Georgia Minstrels

To Appear Here

The famous Georgia Minstrels are due for an appearance here Wednesday, Aug. 31, under canvas, bringing a company of fun makers, musicians, singers and dancers and fifteen vaudeville acts in a program entirely different from anything ever seen in a minstrel performance.

That minstrelsy is again becoming the popular amusement of the American stage is shown by the crowded houses being given all similar organizations.

There must be something to attract people to the theater from the fact the famous Georgia minstrels have weathered the storms of over 33 years continuous travel; there must be something in a reputation to sustain them so many years; there must certainly be merit back of all this, and while they have the regulation band parade, it is a frequent thing that when the company arrives in town, they find the seats all sold in advance. The reputation of the company must have a whole lot to do with this.

McNARY SAYS BILL WILL AID THE FARMERS.

(News-Review Washington Bureau.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—While Senator McNary made no effort to push the reclamation bill during the special session, in deference to the wishes of President Harding that all efforts be devoted to the more pressing matters of tariff and taxation the measure is in good shape and will be brought to effective consideration in the regular session.

Senator McNary was responsible for having enacted the substitute for the Norris bill which brings relief to the farmers of the country.

In review of this measure today, usually known as the McNary agricultural relief bill, Senator McNary said:

"Since congress has passed the bill enlarging the activities of the war finance corporation, I believe that there will be an improvement in business generally, starting first with the farm."

"The president's prompt signing of the measure within a few hours after it passed the congress, indicates his confidence in the efficacy of the explanation."

"The advances about to be made by the corporation to the agricultural interests of the west run into millions of dollars. I think the crop and fruit growers of the west will receive a benefit that will be noticeable."

"Conferees of the senate and the house had considerable difficulty arriving at a decision where they could compose the differences with respect to the taking of foreign currencies. It was finally agreed that no foreign securities would be considered adequate unless they had endorsement of some reputable institution or associations in the country."

Dr. Charles B. Wade of this city is spending several days in Portland attending a medical convention.
