Annexation of Diamond Lake

happen to Roseburg is the proposed road up the North Umpqua to Diamond Lake, said J. E. McClintock. But making this lake a part of the national park, would kill this project. It would be a death blow to Roseburg hotel companies and park associations are trying to commercialize the lake.

Would more people be attracted to Diamond Lake if it were a part of the national park, asked Hon. O. P. Coahow. They can come to the lake now just the same as if it were included in the national park. I can find no reason for annexing it to the park, except for the benefit of hotels and park associations," he said.

The question of a road up the North Umpqua to Diamond Lake was considered. "Is such a road possible?" someone asked. "It is not only possible, but it is feasible," answered A. C. Marsters, who has recently been in that country. "There are no worse obstacles on this route than had to be overcome in cutting the highway through to Myrtle Creek."

Excluding the Columbia the North Umpqua river is the biggest source of natural power in Oregon, it was stated. Many big engineering experts have their eyes fixed on the North Umpqua as a ground for future operations. But the utilization of this power will only be possible by first building a road to the power.

In summing up the arguments against the bill now before congress, a copy of a letter written by C. J. Green, chief engineer of the Public Service commission of Oregon, to Senator McNary and Congressman Hawley, was read to the members of the Chamber of Commerce. The text of the letter follows in part:

"It is not generally known that, with a possible exception of the Deschutes river, future large water power development of this state will probably occur on the North Fork of the Umpqua river. Peculiar meteorological conditions effecting the headwaters of the river give an especially large run-off and a special report has been written by the Geological Survey on the great possibilities of water power development on this river. All of this development is to a considerable extent dependent upon the storage of water in Diamond Lake. No objection could be raised to the inclusion of this Lake in a park if proper provisions were made so that there would be no restrictions on its use for water storage purposes.

However, we have as a recent example the popular outcry raised especially in the east, against the construction of a storage reservoir in Yellowstone park for the purpose of reclaiming lands outside of the park area. It is reasonable to presume that should the proposed park extension be made that the same outcry would be raised if a public service utility planned to develop the North Umpqua for power purposes. Few people understand that such enterprises are under regulation. In this instance, of both the Public Service commission or Oregon and the Federal Power commission and the rights incident to the use of this water for storage would consequently accrue to the benefit of the light and power users and not to the utility making this development.

"Being a resident myself of the North Umpqua Valley, I have made a preliminary study of the power possibilities and know that the use of Diamond Lake for storage purposes is a primary requisite for the development of water power on the North Umpqua river. Its position between the slopes of Mt. Bailey and Mr. Thielsen makes it of far more importance than the area of its watershed should indicate. The inclusion of another lake of ordinary characteristics in Crater Lake park would probably add but little to the distinction and fame now borne by Crater Lake itself, and such inclusion in a national park would be a great detriment to the majority of the people in the state if its use for water storage for power is to be in any manner curtailed thereby. Within a few years the proposed interconnection of electrical systems would make the development of the streams of almost state-wide importance."

Upon a motion from the floor, Judge Hamilton was authorized to appoint a committee, himself acting as chairman, to personally visit Senator McNary when he is in Salem, and Senator Stanfield when he is in Portland, and state the arguments against the measure and request their support in defeating it. The committee has not yet been appointed.

Roseburg Man Died Suddenly

A fit of coughing resulting in a burst blood vessel, caused the almost instant death of Charles Heskett, on the Dixonville road about 8 o'clock last evening. Charles Heskett, in company with his cousin, O. J. Heskett, of Oregon City, where returning from the North Umpqua where they had spent the day fishing. They stopped at the Dixonville store and drank a bottle of soda pop, after which they resumed the journey. O. J. Heskett driving the car. They had gone but a short distance when Charley Heskett commenced a coughing spell. Blood spurted from his mouth, covering his clothes and car, and by the time the driver could stop the car and get him to the ground, he was dead. Sheriff Starmer and Coroner Ritter were immediately notified and rushed to the scene. Excited by the large amount of blood, they made a thorough examination of the body, but finally attributed it to natural causes, as Mr. Heskett had been in ill health for the past two years. The deceased was 46 years old. He had lived in Roseburg for the past fifteen years, with the exception of one year spent in the east. He is survived by his wife, who was greatly shocked by his sudden death. The body will be shipped for burial to his old home in Marshall, Missouri.

MAY ASK CHANGE VENUE. Dexter Rice, of the firm of Rice & Orcutt, who will defend Dr. R. M. Brumfield in the circuit court trial, today made no denial when asked if a change of venue would be petitioned for. The attorneys for the defense are allowed twenty-four hours to examine the indictment returned by the grand jury and it is very probable that they will take the time limit. In that event the trial may not be started until Thursday or Friday. Attorney Rice commented on the task of securing jurors and said it would undoubtedly be difficult to obtain twelve men who are not conversant with the case.

NOTICE TO ALL HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS. All girls who intend to enter Roseburg high school are requested to wear the following regulation uniform dress during school hours, beginning Sept. 12, 1921. Navy blue or white middie, with navy blue or white collar; blue or black tie; white, black or navy blue skirt (cotton or wool); shoes with low or military heels. Those failing to comply with these rules are subject to the penalties adopted by the Girls' Club of the Roseburg high school. EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

DANCE AT ARMORY TONIGHT. L. Addis of Los Angeles, the professional dance violinist, will manage the public dance at the armory tonight. The popular Sunset orchestra will furnish the music and Mr. Addis states that he will give away several prizes. A large crowd is expected. A fine time is assured to all. I lost somewhere in Roseburg a dark Morocco folder, containing typewritten papers, a rate book, and other things. If finder will return same to me, he or she will receive a reward of five dollars. Aiden Harnes, Fiction Library.

The burning out of a turbine excitor at the power house at Winchester, caused this city to be in total darkness for about 20 minutes last evening. However, steam was supplemented until other repairs could be made. George Grimm, Sr., returned last evening from a six weeks' visit to his old home in Montreal, Canada. He has two bed chambers, bath, den, living room, dining room, white enameled kitchen, breakfast room, and screened-in porch. French panes, beautiful windows and doors. Each room artistically finished and tinted by an artist who knows how. This beautiful modern home to be sold at cost. A. T. Lawrence, Commercial Agent, 125 Cass Street. Phone 219.

Investigate Motive of Ku Klux Klan

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—(A.P.)—Assistant United States District Attorney Clinman has begun an investigation of the motives of the Ku Klux Klan, and said he would investigate the charge that the Klan was "an absolute monarchy" and opposed the public policies, and that it collects $10 yearly from each member with apparently no accounting and that a charge of $6.50 is made for regalia costing less than $2, thus being a corporation operating for profit, and that numerous lawless acts had been ascribed to persons acting under the guise of the Klan.
