"Get those on and I'm ready for anything. Ready for fishing, a hike, a race, or a game and ready for work, too. I don't have to change them when I go to town. See those tire-tread soles and pneumatic heels. I don't pound leather when I can walk on air. They're the best shoe I ever had."

Ford Plant Builds 108,962 In June

During the month of June, the Ford Motor Company, thru its Detroit factories and 22 Assembly Plants throughout the country, reached the production of 108,962 Ford cars and trucks, setting up a new high record for one month.

Production of Ford cars and trucks has been steadily increasing since early spring, and shows substantial gains over the same period last year. The second quarter of 1921, viz., April, May and June, shows an output of 301,796 Ford cars and trucks against 220,878 for the same three months of last year, or a net increase of 80,918.

Despite the fact, however, that the Ford plants have been running at maximum capacity, the demand for Ford cars and trucks is not being met, and at the present time, many thousand unfilled orders have been piled up ahead so that Ford sales are still limited by manufacturing facilities rather than marketing facilities. (Particularly in this true with respect to enclosed cars, for which the demand has been unusually heavy.)

One reason cited by Ford officials for the unprecedented demand for Ford cars is the present tendency toward economy. Many of those whose names have been added to the long list of buyers might well have afforded larger and more costly cars than the Ford, but it is the belief that most prospective motor car buyers are investigating all of the costs incident to motoring much more carefully than at any period during the past five years.

The estimated output of the Ford factories for July calls for 109,000 cars and trucks, or a production of 4360 a day for 25 days. Since the assembling of cars is being handled during an eight hour work day only, the hourly output will be 545 cars. In other words, one Ford car or truck leaves the assembly line every 6 1/2 seconds.

FRENCH PLAYHOUSE ON BOAT

Actors in Remarkable Theatre Are Said to Find Their Occupation a Pleasant One.

France has a playhouse, built on a barge, which travels from Tours to Strasbourg. It is a gorgeous affair painted in white and silver and called the "bateau-theatre." It wanders along the canals and wherever it stops the French, who have few entertainments, crowd into the Fulminant to see a dramatic representation. It is agreeable life to move leisurely by canal and river, to stop where one pleases, to play to a crowded house in a salle, which is always ready, to give pleasure to a whole community and profit to oneself. The room where the performances take place is spacious enough. It holds five hundred persons, and every one of the fauteuils covered in red velvet in this blue and gold decorated hall is occupied whenever the floating theatre casts anchor in an out-of-the-way town. The actors are their own mariners. There is much work to be done on board any kind of boat, as all who have ever helped to sail a yacht will agree. They all lend a hand. They scrub the decks and they make the preparations which are constantly called for. What do they not do? They go out shopping—and is there anything so delightful as to shop always in strange towns? They prepare their play bills and announce their advent. The mere business of acting is only an incident in this varied life.

LINKED WITH GLORIOUS PAST

Town of Steinamanger Within Territory Once Important Part of the Old Roman Empire.

Perhaps it was not without deep sentimental reasons that former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary chose the town of Steinamanger—to the Hungarians, Szombathely—as a place from which he hoped to receive the acclama of his former subjects as their returned ruler, says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society.

It has been the cherished policy of the Hapsburg rulers of Austria-Hungary to rejuvenate the old "Holy Roman Empire," the Frankish and later the German union which claimed to be the heir to the power and overlordship of Rome. The affiliations of what was Austro-Hungarian territory before the World war, with the old Roman empire, were perhaps closer through Steinamanger than through any other town. The present town is in the site of the Roman Sabria, which was the capital of one of the chief divisions of Pannonia—the name given by the Romans to the province which covered the heart of modern Austria-Hungary.

A "Sand-Bow."

The unusual optical phenomenon of a rainbow produced by the sun shining not on rain-drops, but on particles of sand suspended in the air by wind, was witnessed over a part of the Great Salt Lake by some surveying parties. The colors were very brilliant, and there was a secondary bow visible. The main bow was fully double the width of an ordinary rainbow. Only a segment of it was seen. The sand was colitic, consisting of calcareous spherules of fairly uniform size, ranging between the limits of No. 8 and No. 10 shot, which are polished and exhibit a pearly luster. It is pointed out that the production of the bow must have been due to reflection from the outer surfaces of the spherules, and cannot be explained on the rule of refraction and total reflection, generally applied in the explanation of the rainbow.

Selenium a Rare Element.

Selenium is a rare and little-used element described by the United States Geological survey, Department of the Interior, as having its greatest use in giving a red color to glass, such as that used in railroads for signal lights, and in coloring enamels and ware red. It is also used to overcome the natural green color of ordinary glass. Selenium is peculiar in being a very poor conductor of electricity in the dark and a fairly good conductor in the light and is used in several electric devices whose utility depends on this peculiarity. It has been used in telephoning along a ray of light and in transmitting sounds and photographs from one place to another over a wire.

China to Have Larger Mint. "One of the largest mints in the world, with a possible daily output of 500,000 silver dollars, is to be opened at Shanghai, China. It is valued at $2,000,000, under the direction of an American expert. When completed, in about two years, it will absorb some 14 tons of silver a day in its task of establishing a standardized currency in China, where the present unit of value, the Mexican dollar, competes with as many varieties of coin as there are provinces. The Chinese metal, now used for reckoning, is not a coin at all, but a measured slug of silver, the value of which varies in different parts of the country—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Disappointed Hopes.

"Hiram," said Mrs. Cornstossel, "our boy Josh has learned to play a regular tune on his new violin." "That boy won't do nothin' but waste time. What does he want with a regular tune? I was educatin' him for leader of a jazz orchestra."

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarette aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

Side Splitting Comedy Coming

When the comedy hit, "Nothing but the Truth," made its record-breaking run in New York it was termed by The Post, "The most wholesome fun in several seasons;" by The Sun, "The most entertaining play in years." This farce success will be presented here the fifth night of the Chautauqua by the Kelghey Broadway players.

"Nothing but the Truth" is taken from Frederic S. Isham's vastly popular novel of the same name, and made into a stage success by James Montgomery. The plot is said to have added to the laughter of nations; it is a joy tonic, a gloom killer. The story hovers about a young stock broker who wagers he can tell the truth for 24 hours. He does, but after harrowing experiences and acrimoniously funny situations, it is a company with an all-pro-
