ROSEBURG, ORE. MON, AUGUST 30, 1921.

BUY YOUR HEALTH IN ADVANCE.

Buy your health in advance, says the U. S. public health service, and you won't even know you are paying for it. Good, solid, dependable health was never cheaper than it is today.

"Sure cures" for tuberculosis are probably as old as the disease itself. Hypophosphites, creosote, "lymph," inhalants, serum, and the Friedman cure have all come—and gone. Just now some old devices in new forms are being acclaimed in the southwest. But: "I can't say yet what medicine cured me," said the testimonial writer. "I ain't heard from but three sure-cure companies yet an' I'm waitin' for bids from the advertising agents of two more."

More and more, disease is being cured before it begins. Typhus, which drove Napoleon from Moscow and destroyed his army, is now being wiped out by soap and hot water. Smallpox, once classed with measles as a deadly but inevitable child's disease, is being ended with tiny tubes of vaccine. Lead poisoning in potteries is being markedly checked by the workmen eating outside their workrooms and washing the lead glaze off their hands before eating at all. Children by thousands are being saved from slow starvation by attention to their teeth, which enables them to eat and to digest their food. Wherever modern public health work is in progress, lives are longer and safer than they were.

Infancy and childhood are the danger periods for tuberculosis. To protect your child, pasteurize the milk or use certified milk; protect infants and young children from contact with the sick; and keep the growing child strong and well by seeing that it drinks milk, eats vegetables, avoids excessive fatigue, and gets enough sleep.

Personal responsibility for the transmission of venereal disease has been upheld by both civil and criminal courts. In Oklahoma a man has been sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for infecting a girl with syphilis. In Nebraska the court upheld a doctor who warned a hotel keeper that one of his patients, a guest at the hotel, had syphilis and had refused treatment and was consequently a menace to the public health. In North Carolina a woman has been awarded $10,000 damages against her husband for a similar infection, and the supreme court upheld the judgment.

A COMING PROBLEM.

Along the newly paved Pacific highway between Eugene and Junction City there are apparent already broken spots along the edges of the pavement. There is every evidence that these breaks are due to loads that are heavier than the foundation of the pavement will bear, and the presumption is that they are caused by heavily loaded and swiftly moving trucks.

It is true, of course, that the breaks can be and will be repaired, but there is little assurance that the repairs will be permanent. It is a fact worth noting that on city streets the holes in the pavement that are filled up soon dig out again under heavy traffic. The same thing will probably be true of the paved highways: If they will not stand up in the first place under the traffic which they are called upon to carry, it is not likely that the repairs will stand up permanently. The remedy lies either in limiting loads or in rebuilding the roads so that they will carry heavier traffic without undue wear.

Truck traffic cannot be eliminated from the paved highways. No one wants to eliminate it. Motor truck transportation is a development that is certain to bring much profit to the whole state. The chief value of the paved roads lies in the readiness and the economy with which traffic can be moved over them. But that does not alter the fact that all of us look with dismay upon indications that the new highways are going to break down before their time.

It is probable that each heavily loaded truck that goes over the pavement does more damage than all the passenger automobile and light truck traffic that goes over it in a whole day. It is hard to escape the conclusion that truck traffic must either be limited in accordance with the ability of the highways to withstand it or that it must be licensed on a basis that will offset the damage that is done to the roads by heavily loaded trucks.—Eugene Register.

At a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last evening strong resolutions were adopted against a bill now pending in congress which has for its purpose the extension of the boundaries of Crater Lake National Park to include Diamond Lake and vicinity. This is a matter of vital interest to this county and the alertness of the local chamber is most opportune. Our representatives in congress should be given to understand that by the inclusion of Diamond Lake in the boundaries of Crater Lake National Park, a great injustice would be done to this section of the state in the way of future development. The people of this great county are willing that the lake should remain in the forest reserve, but are strongly against any movement to place this importance acreage within the boundaries of the park.

We don't know who to thank for this delightful weather, but as the weather man gets little here on earth to be thankful for, will pass the buck to him.

New times are expected to bring new manners and a few of them at least, good manners.

And there's often a wide difference between "social equality" and "sociable equality."

A man who decides quickly hopes he is right; a woman who does so, knows she is.

Do you know why it's toasted?

To seal in the delicious Burley flavor. It's toasted.

RULES FOR THE MOTORIST.

Always give a full half of the road unless, of course, you have the heavier car. In that case you are safe in driving the other fellow into the ditch.

Remember at all intersections that the driver on your right has the right of way. This rule applies unless you feel that you can step on the gas and beat him to it.

If a motorist in trouble signals, you must stop, unless you don't happen to want to bother.

Always give the road when signaled from the rear, unless it is dusty and you prefer holding the middle of it as long as possible.

In case of a busted tire on a hot day it is permissible to say: "Tut, tut."

In a traffic jam always honk your horn loudly. It won't hurry things any, but it will show folks what a nice loud horn you have.

In night driving dim your lights for every encounter, unless your lights are so bright that you don't 'ear the other fellows'. In such case keep them on and let him take the ditch.

When anybody asks you how many miles you get to the gallon, always lie.

If in parking you should smash the fender of another parked car, back out and park somewhere else.

In case of a collision, no matter whose fault it was, blame the other man first.

THE GIRL GRADUATE.

"Yes, I graduated from cooking school. I took a degree in canning and preserving."

"What's your class jell?"

Speaking of dresses, Methuselah lived thousands of years longer than we did, but it's a cinch he didn't see half as much as we do.

Dave Hazen, the umbri who pushes the pencil for the 'Eightin' Fools' department of the Portland Telegram, arrived in our village today. Dave says he always finds it more comfortable and not near so irritating to move out of your hometown about the first of every month.

Men's collars are being cut lower in accordance with the shortening of women's skirts—to give plenty of freedom to the neck.

NOTE TO BRIDES.

The thing that separates a properly hitched team of horses is the tongue.

After the well known gov't annexes Diamond Lake to their park system we suppose they'll try to get Alexander park away from us.

Lots of things look better than a fat woman with short skirts.

Who can remember the time when the young man would sit at the end of the bench, the young lady at the other end with her mother in between, and the entire evening would be spent in discussing such noble characters as Abraham Lincoln and George Washington? That was the happy days.

They say men are having their hair marcelled. Mebbe so, mebbe so, but here's hoping none of 'em are wearin' corsets yet.

The Tanlac firm officials are certainly overlooking a big bet when they failed to get Brumfield to write 'em a testimonial.

FRAGILITY. THY NAME IS MAN. He'd whip the stream for hours and hours.

To trap the speckled trout. Or lash the lake for hungry bass. With trusty rod and stout. He'd club the golf pill day by day. The tennis ball he'd pound with glee. And loudly call for more. But though this bird would whip and lash.

And club and pound and slug. He'd pass away with feeble sigh. If asked to beat a rug.

LAFE PERKINS SEZ: "I'd rather be just a common old duck than one of these highbrow birds and be lookin' out between the bars."

FARM POINTERS.

Lime favors nitrate production and averts nitrogen starvation especially with the legumes, such as clover and the vetches, which are very sensitive to acidity and respond well to lime as a corrective. The productive garden has every square foot of land working the entire season. As soon as the ground is rid of one crop another is made to take its place either by plant set or seed growing. Spinach, fall radishes and turnips are some of the crops adapted to early September sowing.—O. A. C. Experiment Station.

Corn is best cut for silage when the grains are well denting and just beginning to glaze. It is better to grow a smaller corn that will reach this stage before frost than the larger sorts that are immature at frost time.—O. A. C. Experiment Station.
