American Influence Growing In China

SHANGHAI, Aug. 18.—An indication of how swiftly American influence is growing in Shanghai, which is China's greatest commercial center, is to be seen in a comparison of the amount of business done at the American postal agency in Shanghai with that of post offices in the United States.

A report issued recently by the post office department which shows post receipts of fifty leading post offices in the United States records that only 16 of these made increases in the month of May, 1920 over the same month the preceding year and the largest increase was 15.32 per cent. The increase in postal receipts in Shanghai in April, 1921 over the same month the preceding year was 179 per cent and the May increase was 123 per cent.

Valuable Thrashing Outfit Is Burned

The thrashing machine belonging to Jim McGee of Canyonville was destroyed last night by fire, presumably of an incendiary origin. The machine was employed in the field belonging to Joe Gough and was set out near the road last night. At 11 p. m. a bright glare awakened the men sleeping near the straw stack, and they found the thrasher to be a roaring furnace. They succeeded in getting the engine away to a safe distance and it was not injured. The operator found fresh tracks leading away from the machine and it is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Bonus Board Plea To Be Considered

SALEM, Aug. 18.—A call for a meeting of the state emergency board in Salem on Tuesday, August 23, to consider authorization of additional funds for the world war veterans' state aid commission, was issued by Secretary of State Kozov Tuesday afternoon. Additional funds for the state department to cover extra duties imposed on that department due to the administration of the bonus law will also be sought at this session.

The amount of the appropriation—$39,000—included in the bonus bill is grossly insufficient for the proper and reasonable administration of the law, the call states.

No intimation was given in the call as to the amount of the deficiency authorization to be sought by the bonus commission. It is probable, however, that the sum is approximately the original appropriation of $39,000.

Was in Roseburg Day Lincoln Was Elected President of The United States

CAMP WAS DESTROYED

Drunken Opponents of Republican Party Tore Up Camp of Pioneer Tourists Who Made Roseburg All Night Stop.

"Yes, Roseburg has changed some since I was here last," Scott Howard, pioneer hotel man of Yreka, California, commented this morning following a night spent in this city. "The last time I was in Roseburg," he continued, speaking in a reminiscent manner, "we camped near the edge of town, which consisted of only a few houses and two or three stores. I remember it very distinctly for it was election day, the election in which Abraham Lincoln was chosen president of the United States, and feeling certainly ran high that day."

"There were not many republicans here then. I have an idea that my father was about the only republican in Roseburg that day, and it was because of his party politics that we had one of the biggest scares that ever came to our family."

"We reached Roseburg late in the afternoon, having had a hard day's travel over the old coast trail. We pitched camp near the edge of the town which in those days occupied a very small space. It was about dusk and we were sitting around the camp fire. I was just a child and was about worn out by the long day's journey."

"In Roseburg it was an exciting day. Lincoln, whose candidacy was sponsored by the new party, was strongly opposed. Feeling was running high and a man with the sentiments of the republican party was in danger of losing his life. My father was strongly republican and did not hesitate to declare his political faith."

"We had just settled down for the evening and were enjoying the rest after our hard travel, when we heard a band of horsemen coming. Down the road they came, riding at a swift gallop, yelling drunkenly as they came, firing their revolvers into the air and shouting profanity and vulgarity as they rode. They lashed up to our camp and halted suddenly. Several of the men dismounted and reeled up to my father. "Are you a republican?" one of the men asked, interjecting his remarks with vivid profanity.

"I am," my father replied.

"My God, man, are you going to vote to let your daughter marry a nigger?" the questioner asked.

"And then, not waiting for an answer, they began drunkenly to kick out our campfire and upset everything around our camp. Cursing and reviling the republican party, they threw our camp into the wildest disorder and then noisily rode away."

"That welcome in Roseburg was not to our liking and early the next morning we started on our way north. On the second day we reached a point near Eugene. Just before we reached that place we found a very imposing looking farm for this country in that day and we stopped. We were attracted by a large packing box which bore in large letters these words: 'The only LIVING republican in Long Tom.'"

"Upon inquiry we found the farm to be owned by a man named Adams. He told my father that on election day political opponents had put him in the box and carried him through Eugene while a jeering crowd had looked on. Adams said he was the only man in Long Tom who voted for Lincoln."

Mr. Howard states that this is his first trip back since that trip taken when he was but a mere child. His parents were unable to find anything in the north which suited them so they went back to California and Mr. Howard spent practically his entire life in and around Yreka. For many years he conducted a hotel business at that place and only recently disposed of this business, which had reached a very prosperous condition. Accompanied by his wife, he is now retracing the ground covered in his early childhood, only this time in place of the plodding team as a means of transportation, he is traveling in a large, comfortable automobile.

Mr. Howard is greatly pleased with Roseburg, which he says is one of the most beautiful cities he has seen. The welcome received and the fine accommodations afforded were a striking contrast to those of the early day, he said.

Chain Stitched Blue Taffeta Dress

Designed and Described by
MARION DAVIES
For Ten Dollars Any Girl Can Make This Pretty Afternoon Dress

By MARION DAVIES
Film Star of "The Restless Sex," "Buried Treasure," etc.

The chain stitch which I learned when I was in convent school stood me in good stead when I was contemplating a simple afternoon dress for summer. I made it in medium light blue taffeta with the chain stitching in bright green pastel. I put groups of French knots inside the rings which I measured, by the way, with a dessert plate, marking around it with a pencil.

The dress itself is so simple to make that if you follow the pattern I have drawn, even though you have never made a frock before, you will find no difficulty. Any of the pastel shades will do for the stitching and the dress itself can be made in any color and doesn't necessarily have to be silk. Organdy or linen you would be sure to like. The cost of this dress can be as little or as great as you wish, though in any case it is not an expensive design. I should say that $10 would nicely cover it.

The pattern is laid on the one-sixteenth reduction scale for size 36. I will be glad to answer any questions about it if you have any difficulties. Address me at Cosmopolitan Productions, 127th Street, New York City.

ADVICE TO LOVELORN AND OTHERS

BY MRS. ELLSBURY
A Daily Column of Questions and Answers Conducted by a Woman Who Knows. Address your Letters to Mrs. Ellsbury Care Roseburg News-Review.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: Can you tell me where one may buy the government naval middies and where one may obtain them? I would like to get some of the blue flannel middies. Can you tell me what the price usually is? Thanking you, I am,
ANXIOUS TO KNOW, Halsey.

Ans. Write to the Army and Navy Supply Store, Portland, Ore. They have several grades of the navy middies. The best flannel is around six dollars, while a light weight serge they have sells for four or under.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: Will you please tell me how to take lime water made from compressed lime tablets, and of what value it is to one's health? The directions are twelve tablets to one pint of water. Also please tell me what causes the hair to fall out after fever and what causes the scalp to itch. I wash my hair every two weeks, but this does not help as the itching begins a day or two after the washing. Thanking you for the favor, I am,
L. A. Roseburg.

Ans. Take a tablespoonful four or five times a day. Lime water is a good general tonic, especially when lime is lacking in your system. If you think lime is lacking it would be a good idea to get a physician's opinion. The high fever causes the hair to fall out. If you have no disease of the scalp or dermatitis, it would be well to consult a physician about the condition of which you speak.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: Will you tell me if there is any way I can make a man propose to me? I am not exactly anxious to get married, but I am nearly 30 years old, and no one has ever proposed to me. What is it that makes them want me for a friend, and not for a wife?
Ans. It is nothing to be worried about. The right man has not come along yet, that is all. When the right man comes he will propose and you will be glad that none of the other men did, because you might have accepted them.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: Would it be too much trouble for you to give me a recipe for thousand island dressing? One that is not very difficult. YOUNG GOOK, Willour.

Ans. 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 tablespoon minced dill pickle, 1 tablespoon minced hard boiled egg, 1 tablespoon minced chives, 1 tablespoon minced pimento, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 cup mayonnaise dressing, 2 tablespoons Chili sauce, 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Add the mixed ingredients to the mayonnaise with the seasonings and let stand 10 minutes or more to ripen and chill.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: I have been going with a young man about a year and we were practically engaged, although I did not have a ring. Recently, without a word, he left, and I have found he has accepted a position and is working in a town some distance from here. As far as I know there was nothing wrong between us. What do you think is the matter and would you advise me to write and ask him?
PUZZLED ROBERTA, Glendale.

Ans. No, by no means write to him. If there was nothing wrong between you it looks as if he left you without a word as he wished to have nothing more to do with you and took that way of avoiding explanation. The best thing for you is to forget him.

PEACHES.
Yes Peaches where? One mile south of Winston bridge, The price is right, The peaches are ripe, And a lot on a tree, So come and see.

CHURCHILL HARDWARE CO.

GLENDALE NEWS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Redfield were looking after business matters in this city on Monday. They were enroute to their stock ranch above Ancker, where they will visit their son and his family for a short vacation.

Died, at the family residence in this city, Sunday, August 14th, the wife of W. H. Kafer. The funeral occurred on Tuesday at Olivet church. A large crowd of sorrowing friends were in attendance and evidenced the fact of the high esteem in which the Kafer family is held in this city. Rev. M. O. Webb officiated over the services. The floral offerings were very numerous and beautiful. Interment was at the Masonic cemetery. The bereaved family have the sympathy of all in their irreparable loss.
