Land and Water Ship.

The hippopotamus is now rivaled by an amphibious tank that travels equally well by land and water. It is a tank only in the sense that it originated in the fighting tanks of the war, for it is, as a matter of fact, a passenger vehicle. When ashore, it travels on endless tread wheels, and looks like a motorbus; when afloat, it is propelled and acts like a launch. It is the invention of a Frenchman, and was recently tested, carrying six passengers, in Marseilles, the great Mediterranean port. The French got around the difficulty of giving it an appropriate appellation by calling it a land and water ship.—Popular Mechanics.

Japanese Judicial Regalia.

Speaking of robes, that worn by the first judge of the Japanese Supreme court is a work of art and as heavy with embroidery as the vestments of the padres of the little San German church in Porto Rico. The color is black and the texture fine. Around the neck is a collar, woven into the gown itself and not worn separately, as is the collar of the chief justice of England. The color of the embroidery of this collar is royal purple, and is called the "crest of the seven flowers of paulownia." The cap, something after the order of the very smart sport hats worn by the American women, is also black, with a design of "clustered clouds" around the top and sides.—New York Tribune.

LADY BLUEBEARD ON TRIAL TODAY

Mrs. Southard Will Endeavor to Prove That She Did not Kill Five Husbands

MARRIED FIVE TIMES

Defense Will Endeavor to Prove That Mrs. Southard is Natural Typhoid Carrier and Did Not Murder Husbands.

By M. D. TRACY,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Sept. 12.—(United Press).—Mrs. Lydia Southard started today to prove to the world that she is not the modern successor of Bluebeard.

She faced a court on a specific charge of having poisoned Edwin F. Meyers and attempting to collect his life insurance when he died.

In addition, officers of Twin Falls county alleged this mild-mannered little woman of less than 30 years, killed by the same method three other husbands and a brother-in-law.

Six months ago she was known only as a quiet little lady who served salads in a Los Angeles cafeteria. Today she was the center of one of the most remarkable of criminal cases.

Mrs. Southard was arrested in Honolulu after being traced from Los Angeles. Her husband, Paul Vincent Southard, who is standing strongly by her in the trial here, was a chief petty officer on board the U. S. S. Monterey, stationed at Honolulu.

Mrs. Southard will be represented in court by a large staff of attorneys. Her defense, it is understood, is being financed jointly by her husband and her parents who reside on a farm near here.

The county prosecutor will charge that Mrs. Southard, urged on by a desire for luxuries, conceived the idea of doing away with her husbands as rapidly as she married them. In the case of Meyers, the prosecutor will attempt to show that she secured arsenic by extracting it from fly paper and placed this in his food, coffee and medicine.

She will be painted as a cruel murderess, who killed while she caressed.

The exact plan of the defense has not been made public. Mrs. Southard, while in custody at Honolulu, expressed in an exclusive statement to the United Press a belief that she was a natural typhoid carrier and that each of her husbands died from typhoid fever, contracted from her. Physicians, on the other hand, were said to have examined her and reported she was not a typhoid carrier.

"I am not worried," Mrs. Southard has maintained since her arrest. "Why should I worry? My conscience is clear."

Mrs. Southard has had five husbands. Four of them, and one brother-in-law, died under alleged mysterious circumstances.

Here, according to officials, is Mrs. Southard's record of marriage and death:

In 1912, as Lydia Trueblood, she married Robert C. Dooley at Keytesville, Missouri. He died at Twin Falls, October 1, 1915.

Edward Dooley, Robert Dooley's brother, died in Twin Falls in August, 1915. The two Dooleys held a joint insurance policy in favor of Lydia.

In June, 1917, she married Wm. G. McHaffie, restaurant owner of Twin Falls. He died in Hardin, Mont., October 22, 1918.

In 1919, she married Harlar C. Lewis in Denver, Colo. He died July 6, 1919.

August 10, 1920, she married Edwin F. Meyers, a rancher of Twin Falls. He died September 7, 1920.

She married her fifth husband, Paul Vincent Southard, chief petty officer, U. S. N., in Los Angeles in 1921. He is standing by her during the trial.

SOME FISH LAUGH-LINES.

America has plenty of fish, according to the fish stories heard nowadays. The vacation "Izaak Waltons" are as numerous this season as ever. They are just as good yarn spinners as they claim to be fishermen. Likewise, fish jokes are almost as plentiful as the tales of great catches. And, the newspapers have caught a fine haul of fish jokes. Some of the best fish fun is shown on the screen in "Topics of the Day" Films. It is a sure bait to lure laughter. Can we "catch" you with some scaly humor? Well, these laugh lines ought to hook a few smiles.

But he brings back the same old lie

WAR OFFICE FEARSOME PLACE

According to Captain Bairnsfather, British Institution Is Designed to Be an Annoyance.

I have not been to the British war office very often, writes Capt. Bruce Bairnsfather in "From Mud to Mufti," but I have never lost the odd sensation that it gives rise to. You enter the building and fill out a form. In time a Boer war veteran tells you boisterously to "follow the girl." The girl, a guide of sorts in an engineer's dark brown overall, sets off sullenly down a cement passage, with a group of assorted officers pursuing. She, I fancy, revels in the intricacies of those catacombs.

Having apparently described a complete parallelogram in a forbidding-looking corridor, you suddenly come upon a lift. It is always disappearing upward when you arrive. It comes down suddenly and disgorges an assorted crowd; headed by the girl guide, you enter and are taken up. We all repeat the corridor-and-parallelogram business. Nothing but the girl guide can save you now.

Lost in the war office! How awful that would be! I can imagine how a visitor who had lagged behind the guide would stop, suddenly realizing that he was lost; how he would vainly beat on those stone walls and scream for help; how a typist would find his skeleton weeks later in an attitude that evidently showed that he had succumbed while endeavoring to gnaw his way through a door.

I followed the guide and, after being handed to several officials, at last came up with the official whose duty it was to prevent, if possible, anyone from seeing the officer who had summoned me by letter.—Youth's Companion.

TREASURE TROVE IN LONDON

Chance Discovery Has Led Antiquarians to Believe They Are on Eve of Rare Find.

A chance discovery of a piece of blue enamel, curiously marked, by H. S. Gordon, a London mining engineer, has turned a vacant plot, where garden truck was grown, into a treasure trove. Today diggers are busy digging and sifting every bit of the earth, believing that it is on the edge of an old Roman cemetery, used centuries ago.

Digging into one part of it the men say they can trace London's history by strata to thousands of years ago. It is estimated that London's level increased at the rate of one foot a century. Things appear to have been thrown into the place, which must have been a queer pit, as though it had been a place for refuses. Its rare treasures are mostly broken bits of jewelry, china, glassware, etc. One exquisitely carved ornament of pure gold, evidently part of a golden collar, was found, and is estimated to have been made between 400 and 500 B. C.

Some of the most interesting objects are broken pipes, a whole series ascending through nearly four feet of soil, illustrating the pipe's evolution from the days of Queen Elizabeth.

Into this ONE BRAND, we put the utmost quality. Nothing is too good for Camels. They are as good as it's possible to make a cigarette.

And remember this! Camels come in one size package only—20 cigarettes—just the right size to make the greatest saving in production and packing. This saving goes straight into Camel Quality. That's one reason why you can get Camel Quality at so moderate a price.

Here's another. We put no useless frills on the Camel package. No "extra wrappers!" Nothing just for show!

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And their added cost must go onto the price or come out of the quality.

One thing, and only one, is responsible for Camels great and growing popularity—that is CAMEL QUALITY.
