Wilbur P. T. Holds Meeting

The Wilbur Parent-Teachers Association held its first meeting for the current school year on Friday evening, October 7. The feature of the evening was a reception to the teachers, including the new principal, Mr. Wilford Brown, Miss LeVelle Booger, recently appointed to the high school staff, Mrs. Bellows and Miss Mazie Walker, reappointed teachers of the grammar department. The program included:

Song—Beautiful Eventide—by high school girls, accompanied by Mrs. G. W. Short.
Address of Welcome—Ben Irving, retired president.
Response—Professor Brown.
Solo—Miss Helen Grace.
Vocal Solo—Miss Golda Parker, accompanist, Mrs. Lola Godley.
Remarks—Mr. S. E. Grace.
Impromptus by the several teachers.

Committees were appointed on program, refreshments, membership, civic improvements and publicity. Social hour and refreshments followed the program. Cakes were furnished by Mesdames A. Grubbe, Walker, Sand, D. P. McKay, Parker, R. Hill, Irving, Henninger.

Wilbur schools have reopened with very favorable prospects for high efficiency.

TRULY OPTIMISM HAS LIMIT

Josh Smiler Met Day's Many Adversities With a Smile, but There Are Some Things!

"Ha, ha, ha!" laughed Joshua Smiler. "It's Friday, the thirteenth, Good Job I'm not superstitious, otherwise I should be miserable all day today!" Smiling happily, Josh dropped his collar stud. Nevertheless, after half an hour's search he found it again, and continued dressing.

"Oh, Josh," said Mrs. Smiler at breakfast, "the pedal broke off my sewing machine yesterday!" "That's unfortunate," said Smiler. "But never mind, dear, I'll bring you back a motor this evening, and you'll be able to run the machine on that."

It started to rain just as Smiler prepared to leave the house. "My umbrella, dear?" he said to his wife.

"Oh, Josh," she cried, "I forgot to tell you, some one stole your umbrella from the hall yesterday!" "Oh, well," answered Smiler, "It had a hole in it, anyway!" And he stepped out briskly through the shower.

Other little things, which many men would foolishly have allowed to disturb them, did happen to Smiler that day, but he did not grumble until returning home in the train he pulled out his fountain pen to jot down a brilliant idea that had occurred to him. The pen was empty!

Well, I ask you! Even optimism has its limits.—Chicago Daily News.

GREAT POET TRUE GENTLEMAN

Carlisle's Pen Portrait of Schiller Among Finest of the Tributes Paid to Him.

In his dress and manner, as in all things, he was plain and unaffected. Among strangers, something shy and retiring might occasionally be observed in him: in his own family, or among his select friends, he was kind-hearted, free, and gay as a little child. In public, his external appearance had nothing in it to strike or attract. Of an unassuming aspect, wearing plain apparel, his looks as he walked were constantly bent on the ground; so that frequently, as we are told, "he failed to notice the salutation of a passing acquaintance; but if he heard it, he would catch hastily at his hat, and give his cordial 'Guten Tag.' " Modesty, simplicity, a total want of all parade or affectation were conspicuous in him. These are the usual concomitants of true greatness, and serve to mitigate its splendor. Common things he did as a common man. His conduct in such matters was uncalculated, spontaneous; and therefore natural and pleasing.—Thomas Carlyle.

When Kissing Was Illegal.
Laws against kissing still exist in America, which produces most of the films from which the Japanese censors last year cut out 120,000 feet of kissing scenes, observes London Tit-Bits.

Not many years ago a student of Yale university and his sweetheart were arrested for the crime of kissing in a Boston restaurant. They were sentenced to 15 days' imprisonment, the magistrate relying on one of the "blue laws" passed in the Seventeenth century, when Massachusetts was a British colony.

Under these laws many men were fined or put in the stocks for kissing their wives in public, such conduct being penalized as "lewd and unseemly behavior."

The only measure of this kind ever enforced in England was of a temporary nature. In 1439 an act of parliament was passed prohibiting kissing, owing to the pestilence raging over England and France.

Many Years Ago.
White-haired Uncle Peleg Perkins, known as the oldest person in his community, was standing by his gate when a touring car stopped close behind him. Several of the ladies in it asked numerous patronizing questions concerning the locality. Then one of them remarked:

"You must have been around here quite a long time."

Uncle Peleg slowly raised his stick and pointed toward a not distant mountain.

"Yes, marm," he said gravely. "I have so. You see that there big, high mountain over across? Well, the time I first come here that there mountain wa'n't but just about the bigness of an ant hill."—Harper's Magazine.

Plants That Mimic Stones.
In South Africa a plant of the genus Mesembryanthemum, growing on stony ground, so closely resembles a pebble that it has been picked up in mistake for a stone. Another species of the same plant, growing on the hills around the Karro, produces two leaves about as large as ducks' eggs, having a surface resembling weathered stone, of a brownish-gray color tinged with green. These plants look like stones, but for a short time they put forth bright yellow flowers. Still another species of the same plant resembles the quartz pebbles among which it grows.

Armenian Music.
The melodies and composition of Armenian music are unique, although in recent years Russian, Italian and English styles have been incorporated in her music, and many Armenian operas are sung in other countries.

The national marching song of Turkey, oppressor of Armenia, was written by an Armenian in the national style of the Turks.

Resolution of Thanks Received

County Fruit Inspector E. C. Armstrong who assisted in handling the Douglas county exhibits at the State Fair, this morning received a resolution of thanks from the Oregon Pure-Bred Livestock Association for the 30 pound salmon donated from the Douglas county booth for the Association's annual banquet. The resolution follows:

"WHEREAS, there have been three generous donations to our Association for use at its annual banquet, viz: The first prize cheese donated by the Tillamook County Creamery Association; the first prize butter, donated by the Clear Creek Creamery; and the fine 30-lb. salmon from the Douglas county booth, coming from the enterprising city of Reedsport, and

"WHEREAS, these donations have contributed greatly toward the quality of our banquet and to the pleasure and success of the same,

"Now, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that we tender each of these organizations our sincere thanks for their liberality; that we most heartily congratulate the Tillamook County Creamery Association for the glory it has again covered itself with in winning first, second, third, fourth, and fifth and "then some" in the competition at this great fair; also the Clear Creek Creamery and especially its butter maker, Mr. H. V. Franklin upon winning first honors on their butter in such strong competition, and the Reedsport people for being able to produce such fine gastronomic products which, along with their other products and enterprise is helping to give them a conspicuous place on the map of Oregon.

WILL HOLD BAZAAR.

The ladies of the St. Joseph's church will hold their annual bazaar and food sale on December 3. Aprons, quilts and fancy articles appropriate for Xmas giving.

BY MRS. ELLISBURY.

A Daily Column of Questions and Answers Conducted by a Woman Who Knows. Address your Letters to Mrs. Ellisbury Care Roseburg News-Review.

Dear Mrs. Ellisbury: If Gretna will kindly write to 814 Thompson street and give the size and price of her riding boots, also her address, I would be very much obliged to her and to you both. Thanking you.

Ans. I believe that the lady has already disposed of the boots, but am printing your question in case she has not.

Dear Mrs. Ellisbury: Will you please tell us the correct way to pronounce "Lacet," a stitch in crochet? Is it the same as "Fillet?" This word has caused several arguments among my friends and we will appreciate it very much if you will tell us the proper pronunciation.

E. D., Roseburg.
Ans. No, the word does not have the French pronunciation of Fillet. Pronounce the word the same as you would lace with an et added. The e in et is short. The accent is on the et.

Dear Mrs. Ellisbury: Would you please answer some questions for me. Is the federal farm loan letting

Rev. C. F. Swander, field secretary for the Christian church, passed through this city today enroute from Portland to Grants Pass. During the short stop in this city he visited with Rev. C. H. Hilton, local pastor.

Accident on Highway—

What might have been a serious accident occurred last night when R. C. Sulton who was on his way to this city asked Mrs. Thrush of Riddle, who was walking along the highway to ride. When Mr. Sulton went to stop the car to let Mrs. Thrush out, instead of waiting till the car was stopped she stepped out and was thrown down the bank into a ditch. A few scratches about her face and a few bruises were received.
