

New York In Heated Election

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—New York's mayoralty campaign came to a whirlwind close today. Tomorrow, more than 1,250,000 voters will have the opportunity of going to the polls and casting their votes for one of eight candidates for mayor and other municipal officers.

The candidates for mayor are: Mayor John F. Hylan, democrat, who seeks re-election; Major Henry F. Curran, republican-coalition; Magistrate Jacob Panken, socialist; Jerome de Hunt, farmer-labor; George K. Hinds, prohibition; John P. Quinn, socialist-labor; Joseph D. Miller, single tax; and Benjamin Gitlow, workers league (communists).

Gitlow's name was ordered stricken from the ballot because he is serving a sentence in the Sing Sing prison for anarchy. The officials of the Communist party, however, said his name would be written in the ballot.

In addition to city officers, 66 assemblymen are to be chosen to represent the city in the state legislature and a special election will be held in the sixteenth state senatorial district, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Senator Martin McCue.

Seven proposed amendments to the state constitution are to be acted upon. The most important of these is the proposal to give former soldiers preference in civil service positions.

The main battle, all observers agree, will be between Mayor Hylan and Major Curran. Both have conducted vigorous campaigns, in which the lie has been passed frequently. The mayor has charged his opponent with representing the "plunderbund," "the interests" and "the traction crowd." In denial, Major Curran has accused the mayor of gross inefficiency.

Of all the many issues, the subject most talked about has been the five-cent fare on the traction lines. Mayor Hylan has claimed he prevented the fare from being raised. Major Curran, asserting that he too is for the nickel fare, has charged that the fare question isn't an issue—that it is a smoke screen used by the mayor to cover up maladministration.

Mayor Hylan's admirers have used the slogan "Honest John." He is fighting for you. He was elected chief executive four years ago on a Tammany Hall tidal wave. He received 312,774 votes, as against 156,376 for the late Mayor John Purroy Mitchel, running on a Fusion ticket; 144,973 for Morris Hillquit, socialist; and 57,299 for W. M. Bennett, republican.

The mayor was born on a farm in Green county, New York, in 1868. Orphaned in early childhood, he worked on the farm and then came to New York, where he was employed as an engineer on the elevated railroad. He studied law nights and received his degree from the New York Law school in 1897. He became a member of Tammany Hall, was elected a municipal judge in 1905, a city magistrate two years later and became a judge of the Kings county court in 1915. He was practically unknown to the general electorate when he was nominated for mayor four years ago.

Major Curran was born in New York in 1877. He was captain of his high school football team. At the age of 15 he was a reporter on the Evening World, N. Y. Times. He worked his way through Yale University as a clerk and waiter. After graduation he was a reporter on the New York Tribune and studied law when he had spare time. He was admitted to the bar in 1901. He entered politics in 1911 when he was elected an alderman and served a number of terms, attracting attention as an expert financial analyst.

He was appointed a city magistrate but held his position only two months resigning to enter the Plattsburgh camp when the war broke out. He was commissioned a major, assigned to the 77th Division and saw active service on the Vesle river and

GLENDALÉ NEWS

November weather, cold mornings with delightful sunshine in the afternoons, is being enjoyed to the limit by Glendale people, and our nearby environment of mill settlements. An air of genuine prosperity pervades the community life of south Douglas.

Several business changes are marking the progress of current events.

The White House grocery, Dewey & Tyrrel, is doing a rushing business. Carried on in the splendid plan inaugurated by the original firm of Dewey & Clarke. While we all regret the retirement of A. G. Clarke, who has been a part of this city and valley since his boyhood days, and always representing the highest standard of citizenship, we all express the hope that Mr. and Mrs. Clarke may decide to remain in this city and as we greet the new firm, we meet a well known business man in Mr. Dewey who has spent many years among us. Mr. Tyrrel comes to us with the highest business ability and representative claims to the management, along all lines that will make the White House grocery always a leader. Miss Bernice Austin is their bookkeeper and saleslady.

Dr. Wade of Roseburg was called to the Azalea settlement to see several patients and we regret to say he noted eight cases of scarlatina that were exposed and parents were warned to be very careful in keeping their children from public gatherings for fear of an epidemic of this dreaded disease.

Mr. and Mrs. Duval of Canyonville, who have a farm on the Umpqua river above Canyonville were calling on old friends in this city last week. Mrs. Duval had not been in this city for 27 years. She noted many changes and marked improvements. She is the same genial lady of other years and we greatly enjoyed her visit to our home, with sweet and mutual reminiscences of scenes and friends of other years and as we spoke of the dear ones who have joined the silent majority on the "Other Shore," memories and sacred tears paid tribute to their useful lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Winkelman and his happy parents of a sweet little baby girl. Congratulations.

Miss Julie Hagen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Hagen, of Marshfield, who is spending the winter and going to school in this city celebrated her 12th birthday on Nov. 2nd. A charming birthday was arranged by her grandmother, Mrs. J. Hagen. The twelve guests were the Misses Eva Pete, Edna Frost, Susie Brakobush, Marie Brakobush, Lora Holtsclaw, Josephine Myrmo, Rosie Hagen, Nina Stranne, Segrid Stranne, Glendora Wilson, Rosella Wilson. Delicious refreshments were served and the little hostess received many nice presents.

There are several business changes under advisement in this city of which we will speak later. The most important one is the management of the auditorium, J. L. Campbell in charge. It will be made up-to-date and will be conducted in Mr. Campbell's usual most excellent way.

The Ladies Aid of the Lutheran church met at the home of Mrs. G. Olsen last week. There were 30 ladies present. A very fine business session was followed by the usual social hour. Devotional lead by Mrs. J. Hagen was followed by vocal and instrumental music. Delicious refreshments were served at 5 p. m. The Lutheran Ladies will hold a box social at the Olsen building Saturday night. They will serve coffee and cake and the proceeds will be used in their Sunday school work.

DOCTOR SAYS RADIUM WILL NOT CURE CANCER

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(United Press)—Is radium, hailed by the medical profession as a panacea for the deadly cancerous diseases, a failure.

It is, according to Sir Thomas Parkinson, a noted specialist and physician to Lloyd George, in an interview upon his arrival in New Zealand.

It is not, according to other London specialists, who term Sir Thomas's statement, "nonsense."

"Radium is a failure," Sir Thomas said. "It is not only not effective as a remedy, but it is dangerous, because its burning effect aggravates, instead of curing diseases. Many leading surgeons have discarded it in favor of X-rays."
