Entered as second-class matter May 17, 1920, at the post office at Roseburg, Oregon, under the Act of March 2, 1879.

ROSEBURG, ORE GON, JULY 19, 1921.

FOR BETTER MAIL SERVICE.

There are few public utilities more widely used in any community or throughout the entire country than is the postoffice. And there is none for the effective operation of which it is more necessary than it is in the case of our mail service that the individual should have some knowledge of how it is conducted.

Many people think the activity of the postoffice is confined to the collection and delivery of letters and postcards, with an occasional parcel thrown in for good measure. They would be surprised to learn how much of its attention is given over to other lines—to the insurance of mail matter, collect-on-delivery service, registry division, and money order and postal savings system.

Except that it should reach its destination as quickly as possible, it is to many of us a matter of little concern as to what happens to a letter when it has been dropped into the nearest mail box. How many and what kind of operations are necessary by how many persons before this letter is finally delivered into the next county or across three continents, is a question to which we give very seldom even the slightest thought. And consequently we do not give any thought either to the question of what the sender may do to reduce to the least possible amount the work of getting this letter to its destination.

Some day an expert in such matters will calculate to a nicety how much in hours of work and money might be saved to the nation in the course of a year if the sender of a letter would be only a bit more careful in addressing it and having his return address printed on the envelope. When we learn how much may be saved in this manner, we shall all be surprised beyond measure. By a writer on this subject it was said some years ago that 30,000,000 pieces of mail matter went to the dead letter office each year. If it were more widely known than it is, to what extent this adds to the cost of our mail service, every letter writer in this country would see the necessity of taking more pains in addressing letters.

The old-fashioned mother worried until her daughter was "safely married." The modern mother worries whether her daughter is "safely married."

A good deal of criticism of bathing suits is heard each summer and yet, if there weren't any bathing suits—

The news sleuths are already beginning to speculate on the next big story to break.

One who finds it necessary to advertise his virtues doesn't have any.

These are busy days for the pencil pusher.

Council May Appoint Official Bathing Suit Censor; Complaints Heard

Shocking and terrible are the bathing creations, being worn by young women and girls at the Mosier street bathing resort, according to Councilman Britt Nichols. Councilman Nichols last night reported to the city council that young ladies at the resort, in garments which expose—er—well—portions of the anatomy which should not be exposed, are frequenting the resort in large numbers.

Not only that but these same young ladies are frequently accompanied by persons of the opposite sex, and according to the councilman morals are allowed to go to the "billy how wows" or words to that effect. Complaints that the bathers are not wholly concerned with bathing, have reached the ears of the councilman, who is of the opinion that some sort of a revised edition of the puritanical blue laws should be issued and enforced.

As the report was made the council immediately decided that something must be done and a unanimous vote was unofficially cast that the council be formed into a committee of the whole to make a personal inspection and investigation of the alleged conditions—and of course, the bathing suits.

Mayor Hamilton, however, fearing that in investigation appropriation might be needed for jitney fares and incidentals immediately put the official taboo on the hopes of the puritanically inclined councilmen, and referred the whole investigation to the police department, whereupon Chief of Police Shambrook stated that the matter would be given his personal and immediate attention.

The disgruntled councilmen, however, immediately dashed the hopes of the officer by instructing him to employ a woman.

Miss Lulu Johns, of Glendale, is spending several days in this city attending to matters of shopping, before leaving for Polay Springs, where she will spend the remainder of the summer months.

M'Nary Will Spend All Of August Working

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Senator McNary expects to leave for Oregon the latter part of the week or the first of next week and will spend all of the month of August in the West.

This is of course contingent upon the plan now practically settled for the senate to adjourn on Friday until September 13.

That will give time for the tariff bill to be received from the house and to be referred to the finance committee and give the committee time to prepare changes in the bill so it can be reported when the senate reopens the second Monday in September.

Patronage to Be Settled. It is expected that between now and the time of leaving Senator McNary and Senator Stanford will hold conferences and settle the entire question of patronage in the state of Oregon. The entire slate of appointments will be given out at once, regardless of the time of the beginning of the terms of the different officers.

Preliminary conferences between the two senators indicate that a complete agreement will be reached.

Tax Bill Has Support. Efforts are being made to substitute a tax bill for the tariff when the senate returns, if the house has by that time prepared and passed a measure reviving the internal revenue tax. There is opposition to this however, on the part of many members of the house who want the tariff settled first, on the theory that it will be of much greater political importance to them than any revising of the tax.

Fine Game Of Ball Last Night

(By C. H. HILTON)

A fine game of ball was played last night between the Baptist and the Espee. It was full of "pep," played in record time, and thrilling. McClintock started to pitch for the Baptists and went like a house afire for awhile, striking out the first four men who faced him, and getting five strikeouts of the first six outs. He blanked the Rais for three innings but had a bad fourth. Burt also pitched great ball.

First inning, Carl Black out to Staley, L. Davis out to Wise to B. Davis, Jno. McClintock struck out, S. P.: Grimm, A. Davis and Reibel struck out in succession. Second, Baptists: Ritzman hit for two bases, Pickens singled, Ritzman on third, Cecil Black singled, Ritzman scored, Pickens on third, Black went to second. Stephenson flew to Johnny Lloyd, Pickens should have scored, but failed. Dolan struck out, L. McClintock flew to Staley, 1 run, 3 hits, no errors. S. P.: Staley struck out. Wise singled, Bowman singled, Wise on second, B. Davis struck out.

"Gertie's Garter" is the name of a new play on Broadway. At the first night of the performance Gertie bunted her garter in the second act. Forty-two men in the audience arose and offered to assist her in adjusting it. Five doctors were among the men, the dispatch says. We'll bet if Gertie broke her neck they couldn't have found a doctor in the house.
