is not a craft of modern birth. These channels led from fissures in the earth which once furnished natural gas. To this temple came pilgrims from all parts of the East as late as the eighties of the last century. Besides the walls of the temple today stands a modern refinery, furnishing an emphatic contrast in the old and new uses of Nature's gift of oil and gas.

Love.

"Dear Mame! What you asked me about did I love Charlie, well, dear, it's this way. I'm afraid if I don't take him I'll be sorry, and if I do I'll regret it, because I can't live without him any more than I expect I'll be able to live with him. It's just so exciting being miserable until I'm happy, that if I ain't in love with him I might as well find it out one way or another, and so we're going to get married if I don't change my mind, and if I do, the Lord have mercy on my soul, Mame, because he's an awful lemmie if he has got a job! So that's how it is, dearie, and they tell me it's just perfectly natural, like the measles.

"I'll send you an invitation, and when you see me walking down the aisle with him, for the love of Mike, Mame, don't giggle. This is too darned serious for you to act like you feel like."

Sartorial Eclipse.

"You say this embezzler was humiliated when forced to appear in court." "Yes."

"That seems to indicate that he has a conscience."

"Not at all. After having spent years building up a local reputation as a 'snappy dresser,' he had to appear in a suit that needed pressing."
