Roseburg Needs Kiddies Playground

"The number of juvenile court cases decreased 69 per cent in that part of Portland where a community playground was provided for the children," said Captain T. D. Upton in his speech Saturday night at the Chautauqua. "It was started as a result of some small boys being arrested for playing ball in the street, because there was no other place to play. Now they have, among other things, a $25,000 swimming tank, with all kinds of playground apparatus and four paid superintendents.

"Expense! The price of a single automobile would pay for amusements of children all summer long. Every town should have playgrounds with swings, slides, teeterboards, giant strides, sand-boxes, shallow pools for wading, balls of all kinds, bats and other necessary supplies, also paid supervisors to guide the children in their amusements and see that they play fair.

"It is just as important, or perhaps more so, to guide children in their play as to train them to work. It is in playing games that children learn how to play the game of life. The way they learn to play from other boys and girls has a deep and lasting influence upon their future career, morally, socially and financially. If you want your boy and girl to be a success in life you must teach them how to play a clean game, how to win fair and to be a good loser.

"Children are out in the street going to the dogs during the summer vacation because they have no other place to go. If we do not provide playgrounds we are renouncing one of our most important obligations. Children are full of life and activity and are bound to be doing something all the time. It is up to us to see that they are doing the right thing."

His work has been among boys, big and little, in the army, in the schools and on the street. The keynote of his speech, the motto of his life, is—play the game fair.

Lienarce's Little Symphony Concert company, which played the prelude to the evening lecture and furnished the afternoon entertainment, was made up of high class musical artists, a male pianist and six girl violinists. The selections played were mostly classical and the execution all that could be desired by those who appreciate that kind of music.

NEW YORK NEWS LETTER

By Lucy Jeanne Price.
 NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Is Cornelius Vanderbilt, Sr., turning his ambassadorial year toward Japan? It was generally accepted that he longed for the court of St. James; but that being beyond his reach, it is reported that his eyes have turned to other shores. This rumor is stimulated by the circulation at Newport of a symposium on the Japanese-American question, with a note to the effect that it is "privately printed by Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., No. 649 Fifth Avenue, New York."

It's still a fairly honest world, however, Anna Hughes, a seventeen-year-old laundry sorter, came across $10,000 worth of jewels in the laundry bag sent by Mrs. M. Markowitz, of Brooklyn, the other day, and rushed to the desk with them urging them to get them back to the

ADVICE TO LOVELORN AND OTHERS

BY MRS. ELLSBURY
 A Daily Column of Questions and Answers Conducted by a Woman Who Knows. Address your Letters to Mrs. Ellsbury Care Roseburg News-Review.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury:—I am leaving here soon to take a position that will call for a great deal of traveling this winter. I expect to buy some new clothes to start with but I am puzzled as to what to get. I want to be well dressed, but also in a serviceable manner. What clothes should I take with me on these traveling trips?

BUSINESS WOMAN, Roseburg.
 A. First of all you must have a suit, tailored, with a tailored hat to match. One of the smart traveling suits of English tweed would be most serviceable, especially when worn with a tailored sailor. These plain, smart clothes are the essence of good taste, and always look well. Tweed, jersey or wool check colour are all good materials for traveling. You will also need a coat, and in this selection you may consult your own taste. With the addition of a dark taffeta, or crepe, dress for evenings at hotels you will have a complete wardrobe. These are the essentials and may be added to and varied to suit yourself.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury:—Could you tell me when and where Voltaire was born, and if that is his correct name. I always thought it was until lately a friend and myself had

 Violet Hershenson sailed for Italy last week to join the Fox company in making a picture. She is to have the feminine lead in "Nero"—made right there on Nero's own fiddling ground. This is the first picture the Fox company will have made outside of America.

Time doesn't mean a great deal to the calm Oriental. Days and years rush him not one whit. Lem Wah, one of the oldest citizens of New York's Chinatown, who has lived in Mott street for 36 years, is on his way back to China to see his wife, whom he has seen only three times in 51 years. For 23 years he has been the Chinese interpreter for the Canadian Pacific railroad, but now at 72, he feels that he can retire and is going happily back to spend his remaining years with his wife.

If one must have an officer of the law come to visit her and her family, it's a pretty nice thing when the officer happens to be one's husband's war buddy. Mrs. Rose Howaki learned that the other day. Mrs. Howaki's husband went to his death when the transport President Lincoln was torpedoed, and life has been difficult for her and the four children since then. Finally the blow fell—her furniture was to be put into the street. Assistant City Marshal Hagen of her district was sent to see that it was done. He asked her husband's name. "Was he on the President Lincoln?" Hagen demanded. "He went down with that ship," said Mrs. Howaki. "Well, I was his buddy and I escaped when he went down. You don't move." War veterans have taken up the widow's fight and are trying to make it possible for her to keep her home.

Married couples must act like married couples—not going around being affectionate. That's the order of the court. Matthew and Margaret Harward live across the river in New Jersey. Maybe that's why they act so queerly. Anyhow, on a perfectly respectable public beach, they up and kissed each other. Matthew first having put his arm close about Margaret's waist. They were arrested. Special Officer George Maltz said it was all very well for them to say they'd been married two years; then they shouldn't act as though they were just engaged. Somebody present said they didn't believe they were married at all. But anyhow, they took them off to Judge Miles; then he agreed that it was no way for married people to act, and he found them guilty of disorderly conduct, but suspended the sentence.

Alla Nazimova is planning another excursion in stage repertory as soon as her motion picture work on the coast is completed. Her program will include the usual adventures into Ibsen and a new play based on a theme from Gorky. She may open in October at the new Carroll playhouse now going up in Forty-fifth street.

Happy Valley Has Community Picnic

An old-fashioned community picnic was held Sunday on the banks of Looking Glass creek, where about twenty-five Happy Valley residents gathered to spend the day. A bountiful dinner was served by the ladies, after which the afternoon was spent with music and old time games.

Those who were present to enjoy the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. McCulloch and family, Mr. and Mrs. Steinhilber and family, Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. Telford and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. Telford and family, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Williams and family, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Chappel, Mr. and Mrs. Swain, Mrs. Hamersley, Mrs. Phillips, Mr. Sans, and Mr. Hunter.

FIRE HAZARD SERIOUS.

PORTLAND, Or., August 1.—(U. P.)—With airplane patrols helpless for want of high test gasoline, the Pacific northwest starts to weather what forestry men here today declared to be the most critical period for forest fire hazard to be endured through the entire warm season.

Small fires have been reported in numerous localities, and with forests abounding with campers, men in the forest service of the government are issuing urgent calls for every locality to be on tiptoe for any emergency and to use the utmost speed in getting to the smallest margin of even the milder of the air forces of the ninth corps area, with headquarters at San Francisco, has notified local and northwest forestry men that patrols will be resumed the moment the fuel shortage is relieved. However, Major Arnold was unable to predict just when new supplies of fuel would be received.

Canyonville Girl Weds Californian

A very quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kemp, of Canyonville, Saturday, when their daughter, Verneta, was united in marriage to Wheeler W. Pierce, of Eureka, California. Rev. W. V. Hutchinson, of the Methodist church of Canyonville, performed the ceremony.

Only the immediate family was present, with the exception of Captain Ford of the Salvation Army of Roseburg. Mrs. W. V. Hutchinson and daughter, Myradell.

 Stanley Kidder, Postal Inspector, who has been spending the past three weeks in Eastern Oregon, returned to Roseburg Saturday evening. While in Eastern Oregon, Mr. Kidder traveled many hundred miles by stage and was astonished at the little thought given by residents of Eastern Oregon to the long distances that they must travel.

PORTLAND WOMAN SAYS TANLAC IS A BLESSING TO ALL OF HUMANITY

"It's no wonder that people everywhere are praising Tanlac, for it certainly is a blessing to suffering humanity," said Mrs. Marie Chalupa, 118 1/2 Bybee Ave., Portland, Ore., recently.

"It was fully five years ago that I began to suffer with rheumatism and I just dread to think of what I have been through since then. The rheumatism spread all over my body from my shoulder on through my back and down into my legs and ankles. At times I could hardly walk, and then again I couldn't bend over and felt in all I just suffered agony and felt sometimes that I would go distracted from the pain. My appetite left me and I got so I didn't want to eat a thing. I lost weight and became so weak and run-down I was almost a complete wreck.

"Seeing Tanlac so highly recommended for troubles like mine I began taking it and the first thing it did was to give me an appetite. And I remember well how happy I felt when the rheumatism began to disappear. It wasn't long then until I felt perfectly well and didn't have an ache or pain. I sleep soundly every night now, have gained in weight and am enjoying the best of health. I give this statement gladly in the hope that others may profit by my experience."

Tanlac is sold in Roseburg by W. P. Chapman's Pharmacy and by leading druggists everywhere.

Delightful Party At Cawfield Home

A very enjoyable birthday party and dinner was given at the home of Mrs. J. J. Cawfield the latter part of the week in honor of her eightieth birthday anniversary. The table was beautifully decorated with sweet peas and roses, and adorned with a hand-made centerpiece and dollies. Mrs. Cawfield was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. The ladies spent an enjoyable afternoon visiting.

Those present to enjoy the occasion were Mrs. Tipton, Mrs. Pendleton, Mrs. Amabel Hoffman, Mrs. J. G. Stephenson, Miss Gay Reed, Mrs. Ott, Miss Graham of Portland, and the hostess, Mrs. J. J. Cawfield. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Stephenson and Mrs. Ott.

ROUNDUP LOOMS UP.
 PENDLETON, Ore., Aug. 1.—"One of the finest and most thrilling exhibitions in the world and one of high educational value; unquestionably the greatest, the best and most interesting Round-Up in existence, and one well worthy of preservation and continuation."

Such is the characterization of the Pendleton Round-Up recently given by Hon. W. Olcott, governor of Oregon. Governor Olcott, who has attended many of the Pendleton Round-Ups, will be a guest at the 1921 show, September 22, 23 and 24, and will observe his usual custom of riding with the Round-Up officials in the big parade which is a daily feature of the program.

Road Signs Needed.
 Several tourists passing through Roseburg from the south during the last two weeks have reported a scarcity of road signs between here and Myrtle Creek. One party of tourists coming through yesterday wandered for four or five hours between here and Canyonville, and finally came over the old Roberts mountain road.
