ROSEBURG, ORE. MON. DECEMBER 13, 1921.

OPTIMIST IS GREAT ASSET.

When Thomas A. Edison opens his mouth in public utterance he usually gives us a message that sticks with us. For example he had the following to say in a recent interview:

"I have been through five depressions during my business life. They act all alike. The latest one acts exactly like all the rest. The men, who, as business fell off 60 per cent, increased their advertising effort 75 per cent, managed to pull through as if there were no depression, and efforts of such men tend to shorten the periods of depression."

Does Mr. Edison give you the reason for your success or failure?

The optimist is the greatest asset to any nation when things go badly. He possesses the control when the dear public thinks the world is headed for ruination.

And frequently we find him among the best of advertisers—for his beliefs in good advertising is based on the principle that advertising moves the world.

And when things are at their worst no man can afford to lay down his tools and say: "What's the use?" It is then that the progressive newspaperman and the progressive merchant get together, work twice as hard—and achieve results.

THE AFTER EFFECTS OF WAR.

The tragic end of Lieut. Col. Whittlesey, noted hero of the "Lost Battalion," who is supposed recently to have jumped overboard from a steamer enroute to Cuba, suggests how heavy a burden many of the ex-soldiers are carrying as the result of their war experiences. Col. Whittlesey had a very sensitive nature, and the horrors of war are supposed to have preyed upon his mind.

Some people may have supposed that when the soldiers who had been under fire heard the joyful news of armistice day they would be ready to resume normal life again just as they left it. But for a lot of them the horror of war had been too deeply seared into their souls. They can not be the same men yet, and some will never be.

A man with a calm and philosophical temperament might go through this awful hell, and yet come out none the worse. But anyone with a sensitive and imaginative nature would not pass through the experience so lightly. These sights and sounds of horror would haunt his mind. In many cases severe nervous strain has persisted and the men having had this experience find themselves in constant mental anguish.

The existence of many men in this condition should lead the government to do its utmost to see that cases of shell shock and other similar troubles get attention from the most skilled specialists. The friends of men who underwent these severe nervous strains should not feel disheartened if their progress seems slow. Usually nature will heal these exhausted nerves. The rest of us who were far from the line of battle have no conception of what such men have borne for us. Their service and mental suffering represent a great sacrifice that their fellow countrymen should never forget.

The associated charities—there's where some good work will be accomplished for the deserving needy of Roseburg. It is an organization that should have been established in Roseburg long ago—but it is not too late to do a great good throughout the city and adjoining communities. Those charitably inclined will not hesitate to give freely, knowing their gifts will be expended judiciously and with the utmost care through the channels of this worthy organization.

It didn't take very long to nab that Los Angeles forger after his activities became known. The fact that he had no better judgment than to remain in the southern city after forging checks on the county treasurer of this county is conclusive evidence that the fellow is a "nut" when it comes to transactions of a shady nature, otherwise he would have changed his location immediately after committing the forgeries.

A woman living at Mexico City is alleged to have given birth to eight children and the medical association of that municipality is going to make an investigation of the case—presumably for profiteering.

If you like a little good jazz—and most people do—"line out" for the Elks' minstrel show tonight—or tomorrow night.

SUSPECT IS RELEASED

MARSHFIELD, Dec. 10.—W. M. Wilson, accused of the assault and robbery of J. S. Fairchild at Reedport, was released this morning after a hearing in that city before Justice of the Peace R. V. Kline.

Wilson was suspected of the crime because of certain circumstances of spending money after the robbery, and arrested on Thursday at Powers. Deputy Sheriff Zachary went to Powers and took him through here last night.

The trial this morning did not result as many had expected. It was stated by Deputy Zachary this afternoon. Some from whom convicting evidence had been expected, failed the prosecution when they went on the stand.

MEETING TONIGHT.

The Security Benefit Association will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Maccabee hall. All members are requested to be present.

GOOD EVENING FOLKS—

One of our subscribers writes to us a very puzzling letter. He says his county adviser in giving advice on poultry problems said to be sure and keep the hens scratching, and in the next breath said to clean out the lice and mites. In that case he doesn't know just what to do. He is inclined to offer his entire flock in exchange for a left-handed wheelbarrow—or what have you?

THE JACKSON ST. BLUES.

(Written especially for Music Week. To be sung before breakfast.)
 There's a feelin'
 Comes a-stealin'
 Thru y'r heart about 7 o'clock;
 Soon she'll be comin'
 Things'll be hummin';
 If she's late I'll knock her a block!

TA-RA-RA!

Bang her! Slang her!
 Pick her up and whang her!
 That's the on-lee wa-a-a-y—
 Because you got the Jackson St. Blues.

BLUES (refrain)

Jackson St. Blues—
 Ain't it funny?
 Miss y'r honey
 Poundin' the asphalt on y'r 12 buck shoes—
 Feet like boxcars,
 Heart like lead.
 Oughta be here long ago—
 "Seven" she said;
 Seven-thirty; eight o'clock,
 She ain't shown yet.
 Musta met another bloke
 Somewheres, I bet—
 An' so I got th'

 Should you be one of those few, isolated mortals who lack a compelling command of the trivial technique of hotel waiting, the following extract from a lesson sheet from a correspondence school of etiquette may help some. Anyway, here 'tis:
 How a Gentleman and Lady Should Act When Waiting for One Another in a Hotel Lobby, or Reception Room, or Upon Meeting in Such a Place.
 "If the lady should arrive before the man, she should seat herself and apparently pay no attention to her surroundings. She must not search for him with her eyes. To do so shows not only that she is impolite, but that she lacks culture. She should appear lost in thought, and as if she were not waiting for anyone."

TRUE TO FORM.

The girl reporter accepted the editor's invitation to dinner, and when asked how she enjoyed it, said: "Oh, fine, but I'll never go to dinner with an editor again."
 "Why not?"
 "Well, the dinner was fine, but he

Klamath Falls police are making life miserable for the bootleggers and the peace and dignity of that community have both been disturbed as the result of a few untimely raids.

The forger who signed Jimmy Sawyers' beautiful cognomen to some spurious checks and who managed to receive beaucoup $$$ from them, has been nabbed in Loz Anglais. Jimmy is waiting for the culprit to return so he can ask him how he managed to get so much cash by signing his name. Jim says he can't do it.

Loot Moore rec'd information this a. m. that the gov't has decided to remove war tax from Espee tickets. There's only one thing now for Jawn D. to do to compete with the r. r. and that's to slice off the war tax on gasoline.

Mebbe you won't like it—and mebbe you will. We're hoping you will, but better take a chance and order one now. Our little annual will be out within a short time and they're going to sell like hotcakes in a doughboy rest camp.

CHARGE FAILS TO MUSTER

MEDFORD, Dec. 12.—The bottom dropped out of the case against A. J. Gates, charged with violation of the prohibition law, Saturday afternoon, when James (Shine) Edwards, the complaining witness failed to appear in the justice court at Gold Hill. The costs of the action were assessed to Edwards, and the case dismissed. Gates is a special state prohibition officer and collected evidence against Edwards, who was tried twice in the circuit court on a bootlegging charge. The jury disagreeing both times. Another indictment is on file against him. At the time of Gates' arrest, his supporters charged it was a means to procure revenge, and threatened to stir up a tempest in a tea cup for a time. Since filing the charge against Gates, Edwards has departed, and is now said to be operating a jitney line between Yreka and Weed, California.

GREATER STRENGTH Fewer Spoonfuls

The value of baking powder is based on its leavening strength. You can't judge it by the size of the can—or by the amount you get for your money. You must estimate it by the amount of baking powder used in each baking and the results you get.

CALUMET is the greatest value ever offered in Baking Powder—it has greater raising "force"—it goes farther than many of the other brands. You use only a rounded or heaping teaspoonful where many others call for two teaspoonfuls or more.

But Baking Powder is not all you'll save when using Calumet. You save baking materials. Calumet never fails. The last level teaspoonful is as powerful as the first. Calumet is perfectly manufactured—keeps perfectly—and is moderate in price.

You save when you buy it. You save when you use it.

One trial will satisfy you of these facts—and demonstrate beyond doubt that "Calumet spells economy."

Your grocer sells it on a guarantee of money back if you are not pleased with results.

Calumet contains only such ingredients as have been approved by the U. S. Food Authorities.
