ORDINANCE ATTACKED

Fire Commissioners to Ask Council to Amend Fire Ordinance so That Buildings Believed to be Fire Menaces Can Be Removed

The Board of Fire Commissioners of the City of Roseburg, met in the Firemen's hall at 7 o'clock last evening, to consider the matter of issuing a permit to Herman Marks authorizing the repair of the building at 248 N. Jackson street, which was damaged by fire on September 23.

The following members of the Board of Fire Commissioners were present at the meeting: Louis Kohlhaugen, president; M. F. Rice, S. K. Sykes, James M. Fletcher, Jr., secretary; also Mr. Marks, owner of the building, and his attorney, B. L. Eddy.

The board of Fire Commissioners previously had denied to Mr. Marks permission to repair the building and had ordered it to be removed. Mr. Marks appealed the order of the Board of Fire Commissioners to a board of arbitration, which found the damage by fire to be ten percent, and the depreciation of the building to be fully within the provisions of the ordinance.

Mr. Marks and his attorney appeared before the board and asked that a permit be granted to Mr. Marks to repair his building. Attorney Eddy argued that under the provisions of the ordinance the board of arbitrators were authorized only to appraise the amount of damage done by fire, which was estimated at only ten per cent of the value of the building, and not of the depreciation, (or decay) which they estimated at forty per cent or more. He also stated that a section of the ordinance would be held unconstitutional by the courts as it granted a property owner a right of appeal from decision of the Board of Fire Commissioners in case of damage by fire, but granted no right of appeal from the decision of the board in the case of decay or depreciation. This was also the opinion of City Attorney Wimberly and of M. F. Rice, member of the board and also an attorney.

After a thorough discussion of the matter, the Board of Fire Commissioners decided it would be compelled to grant Mr. Marks a permit for the repair of the building and asked that he submit plans of repair and if they are satisfactory to the board, a permit will be granted to him.

The Board of Commissioners also approved changes made in the Constitution and by-laws of the Roseburg Fire Department.

Movie Closeups

They say, that no matter how religious, how puritanical a man may be, he has, at least, one frailty.

Take David Harum, in a horse trade, he'd steal your eye brows, but in any other transaction, he was scrupulously honest.

Transitions of characters is not particularly puzzling to student of psychology.

The unusual character changes of Juan de la Cruz who plays the roles of El Capitan and Padre La Libertad in "The Soul of Rafael" in which Clara Kimball Young is to be seen at the Liberty, beginning Thursday, is a demonstration of the varied frailties and strengths of a human figure.

A holy man, one instant, sacrificing himself that his neighbor a stranger, might be happier, the next instant he is a veritable devil. A volcano of bad impulse by day, a minister to the wants of the needy by night, or a satanic tempter by night and an angel of mercy by day.

Out in the trackless desert, lying in wait like a beast of prey, for some unsuspecting traveler, who he shoots off from ambush, and the next instant, catering to a suffering caravan till his very body drops from exhaustion. Such is one of the strange vital characters developed by Marah Ellis Ryan in her picturesque story and which director Harry Garson has transplanted to the screen in all "faithfulness of changing elementary moralities of emotional demands. Such is a character you will see portrayed upon the silent silver screen that brings joy and forgetfulness to millions where these emotions were lacking heretofore.

It affords a unique character study to all whose love of changing humanity is of more than passing interest.

Oriental pomp and ceremony, in all its garish, bizarre splendor, has never been more spectacularly portrayed than in the impressive royal palace scenes which are one of the many features of "The Bronze Bell," the big Thomas H. Ince-Louis Joseph Vance special production for Paramount which comes to the Majestic theatre tonight.

An extravagantly jeweled throne platform, rich ivory ornaments, elegant silken tapestries, and rare Oriental carpets are evident in the beautiful throne room scenes in which Har Dyal Rutton a powerful prince of India, renounces his right to rule because of his reluctance to lead a rebellion against English rule. The retinue of native princes, soldiers in gorgeous silks and satins, with jewels and precious gold ornaments comparable only to the furnishings of the spacious hall. The proper dress for this ceremonial was ascertained only after extensive research in the most authoritative works on Indian customs, and all of the robes and other garments were especially made by the Ince wardrobe department.

Doris May and Courtenay Foote assume the leading roles, the additional members of the cast including Claire Duffrey, John Davidson, Otto Hoffman, Noble Johnson, Gerald Pring and others.

Fake Marriage Claim to Estate

PORTLAND, Oct. 4.—Jeanne Descamps, still petite and vivacious though confessing to 50 years, made her first court appearance yesterday in the gallant legal battle she is waging for the $70,000 estate of the late Ernest Descamps, with whom she said she had lived as wife for ten years. Attorneys for the estate and the administrator, Hector Moulal, caused her to be called to court that they might take her deposition.

The story of the woman was not without its touch of the dramatic as she told of a fake wedding ceremony in Vancouver, the discovery that she was not truly married when another woman sued her "husband" for breach of promise, the flight from Portland, the visit of Descamps to her home in Grand Rapids, Mich., and the receipt of news of his mysterious disappearance.

Ernest Descamps, it will be remembered, dropped from sight on February 5, 1920, and has never been seen since by Portland acquaintances, leaving real estate and personal property aggregating more than $70,000 in value. A few days after his disappearance, gruesome remnants of a human torso were found in widely scattered vicinities in Portland. No definite identification ever was made but they were believed to be the remains of Descamps. No clew to the murderer has ever come to light.

On February 11, 1920, a petition for appointment of administrator was filed by Moulal, friend of Descamps. Many months later, the complaint of Madame Descamps was filed. Even though the marriage ceremony was staged and a fraud, the woman declares that the common law made her the lawful wife of Descamps, and it is on this basis that her suit for the estate is made. Moulal contends that the only legal heirs are some first cousins of Descamps residing in France. The administrator is represented by C. Henri Labbe and the woman by Martin L. Pipes.

Confederate Vets Are Passing Away

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 5.—Virginia's confederate pensioners now number 3,575, about one-half of whom are women. The state auditor declares it is becoming increasingly apparent that the veterans are passing away far more rapidly than their wives, due to the fact that in nearly all instances on record the wives are considerably younger than their husbands. Many of the veterans were married twice.

Virginia pays its confederate veterans $200 a year in case of total blindness, $100 a year in case of total disability, and pays $60 a year to widows of veterans who were married before May 1, 1880.
