MRS. W. R. BOWMAN, Prop.

Shower For Emily Webber

On Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. R. Ferguson, on South Main street, was held one of the most enjoyable parties of the season. The occasion being a shower given in honor of Miss Emily Webber, who has announced her engagement to Archie N. Ferguson, of this city.

The rooms were beautifully decorated in crepe paper and flowers in pastel shades. The most beautiful feature being a huge paragon of ice cream suspended over the dining table, which was laden with gifts. It was at this table that the bride-to-be was seated on her arrival and the first hour was spent in viewing the many beautiful presents which she received.

A short program was given. Mrs. Geo. Chandler sang a Scotch selection especially suited to the occasion. Miss Viola Willett gave two readings in her usual pleasing manner, and the Misses Edith and Bertha Penney gave two very interesting recitations which received much applause. After a few pieces on the Edison, the guests all took part in the game of advice on "how to manage a husband," and needless to say Miss Webber received much good advice on this most important subject. The guests were then seated at small tables and served with ice cream and cake. Here the same color scheme was carried out in the decorations.

Those present to enjoy this most pleasant afternoon were the guest of honor, Miss Emily Webber, Mesdames Geo. Chandler, R. Willett, A. Fisher, Bert Stevens, Watson Davis, Cleo Tipton, Jacob Jones, Chas. Mohr, C. E. Marks, The Misses Minnie Easton, Viola Willett, Alice Fisher, Eliza Webber, Edith Penney, Bertha Penney, Laura Davis, Pearl Jones, Ethel Marks, Hazel Marks, Helen Ferguson, Jean Ferguson, and the hostesses, Mrs. H. R. Ferguson, Mrs. John Ferguson and Miss Anne Ferguson.

Loganberry Pack Totals 4550 Tons

SALEM, July 29.—Four thousand five hundred and fifty tons of loganberries will be the total tonnage handled by Salem canneries, dehydrating plants and drying concerns at the close of the season which is expected by the end of this week.

No reports are available from canneries in Albany, Corvallis, Eugene, Lebanon, Forest Grove and the Graves canneries at Woodburn and Sheridan, but it is believed that these plants operated on an extensive enough scale this year to take care of the difference between the tonnage packed by the Salem plants and the estimated crop tonnage of 7000 tons throughout the state.

Conservative estimates have placed the total tonnage for the Willamette valley at 5200 tons. This, however, would leave but 450 tons for canneries outside of Salem, not including the tonnage bought by California concerns and small buyers who entered the market late in the season offering 2 1/2 cents a pound, and would neither take into account the amounts dried by individuals of which there are no records yet.

Plan To Organize Playground Work

An interesting session of the Junior Chautauqua was witnessed by many visitors this morning. The little folks organized Junior Town and elected their officers. Miss Mary Maloolm was elected president; Charles Watson, vice president; and Ernest Hritt, secretary-treasurer. These officers, together with the other nominees, constitute the executive committee. This plan of organization is a means to successful playground work.

Many permanent organizations, business men and others, who are mightily interested in this thing, are very anxious to see the playground become a permanent affair.

The kiddies have had one grand time this week, and it is now the plan of Miss Woodruff, the junior superintendent, to have this work continue, so she has secured some ladies in which she will leave the work in charge. A permanent director has not yet been secured but those taking up the work for the first week, until someone can definitely be supplied, are Miss Elizabeth Parrott, Mrs. James F. Dillard and Miss Maude Ragon, of Portland. Anyone interested in this work, feeling that they would be willing to devote several hours a week to it, should notify this committee at once.

The Junior parade will take place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and every parent is urged to see that their child is there. Any not having a chance to attend the morning play work, are invited to enter the parade, which plans to be one big hour of fun. They are anxious to see Mr. Elvin in his feature, which will lead the parade.

The Roseburg concert band have offered their services and also the Bay Scouts will be on the job, in uniform, headed by their scoutmaster, Mr. Lintott. Following in review will be fancy costumes, decorated play carts, dogs, ponies, and many other features which are being kept a secret.

At the close of the parade the youngsters will march to the Chautauqua tent, where they will pass in review of the patrons of the afternoon.

WILL DELIVER LUMBER.
Maynard and Jenks of Glendale will deliver rough or dressed lumber for $29 per 1000.

HUBBY AT THE COOKSTOVE

Some Excellent Reasons Advanced Why Head of the House Should Know How to Prepare Food.

Cooking has been added to the curriculum of male students at Pennsylvania State college. Cooking is something that all men should know something about.

Some men should know all about it. Particularly should married men have the necessary knowledge so that in the pinch they can escapo a pan of potatoes or stir up a mess of fluffy biscuits.

There is no telling when the good wife may be absent from home at meal time.

As time goes on the legitimate reasons for this are growing.

And what is more pleasing to the average wife than to return from the bridge party or the polling place, a trifle late, perhaps, and worried for fear that she'll not be able to have dinner on the dot—what is more pleasing than to be greeted at the door by the man of the house, all uniformed up in a long overall apron, a dab of flour on his beaming countenance, striving for dear life at a bowl of embryo drop biscuits?

And the teakettle steaming its heart out?

And the smell of burning beefsteak permeating the otherwise hopeful atmosphere?

Man should know how to cook!—St. Joseph Gazette.

KNOW WHEN THEY HAD BITE

Traveler Tells of Rats Who Used Their Tails as Fishlines to Catch Crabs.

Captain Moncton in his "Experiences of a New Guinea Resident Magistrate," relates the following incident: "Having landed on an utterly barren island formed of coral rock and destitute of all vegetation, he found it to be the home of an enormous number of rats. There was no trace of other animal life, and it was impossible to imagine how, except by continual preying upon one another, it was possible for these rats to subsist."

"While seated at the water's edge, turning over the problem in his mind, he noticed some of the rats going down to the edge of the reef—lank, hungry-looking creatures they were, with pink, naked tails. He stopped on the point of throwing lumps of coral at them, out of curiosity to see what they meant to do. His curiosity was soon gratified. Rat after rat picked a flatfish place and, squatting on the edge, dangled its tail in the water."

"Presently one rat gave a violent leap of a yard, landing well clear of the water, and with a crab clinging to its tail. Turning around, the rat grabbed the crab and devoured it, and then returned to the stone. Other rats were seen repeating the performance."

Macaulay was a victim to the habit of reading in bed. When going the northern circuit as a newly fledged barrister, an old king's counsel staying in the same hotel with him noticed that Macaulay carefully picked out the longest candle as the members of the mess were retiring for the night. "He remonstrated with him," says Sir George Trevelyan, "on the danger of reading in bed, upon which Macaulay replied with immense rapidity of utterance: 'I always read in bed at home; and if I am not afraid of committing periculis and matricides, and fratricide, I can hardly be expected to pay any special regard to the lives of the bagmen of Leeds.' And, so saying, he left his hearers staring at one another, and marched off to his room."

Rose Always Loved.

The rose has been a favorite from earliest times. So deep a hold has it on the affections of the people that it is often spoken of as the "queen of flowers." It has figured in the literature of all ages and all nations. People in all stations of life yield homage to its beauty of form and color and to its delicious fragrance. It is loved by poor and rich alike. It is grown in the dooryards of the least pretentious cottages, where often the occupants are stunted in food and raiment, as well as on the grounds of large estates, where about the choicest things that money can buy. It is also grown in immense quantities under glass and is the most popular winter cut flower for all occasions.

Dinner-Plate Pennies.

Some of the first coins were charming, the idea apparently being to discourage the greedy from attempting to accumulate and carry around too many of them. There were copper coins as large as dinner plates. This inconvenient style had to give way to the demand for smaller and more convenient forms of currency, and the giant pennies soon dwindled in size to meet the popular demand.

The earliest trace of the use of gold as money is to be found in the pictures of the ancient Egyptians weighing in scales heaps of rings of the precious metals. But there is no actual record that these rings were known as coins with a fixed value.

Humor Superior to Wit.
Wit, bright, rapid and blasting as the lightning, dashes, strikes and vanishes in an instant; humor, warm and all-embracing as the sunshine, bathes its object in a genial and abiding light.—Whipple.

EACH MONTH HAS ITS JEWEL

Almost Universal Belief in Marvellous Properties Attached to the Various Precious Stones.

The ancients attributed marvellous properties to many of the precious stones. There is a significance attached to the various stones in making birth-day, engagement and wedding presents. The different months and the stones sacred to them, with their respective meanings, follow:

January, garnet; constancy and fidelity in every engagement.

February, amethyst; preventive against violent passions.

March, bloodstone; courage, wisdom and firmness in affection.

April, sapphire; free from enchantment, denotes repentance.

May, emerald; discovers false friends and insures true love.

June, agate; insures long life, health and prosperity.

July, ruby; discovers poison, corrects evils resulting from mistaken friendship.

August, sardonyx; insures conjugal felicity.

September, chrysolite; free from evil passions and sadness of the mind.

October, opal; denotes hope, sharpens the sight and faith of the possessor.

November, topaz; fidelity and friendship, prevents bad dreams.

December, turquoise; prosperity in love.

DECLARE QUILTS OLD GAME

Many There Are Who Say It Is Descended From the Ancient Sport of Discus Throwing.

There have been international matches between quilters and in the "Wide publicity was given in the newspapers to a quilt match between Billy Hudson, the champion of all England, and Jimmy McLaren, who was the champion of the United States. McLaren was a resident of Newark, N. J., and was a Scotchman by birth. But he represented the Stars and Stripes. The gentlemen played themselves to a tie and concluded that neither was the better player.

There are writers on the game of quilts, and advocates of the game who are not writers, who insist that this game is descended from ancient discus throwing, and the enthusiastic quilters who believe that their game had this classic origin will tell you that the statue of "The Discus Thrower," by Myron, copies and pictures of which you have seen, really represents a Greek youth playing at quilts when that game was young and when it represented strength in hurling rather than skill in quilting.

"Rapid Transit" in the Old Days.

An illustration of the more or less rapid transit facilities between the "villages" of Brooklyn and Flushing as late as 1819 is seen in the announcement of the stage driver who begs "to inform his friends in the city of New York and the village of Brooklyn, Newtown and Flushing that, notwithstanding the opposition which has lately been set up against him, he still continues to run his stage between the villages of Brooklyn and Flushing in an equal if not superior manner to that which he has been in the habit for many years past. He has improved his team with an additional span of very fine horses which enable him to perform his route in a space of 90 minutes, being a distance of 12 miles. Those who wish seats in the above-mentioned stage will please apply at W. & E. W. Nichols' store, No. 8 Fulton St., New York; John Bedell's, Brooklyn; and Samuel Lowrey's, Flushing. Fare from Brooklyn to Newtown, 37 1/2 cents; to Flushing, 50 cents."

Old Agricultural Implement.

The hoe is probably one of the oldest of agricultural implements. When primitive man found a well-formed limb of a tree with a sharp crook he had a hoe for the cutting, and it was with such hoes as these that the Indians planted their large fields of corn, and prepared the soil for the planting. There probably was not much "hilling-up" done and less weed cutting. There was a little, for effort was made to keep the weeds down until the corn was high enough to shade the ground. Hoeing was soon finished, and the crop was left to itself until the ears were filling, when the children were sent out to the fields to scare the birds away. Farmers today know what damage a flock of blackbirds will do in a cornfield, and what must have been the strength of the flocks when nearly the whole continent was a wilderness!

Naturally Indignant.

Melvin failed to receive much benefit from his Sunday school lesson. His two older brothers took him to Sunday school, and after it was over neglected to look for him. He was discovered crying by a neighbor and taken home. When he arrived home his indignation toward his brothers was terrible to witness. He stamped his foot and said, "You took me down there and lost me!"

Famous Greek Letter Society.

The first Greek letter society was Phi Beta Kappa, the letters standing for a Greek motto which is translated "philosophy, the guide of life." It was organized at William and Mary college December 5, 1776, as a secret social club and literary society. It has become an honorary fraternity to which men and women are elected on a basis of scholarship.

SUNDAY AT THE CHURCHES

Services at the First Methodist church of Roseburg will be special Sunday morning. Mrs. McWhirter, a national speaker of the W. C. T. U., who is visiting Mrs. A. C. Marsters, will deliver the address. A great treat is in store for all who come, and all who are not needed and expected in any other place of worship are invited to hear this speaker. There will be special music also at the morning service. Miss Perrin, of Portland, will sing. She comes highly recommended as a singer. Sunday school at 9:45. The school is keeping up encouragingly, and all associated with it are urged to be present. Epworth League at seven o'clock. A well-planned service is arranged for the evening church services will be at the Baptist church. Mr. Phelps will speak. Owing to the illness of Rev. Jones, a trade of evenings has been made. The subject at the Baptist church next Sunday night will be, "Can One Dance and Be a Christian?" A fair and square, frank, straightforward discussion of the subject is to be given. Since the subject is in dancing, all who argue "no harm" in dancing, all who argue from that standpoint are invited to hear the discussion. A consistent man, engaged in doing what does not violate his conscience, will not run from such a subject. Will you? "What is not of faith is sin." "Whatsoever ye do in word or deed do ALL to the glory of God."
