Speed? Say, this guy's name is Man-O-War!

TALK ABOUT being QUICK ON the trigger. ONE OF our salesmen, ONCE SAW a man. ROLL A cigarette. AND STOP to light it. JUST THEN a piece, OF FINE French pastry. (YOU KNOW the kind. IN THE one-arm joints. THEY CALL 'em 'slinkers'. FELL ABOUT ten stories. FROM THE lunch-box. OF SOME wealthy plumber. AND BEAMED the man. OUR SALESMAN dashed up. AND SAID, "My dear sir, WHAT HAPPENED?" THE MAN rubbed his dome. AND BEGAN, "I was just LIGHTING A cigarette." "GEE WHIZ," our man said. "HERE—TRY mine. THEY'LL LET you know. YOU'RE SMOKING. AND THEY satisfy. BUT THEY'LL never. KNOCK YOU flat." AND THE man grinned. AND SAID, "Son, IF YOU smoke. HAVE YOUR speed. THEY'LL SATISFY, all right."

AND speaking of speed, the fastest-growing cigarette on the market is this same Chesterfield. The reason? Simple enough—people like 'em better. That "can't-be-copied blend"—that air-tight package—that moderate price—that "Satisfy" taste—no wonder Chesterfields are leaping ahead. On every count, they certainly do "Satisfy."

GLORIA'S CHARACTER

"But it all was like fairyland to-night, Gloria, just like fairyland! I didn't know that the life of a moving picture actress was like this."

"It isn't, my dear, it isn't. Being a moving picture actress means work from morning until night and then, after you have perhaps gotten a little bit ahead you're thrown back upon the heap again. And then you worry and work and wait until you get another little part. Sometimes I don't think it is worth all the trouble and I get very discouraged and so will you. There will be no fairyland in the geography of your mind then. In fact, at times all the world that lies there will be a howling wilderness. Let's not talk any more though. It is two o'clock and have to be up early for tomorrow will be another day."

Gloria's face seemed drawn, and long after I had gotten into my bed I heard her tossing and sighing in hers.

I did not blame her very much for being so much in love with Herbert Richardson, for he certainly was one of the most fascinating of men and I was quite sure that he was very fond of Ria. However it was a battle to the utmost. Gloria was determined that he should give up his wild life and become something worthy of his splendid intellect and attainments.

"Hurry up, Virginia," were the words which awakened me from a sound sleep. I jumped out of bed and found that Ria had the coffee made and was toasting bread.

"There was just one dish of your favorite fruit left," she said, "so I saved it for you."

I looked at the ripe figs longingly and then Aunt Virginia's precepts came to me.

"Oh don't give them to me. Don't you like them?"

"Yes, but you know they are not so new to me as they are to you."

"Let's divide them, dear," and I industriously began to put half of them into another dish for her.

That little incident of the figs was an illustration of the unselfishness of Ria. In all the time we were together she was never anything but the most generous of friends.

Under the slinky surface which she put on at will, she was true blue. I have many times heard that no woman can be a real friend to another woman but I have come to the conclusion that there are quite as many Damons and Pythias among women as there are among men.

When we reached "the lot" that morning I found that it was a great space enclosed with a high board fence. In it were weird pieces of architecture, great barn-like structures which were called stages. In them they can build exterior and interiors of ancient and modern houses, throne rooms and peasant cottages, pirate ships and desert places. Each one of these was called a "set."

I looked around with great curiosity but Ria would not let me loiter a minute.

"Hurry," she commanded, "or you will be late."

Just then I caught sight of the queerest looking man. He was dressed in clerical costume but his stiff collar and shirt were brilliant yellow and his face was about the same shade.

"Oh, come on, Virgie! You can look at that when you get on the set. You will have more time."

"But why yellow, Ria?"

Gloria laughed. "Oh, I have seen that so much that I forgot that you did not know. The things that you want to be white when shown in pictures must be of a yellow tint to get the full tone-value."

"Come on, I must make your complexion of saffron tint." With that she hurried me to her dressing room and seated me in the one chair it contained. Then she unconsciously left me and returning with another chair she seated herself before the glass beside me.

"Here, Virgie. Use a little of this all over your face and neck." And she thrust into my hand a large jar of cold cream.

"Don't take too much of it," she said as I dipped my fingers in for a generous portion. "You want only enough to fill the pores of your skin and to make your grease-paint go on easier."

After I had rubbed this in carefully, she gave me a stick of pale yellow grease-paint and I turned to see Ria streaking her forehead and her cheeks with another stick of the same tint. Hurriedly I streaked my face and then laughed for I looked like an Indian in war-paint.

"Hurry up. We have no time to lose," Ria urged as she rubbed the tinted grease in carefully.

I did the same. "Is that right?" I asked.

"Not at all, Virgie. Look at the spots you have left. Remember every spot shows itself to the camera."

"Gloria! Gloria!" came a voice.

"Good Lord," she exclaimed. "Now what do you suppose Tommy Warner wants of me?" and hastily getting into a kimono she rushed out.

TOMORROW—On the Lot.

Mansfield Heads State Farm Bureau

PORTLAND, Nov. 6.—George A. Mansfield of Medford was re-elected president of the Oregon state farm bureau and a programme of organization work which will ultimately cover the entire state was outlined at the closing session of the second annual convention of the bureau at the Multnomah hotel.

Speakers told of the recent success in organization work in Lincoln, Coos, Polk and Yamhill counties this fall and predicted that ultimately every county in the state would have local organizations, with most of the farmers members.

V. H. Smith of Wasco was re-elected vice-president and Frank McKenney of Union county, E. C. Grown of Clackamas county and A. E. Westcott of Washington county were named as members of the executive committee.

Resolutions declaring the farm bureau of the state in hearty accord with the move for limitation of armament were adopted and will be dispatched to President Harding. The resolution cited the tax phase of the argument question and expressed the hope that some programme which would provide for "real disarmament" would be put through.

The success of various cooperative marketing organizations launched as a result of the efforts of the farm bureau were outlined in reports made during the convention.

George C. Jewett, general manager of the Northwestern Grain Growers' association, announced that 3,000,000 bushels of Oregon wheat had been marketed this year by that organization at prices from 4 to 14 cents higher than the market quotations.

He told how the wheat marketing organization functions.

That Oregon eggs are now setting the standard in the New York market was the declaration of U. J. Upton, general manager of the Pacific Co-operative Poultry Producers' association. He said Oregon eggs were bringing higher prices than eggs

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

from other sections of the country as a result of the work of the organization.

The wool pool conducted under the supervision of the Oregon Wool and Mohair Growers' association saved more than $150,000 to wool men this year, according to R. A. Ward, manager of that organization. He said the pool handled approximately 2,000,000 pounds and that growers who were members received from 5 to 10 cents more a pound for their product than non-members.

The wheat crop in Morrow county has been increased more than 20 per cent due to seed certification under the direction of the farm bureau, V. H. Smith, president of the Morrow county bureau, declared.

P. O. Powell, president of the Polk county bureau, said farmers of that county had saved $16,000 as a result of the war on rodents carried on by the bureau.

Fifty delegates, representing 16 Oregon counties, were present at the
