Veterans and Ladies Have Social Time

The G. A. R. and W. R. C. held their social meeting at the armory Friday, November 18. A large crowd was there to enjoy the splendid program and dainty refreshments that were served at the close of the program. A jolly good time was had by all. We were very much pleased to have Mr. Riddle, the commandant of the soldiers home and his wife with us and we hope they will come often to our meetings, where they will always be welcome. Mr. Riddle favored us with a speech which was enjoyed by all. The following program was given: America, sung by the audience; vocal solo, Hazel James; vocal solo, Lucy Milliken; Recitation, John Hamlin; vocal solo, W. E. Page, accompanied by Mrs. Fisher; vocal solo, Mrs. Minnie Chandler; violin solo, Mr. Brew-bake, accompanied by Mrs. Fisher; speech by Mr. Webb; dance by John Hamlin, accompanied by Mr. Page on the violin; vocal solo and encore, Mrs. Fisher; violin solo, Mr. Page, accompanied by Mrs. Fisher; talk, Mr. Sanders; speech, Mr. Riddle; speech, Judge Fullerton; Marching through Georgia and several old time songs, sung by all. The program was enjoyed very much. Mr. Page gave several selections on his harp and altogether we had a very enjoyable time.

Writer Lauds Operators as Real Heroines

One of the incidental points which I have noticed in several stories of calamity is the heroism of the telephone girl.

A fire breaks out in a high office building. The girl at the switchboard calls up every office and tells the occupants to get out.

A dam breaks, and a flood rushes down the valley. The telephone girl sticks to their posts and sends word ahead, and saves many lives.

A burglar comes in the night; a frightened woman calls the police station, but before she gets in her call, the burglar strikes her senseless. The telephone girl intuitively knows the meaning of the interrupted call and tells the police where the trouble is.

Such things as these I remember to have read.

I do not know of a town where the people do not complain of the telephone service.

In common with my fellow men, I, too, have seasons of impatience because the service is not better.

But every now and then I consider how wonderful it is that the service is as good as it is.

I read how our boys in France broke out into cheers when the first contingent of American telephone girls arrived. I cheered with them. I have used the telephone in many foreign countries, and can testify that in comparison with the service there, the American telephone girl is an angel.

She has a pleasant voice. She is habitually courteous. She is resourceful. If once in a long time her job gets on her nerves, so also does mine.

I stood a few days ago beside the central operator in a large railway station at a time when trains were coming in in considerable number and many people were wanting telephone connections in a hurry.

I was impressed by her quiet, courteous demeanor, her voice that did not rise, and the rapidity with which she did her work.

She was doubtless above the average telephone girl, and had a more responsible position than most of them; but she it not the only one of her kind.

Let me suggest that we all try to be a little more patient and courteous toward the telephone girl.

In the first place, I think she deserves it. In the next place, I think it will improve the service.

CHILDREN ADOPT NEW PLAN FOR RECITAL

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 22.—In an effort to make children think for themselves, the grade schools of Boise have adopted what is called the "socialized recitation." The system is not only meeting with success but is attracting attention from surrounding schools, according to Miss Dora Thompson, general supervisor of the grades.

"The main idea of this work," said Miss Thompson, "is to teach the child to think for himself and not to believe a thing just because someone else says so, or he sees it in print. It will teach him to think for himself when he reads a patent medicine 'ad' or is told some startling 'they say'."

"The idea is carried out in every study. The teacher simply leads the discussion, keeping it in the proper channel, and drawing out the opinions of the child.

"It develops initiative as well as preventing the child from 'skimming' the lesson. The boy or girl has to get the idea expressed in the lesson or he or she cannot talk about it.

"No, the idea is not new. I used it ten years ago, but it has not been general in the west until recently.
