

HOW MANY FORTUNES HAVE BEEN SUNK?

Many fortunes have been sunk in mines, oil wells and other risky schemes that promised much, paid a few dividends, and then closed. How much better is safety than a handful of worthless stock.

An account with the Roseburg National Bank is prudently chosen for safety and a fair yield.

Man Identified as Brumfield Holds Up Mazamas

Foresters Advised. Sheriff Starmer at once got in touch with all of the forest supervisors of the forest tributary to that district and in the event the fugitives attempt to escape through the forests they will doubtless be apprehended.

Telephone Lines Cut. The point where the robbery occurred is about 20 miles north of where the man identified as Dr. Brumfield by Dr. Shoemaker and his father, M. J. Shoemaker, was seen.

Deputy Sheriff Hopkins and Joe Murphy of this city, were seen at Lents' ranch about 15 miles from the point where the robbery occurred last night, but the cutting of the wires prevented Sheriff Starmer from getting in touch with him until a late hour this morning.

Posses Are Out. In addition there is a posse from LaPine and another from Klamath Falls. These posses are making a careful search of the marsh. All roads leading out of Klamath county are guarded and if the fugitives attempt to make a break they will undoubtedly be captured.

Robber Thought To Be Brumfield. It is possible, the officers point out, that the man may not be Dr. Brumfield. The fact, however, that the victim of the holdup are so positive of their identification after seeing a picture of the missing dentist tends the officers to believe that he is the man.

Package Returned. The package expressed by Dr. Brumfield from Myrtle Creek on the day preceding the murder, was returned to Sheriff Starmer this morning.

Contained Woman's Clothes. The package when opened by the sheriff this morning was found to contain ladies wearing apparel, there being a large amount of silk lingerie, several silk skirts, a khaki blouse and khaki coat, together with other garments, books, etc.
