ADVICE TO LOVELORN AND OTHERS —BY MRS. ELLSBURY—

A Daily Column of Questions and Answers Conducted by a Woman Who Knows. Address your Letters to Mrs. Ellsbury, Care Roseburg News-Review.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury:—Is it wrong to pluck your eyebrows? My mother gets very angry when I do and says that it is not right. What do you think about it?

WORRIED SIXTEEN, Oakland.
A. The extreme style in the cities is to pluck the eyebrows until they are merely a line, and I think it foolish as well as ruining the appearance. However, if you merely keep the eyebrows pulled out that destroy the line you are showing good sense and not doing anything wrong. Some eyebrows do not need any attention at all, but some are prone to grow shaggy looking and spread out too far. Pull out a few now and then that have grown too far away from the main line but do not make the eyebrows too narrow.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury:—I am visiting in Roseburg at the home of a friend of mine who has been married about a year. We went to school together and both graduated from high school three years ago. Since our graduation I have been in another town, and she has married a boy that we both used to go to school with. I used to go with him, but I don't think my friend knows about that. Since I have been at her home her husband persists in half way trying to make love to me, meeting me in out of the way places around the house, and acting as if he wanted to put his arms around me and kiss me. He also tries to make up excuses for us to meet down town. I have always laughed at him and tries to act as if he was not doing anything wrong because I dislike embarrassing scenes. What would you suggest that I do?

ROSEBURG VISITOR.
A. You have shown very good sense in managing a difficult situation, I think. Of course, the logical thing to do would be to demand that he stop, but as you are a guest and he the host you very probably hate to do anything that would cause strained relations. I think you would better cut your visit short, and avoid all possible chance of meeting him at any time. If possible, treat him rather cool when you can without causing his wife to suspicion that something is wrong.

SUNDAY AT THE CHURCHES.

Presbyterian Church—Corner of Jackson and Lane streets, E. W. Warrington, minister. "But Peter followed Jesus afar off." Peter's denial was the inevitable result. It is dangerous to cut loose from our Christian moorings. We are constantly face to face today with the "wrecked lives" resulting from the neglect of Christ and His church. 9:45 a. m. the Bible study hour. "Thy word have I stored away in my heart that I might not sin against thee." Ps. 119:11. 11 a. m. the morning worship. The pastor will preach. The vacation choir directed by Prof. Applehoff is one of the helpful features of the service. 7 p. m. the Christian Endeavor will be led by Margaret Young. The subject is a vital one for the present day, "The Perils of Materialism." The usual union service at 8 o'clock will give way to the Chautauqua. Prayer meeting will be held at 7 p. m. on Wednesday to give those attending the opportunity to attend Chautauqua.

M. E. Church, South—Sunday school at 9:45, W. L. Cobb, superintendent. Divine worship 10:45, sermon by the pastor. Junior League 2:00, Epworth League, 6:45, leader Vivian Cameron, subject for study, "The Perils of Worldliness." No evening service by reason of the Chautauqua. We invite you to our services at all times. Let us worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness. J. C. JONES, Pastor.

First Methodist Church—The usual morning service at the First Methodist church next Sunday. Mr. Phelps will speak on a timely subject. Sunday school at 9:45. Let every class be full. You are invited to these services. Epworth League at 7:00 in the evening. Subject, "The Sacredness of Music and Song." Leader, Miss Vivian Orcutt. Plan to make this a happy service. The evening service will be dismissed because of Chautauqua. Plan to give the Infinite some of your thought and time Sunday. Life is whirling by like a swift stream. The grave is getting rapidly closer. Judgment and the facing of God and record draw near. Remember, "Ye cannot serve God and Mammon." You are opposed to churches? Try living where there are none. You have no time for preachers? Try life for a while where there are none. Earth is full of wretches, heaven will have a few, hell will be well represented with them. You can't escape them. Do them justice and give a bit of time to their message before you ask one to bury you. Don't boycott the church and the sky pilot when all is well, and then ask them for a touch of civilization when the chill of the grave makes a wooden overcoat necessary.

Saint George's Church, Cor Main and Cass streets. The Venerable Arch Deacon Chamber will be here for Sunday service at 10:00. Holy communion at 7:30. Morning prayer with sermon at 11 o'clock. All are welcome.

Movie Closeups

"Extravagance," starring the blonde screen beauty, May Allison, comes to the Antlers theater tonight. This Metro Special was adapted from the story by Ben Ames Williams, "More Stately Mansions," which appeared in Good Housekeeping Magazine, and created a sensation by its astounding portrayal of a current social malady. Those who have read the story will want to behold the talented Metro star impersonate the extravagant society girl, while everybody else will wish to see the unusual picture.

Miss Allison has the role of Nancy Brown, daughter of a wealthy man, who marries Dick Vance, a young lawyer. Her society ambition necessitates a severe dent into the husband's income and in a mad desire to hold his wife's love, Dick forges a check on his father. It is when fail faces him, and his wife is given the chance to save her husband by leaving him forever, that the new life comes.

The supporting cast includes Robert Edeson, Theodore Von Eltz, William Courtwright, Lawrence Grant, and Grace Pike. Edward Lowe, Jr., did the adaptation and Philip E. Rosen directed, under personal supervision of Bayard Veiller, director of productions. Rudolph Bergquist was cameraman and Sidney Ullman designed and executed the art interiors.

Piquant with refreshing humor, well sprinkled with thrills and interesting situations, Bebe Daniels' latest picture play "She Couldn't Help It," recalled to hundreds at the Antlers theater last night, memories of the story's great previous success as a novel and stage play under the author's title "In the Bishop's Carriage." This picture will be shown at the Majestic theater tonight.

Perhaps few stories have more cleverly combined the entertainment elements of humor, pathos and strong drama than this one. One's sympathy is enlisted from the beginning and held throughout a well-planned series of complications which allow a great deal of comedy to be interlarded with tense emotional moments.

Miss Daniels is convincing and sincere as "Nance Olden," the pick-pocket orphan, while Herbert Standish runs her a close race for first honors as the kindly old bishop, terribly embarrassed to find a beautiful girl riding uninvited in his carriage. Z. Wall Covington is laughable as a tourist returned from "a business trip" to Cuba, while Helen Raymond, of "Twin Beds" fame, is his stern and unyielding wife. Other players who pleased last night include Wade Boteler, Emory John-

NATIONAL GUARD ATTENTION!

National Guardsmen are ordered to appear at armory Sunday at 12:30 p. m. in full uniform. Special pay drill period. By order of C. L. STODDARD, Captain.

BUSINESS MEN'S SMOKER.

The smoker which was to be held in the new Chamber of Commerce quarters on Friday evening, July 15, will be held this Friday evening, July 22, at 8 o'clock. All business men and citizens of Roseburg and Douglas county are invited. Let's try and understand the viewpoint of the other fellow on several mighty important Douglas county problems. If interested in the future development and prosperity of your community, COME.

TO CHAUTAUQUA GUARANTORS

The Chautauqua will commence Sunday, next. You have guaranteed the sale of 700 season tickets, and any deficit will have to be made good by next Monday morning. From the present outlook there will have to be a determined effort made by the guarantors Saturday and Sunday if we put the sale over, so as to prevent financial loss. With a population of about seven thousand people, it would seem easy to sell 700 adult tickets, but the great majority of our people do not seem to appreciate what a Chautauqua means to our community, hence the necessity of a united effort on the part of guarantors to put the sale over. Many who signed for tickets have not secured them as yet. Tickets on sale at the Douglas National Bank, Roseburg National Bank, Umpqua Valley Bank, Hamilton Drug Store, Chapman Drug Store, Marsters Drug Store, The Hat Shop and the Commercial Abstract company. Twenty high grade entertainments and lectures for $2.75, or about 31 cents each. Remember that tickets bought after the opening day does not help your home people who brought the Chautauqua to your door by signing a guarantor. J. E. MCCLINTOCK, Local Secretary.

son, who has the male lead, Gertrude Short, Milla Davenport, Vera Lewis and Ruth Reuck. Maurice Campbell directed the offering, the scenario being by Douglas Bronston.

Fifty Roseburg citizens guaranteed the sale of 700 Chautauqua tickets, and will have to make good any deficit. Have you bought yours yet?

JOHNSON DECLARES HE WAS LAID OFF WORK FOR WEEKS AT A TIME

"Well, sir, I am feeling ten years younger since Tanlac fixed me up," said Carl Johnson, 19 Middle St., Portland, Oregon, well-known employee of the Cunard Steamship lines.

"For years I had been plugging along bothered with stomach trouble and constipation. I felt bad all the time, but for some reason I would get worse at the change of every season. My back hurt me so bad I could not stoop over and often I was in such bad shape I had to give up work two or three weeks at a time."

"It certainly was a surprise to me the way Tanlac straightened out all my troubles. My appetite is great now and I am not bothered with stomach trouble and have even stopped the use of laxatives. I eat better, sleep better, and feel better than I have in ten years or more. I just bought health when I bought Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Roseburg by W. F. Chapman's Pharmacy and by leading druggists everywhere.
